HOMEOF MY HEART.

BT TREDERICK J. WATTS.

Home of my beart! "My Maryland" true, Gird on the armor of the brave! From out the South Rebel crew Would hold thee now a vassal slave .-Would bow thee meekly down, and show How traitors rule with iron rod; Home of my heart! teach them to know: There is a God.

There is a watchful sleepless Eye To aid thee with its loving light; There is a Presence always nigh To guide thee in the cause of right. A God of love who cannot err, Would have the bow no abject knee; Home of my hert! Teach all to fear And reverence thee.

'Tis felt thou hast the pow'r to quell The storm that threatens all our ills; Tis known thou canst, thou wilt dispel Invasion from thy plians and hills From every home let there arise, A pæan sung by millions free. Home of my heart! Be ever wise-United be.

United, show thy prowess pure To hold thy place amid the brave; United, let thy sons abjure The traitor's power to bind the slave. Be free my much loved home of yore, To God, alone, bow suppliant knee; Home of my heart! I love thee more Since thou art free.

Then sound the tocsin loud and wide, And let its peals reach every zone, .To tell to despots in their pride, "My Maryland" free to act aione. Teach tyrants laws they must obey, And guard thy rights with watchful eye;

For thee I'd die.
