All About the Sex. THE GIRL FOR ME. Just fair enough to be pretty,

Just gentle enough to be sweet, Just exacy enough to be witty. Just dainty enough to be nest.

Just tall enough to be graceful, Just slight enough for a day, Just dress enough to be tasteful, Just merry enough to be gay.

Just tears enough to be tender, Just sighs enough to be sad, Tenes soft enough to remember, Your heart thro' their cadence made made

Just meek enough for submission, Just bold enough to be brave, Just pride enough for ambilion, Just thoughtfal enough to be grave:

A tongue that can talk without harming, Just mischief enough to tease. Manners pleasant enough to bacharming, That put you at once at your case.

Disdain to put down presumption, Barcasam to answer fool, Contempt enough shown to assumption, Proper digisity always the rule.

Flights of fairy fancy etherial, Devotion to science full paid. Stuff of this sort of material, That really good bousewives are made.

Generous enough to be kind hearted, Pure as the angels above-Oh I from her may I never be parted, For such is the maiden I love.

The Home Circle. THE TWO YEAR OLD ...

How deeply winning are the ways Of children in their infant days ! The eye which scans the speaker through, The enquiry if "the tale be true," The dumb show where the words oft fall, Yet quite as comprehendsible; The pressure of the soft fond cheek, Their trusting confidence bespeak ; And bere we surely may behold, The little darling "two year old."

In some, whilst still upon the knee, The spirit struggles to be free, Mark too, the temper's ruffied skein, And yet but held with snaffle rein; The energy which speaks command, The action done as soon as plann'd; The "tug of war in every way Which may insure the mastery, And this, perhaps, she may be told, Is unregenerate "two year old."

Oh mothers! watch with trembling joy The dawning of the infant boy; The mind that's form'd without a plan Will never make the "perfect man," Think not that coming years will swell The stock which is not grafted well; The sapling which receives no care, Is little better than a tare; Plant then within the choicest mould, Your little seedling "two year old."
