THE FARMERS COLUMN.

Fa: m. Yard Song.

BY J. T. TROWCRIDGE. Over the hill the farm-boy goes, His shadow lengthens along the land, A giant staff in a giant hand. In the poplar tree, above the spring, The katydid begins to sing; The early dews are falling; Into the stone heap darts the mink ; The swallows skim the river's brink

When over the hill the farm-boy goes, Cheerily calling: "Co', boss! co', boss! co'? co'! co'! Farther, farther over the hill; Faintly calling, calling still : "Co', boss ! co', boss ! co', co."

And home to the woodlend By the crows,

Into the yard the farmer goes, With grateful heart at the close of day; Harness and chain are hang away . In the wagon-shed stands yoke and plow; The straw's in the stack, the hay in the mow The ecoling dews are falling; The friendly sheep his welcome bleat, The pigs come grunting to his feet, The whinnying mare her master knows, When into the yard the farmer goes, His cattle calling. "Co', boss! co', boss! co', co', co'." While still the cow-boy, far away,

Goes seeking those that have gone astray-

"Co', boss ! co', boss, co', co'."

Now to her task the milkmaid goes. The cattle come crowding through the gate, Lowing, pushing, little and great; About the trough, by the farm-yard pump, The frolicksome yearlings frick and jump, While the pleasant dews are falling; The new milch heifer is quick and sky, But the old cow waits with tranquil eyes; And the stream into the bright pail flows, When to her task the milkmaid goes, Soothing'y calling l "So, boss, so, boss, so, so, so." The cheerful milkmaid takes ber stool,

Saying, "So, so, boss, so, so." To supper at last the farmer goes, The apples are pared, the paper read, The stories are told, then all to bed, Without the cricket's ceaseless song Makes shrill the silence all night long ; The beavy dews are falling. The bousewife's hand has turned the lock ? Drowsily ticks the kitchen clock; The household sinks to deep repose; But still in sleep the farm-boy goes. Singing, calling, "Co', boss, co', boss, co', co'." And oft the milkmaid, in her dreams; Drums in the pail with the flashing streams,

Murmuring, "so, boss, s .."

And sits and milks in the twilight cool,
