April 12tb, 1865. This pleasant morning Sister, With Heaven's blue above us, And Our Banner floating free. With joyous heart so light, love, I greeting send to thee.

Last night I heard the tidings Of "great joy" to all our land; And I wished to fly to "Waterford," To join your happy band.

Oh! I thought 'twould be so glorious To meet you with a shout Of "Sister, Lee's surrendered, And Secession has 'played out.' "

Here I am so close to "railroads" And the "telegraphic line," That if I do but whisper It is down the road a flying. But could to raise our voices

Altogether once again ' In the valleys of Virginia, With all our might and main-I think I almost hear us, And see the Rebels stare; Oh I wouldn't it be splendid,

But time is passing swiftly, And I have an invitation To walk up to the "village" And see the illumination.

I must go, I declare.

Now, can't you all come over, And join in our fund? I know you are adventurous, And can the blockade run.

But I really think you'd rather, Save your old "Virginia pride," Instead of coming here to shout, Have me at "Sunnyside." To sing and laugh and comment

As much as o'er we please

Uupon the last brave exploit Of our gallant F. F. V.'s Now L., den't laugh at this And say thee never saw Such lame attempt, at poetry

In all thy life before-

But accept congratulations From one who gladly would lave thee and all my Union friends Together, if I could.

So now a kiss for Jimmie, And love to Sister dear, A portion for all all good girls, With another for F. Stier. Write soon a longerletter,

And send me all the news Of friends throughout our country, Or anything you choose.
