Life's Better Moments, Life has its moments Of beauty and bloom;

But they hang like sweet roses On the edge of the tomb, Blessings they bring us, As lovely as brief, They meet us when bappy, And leave us in grief.

Hues of the morning, Tinging the sky, Come on the sunbeams, And off with them fig, Shadows of evening Hang soft on the shore, Darkness enwraps them,

So life's better moments, In brillia nce appear; Dawning in beauty, Our journey to cheer, Round us they linger, Like shadows of even, Would that we, like them,

We see them no more.

We All Might Do Good. We all might do good

Might melt into Hearen.

Where we often do ill; There is always a way, If there be but a will. Though it be but a word, Kindly breathed or suppressed, It may guard off some pain, Or give peace to some breast.

We may all do good In a thousand small ways-In forbearing to flatter, Yet vielding due praise! In spurning all rumor, Reproving wrong done, And treating but kindly

The beart we may have won. We all might do good, Whether lowly or great, For the deed is not guaged By the purse or estate; If it be but a cup Of cold water that is giren, Like the widow's two mites,
