Days That Are no More.

Tears, idle tears-I know not what they mean-Tears, from the depth of some divine despair, Rise in the heart, and gather to the eye In looking on the happy Autumn fields, And thinking of the days that are no more.

Fresh as the first beam glittering on the sail That brings our friends up from the underworld; Sad as the last that reddens o'er one That sinks, with all we love, below the verge: So sad, so strange, the days are no more.

Ah, sad and strange as in dark summer dawns The casement slowly grows a glimmering square The casement slowly grows a glimmering square habit of talking, and teaching men good lessons. Carroll, Charles, So sad, so strange, the days that are no more!

Dear as remembered kisses after death, " And sweet as those by hopeless fancy feigned, On lips that are for others; deep as love, Deep as first love, and wild with all regret; O, Death in Life, the days that are no more! -Ten nyson.
