MY SCHOOL BOY DAYS.

Oh give me back my childhood days-The days of sweet pleasure here When basking 'near those sunny rays-A father's eye, a mother's lear.

Oh give me back the sunny hours Of youth's bright morn, when I was young, When my light heart selt not the power Which o'er it since has heavy hung.

Oh giv me back that garden lair With all its trees and blooming flowers, Whose balls I twined among the hair Of her I loved in childhood hours.

Oh give to me that mossy bank, The old oak trees with drooping bough, Where I such happy hours have spent, And !eel that I could do so now.

Oh give me back those shady limes, With branches bending o'er the stream, 'Neath whose cool shade, in summer time, I'd sit and read some pleasing theme.

Oh give me back my childhood days, The sun that gleam'd upon my heart, When hope rode buoyant o'er the wares, And seem'd as though we ne'er could part.

Oh maiden give that promise now, That you once gave when we were young, zine. And promised, too, with sacred yow, To love me as life's course we run.

Oh give me back the woodland dell, The birds, the trees, the flowers so fair; Oh give me all I loved so well When my young heart was free from care.

But let me now forget the past, And cast the dreamy thoughts away; We know that childhood cannot last, Tis as the sun's last flittering ray.

Now, since these worldly joys have fled, My hope and love for them have past; Let, then, a brighter sun now shed, Its glory o'er me which may last.

Let my heart soar to pleasures far Above this warfare here below: Let it seek joys that naught can mar Along the streams which peaceful flow.

Then up and onward let me urge. Till I no more need upward soar: Till I am buoy'd above the surge. And dwell in that sweet Evermore.

RELIGION AND CHARITY.

For the Easton Gazette. ANNUAL FINANCIAL CIRCULAR OF rapid and overflowing current, has brought us again to the season when the Board of Managers of the Md. Tr. Soc'y, are accustomed to remind the friends of the cause of the need of their continued aid in carrying forward the work of erangilization among that portion of our unconverted population who require the gospel carried to their own homes, to awaken them to some realizing sense of their lost condition as sinners, and of the free offers of mercy through a crucified Saviour. The chief work of the Society has ever been to carry the gospel to the careless and neglected and to direct the hopeless to its precious coasolations and encouragements. Because of the distracted condition of our country, its field of labor has now become more extended, and hospitals and soldiers are largely embraced in its cfforts for good. The amount of work done during the present year with the evidence of good accomplished, they believe has never been exceeded. Ten paid agents are in the field at work besides scores of volunteer laborers in the city and country, in criminal and humane institutions, in hospitals and camps, among satiors, soldiers and prisoners of war, and where ever sin and sorrow, with its blighting sadness, have shut out the enlightning and coinforting influences of divine truth.

This is certainly then not the time to decrease How Colliers' Strikes are Dealt with its labor, reduce the number of its colporteurs,
