Bleep to know no sad to-morrow.

With its bitterness of strife-

Who will care ? Who will come to weep above us, Lying, oh ! so white and still, Underneath the skies of summer, When all nature's palees thrill; To a new life, glad and tender,

Full of beauty rich and sweet,

And the world is clad in splendor

That the years shall e'er repeat-

Y bo will care ? When Queen Autumn's flower's blossom, And she stoops in pity down, With a white flower for our bosom; Taken from ber regal croun ? Who will come to kneel in pity, By our long and narrow bed, When the wild winds sing their ditty

In the grasses o'er our head-

Who will care?

When the Springtime's glad smile lingers, On the meniows, fair and wide, And she drops from rosy fingers, Bloom and leaf from every side; Who will come with tender yearning, To the grave of those we miss? Who will sigh fer our returning To their presence and their kiss-Toras liim cd W

Who will think of white hands lying On a still and silent breast, Never more to know of sighing, Evermore to knew of rest? Who will care? No one can tell us; But if rest and peace befall, Will it matter if they wiss us, Or they miss us not at all ? Not at all ?
