The New York | and t Journal of Commerce very properly redukes the Courier of that city-edited by the redoubtable Webl-thus:

In order, as we suppose, that the members of Congress may have a proper sense of the restrictions imposed upon them, the Courier holds up to their view the fate which awaits each and every one, who shall date to deject from its programme of Congressional action. No man, under pain of the traitor's reward, is to raise his voice in Congress or elsewhere in favor of any adjustment of our national troubles, except in the mode proposed [ by the President on the suggestion of the Courier. It will be fortunate for the editor of the Courier if Congress does not include in the list of subjects for the halter, those persons who have wantonly accused the loyal and brave-bearted defenders of the country with being traitors, while risking their lives in a gallant struggle to defend the national flag. He should beware, lest "they that take the sword shall perish ) with the sword.

No attempt has yet been made to ] occupy and fortify the many naturally strong strategic positions around the city. Besides, if the city is to be defended, it is not by means of an ac- seeming Kawin Forrest. tion within it, but beyond it, so that if a defeat be suffered in the first battle, there may be something left to fall back upon. The St. Louis Massacre.

From the St. Louis Republican. Camp Jackson was established, as every citizen of Missouri knows, in strict obedience to the laws of the State. A similar encampment, a year ago, see. excited no remark, except as evidence of a desire on the part of the volunteers to perfect themselves in a system of military tactics which, while it rendered them efficient in service, also contributed ) to their health, and to that esprit du corps which is always necessary to success. There is no evidence to show that there was any object beyond these legitimate results in contemplation when the order was given for the formation of Camp Jack-) son. Every order, from those of the Commanderin-Chief down to that of each of the companies, t has been made public, and not one of them contained the most remote allusion to any other purpose than that of perfection in military discipmade necessary, on the part of Missouri, at this time. by the fact that all other States in the Union were arming, organizing and disciplining the militia of their respective States. With no other object in view. Camp Jackson was established as a school of discipline and exercise, under the laws of the State. The opening was auspicious. The flag of Resterdam, 27th uit. the United States floated over the entire camp.--- ) No other National flag was permitted to be displayed. The men who formed the encampment, each and all of them, had taken the oath to support the Constitution of the United States and of at Laguages. Ech of. this State. There was no qualification or mental reservation. We know not what Governor Jackson may do in this exigency, but it is plain to us that he ought to demand of the President a Court Martial of Captain Lyon, and a full investigation , of the causes which led to, and the orders, h whomsoever given, which preceded the murder of so many of our people.

The Way the Volunteers are Treated. The New York Hay Block says that the National ) Zouarcs, under command of Col. McChesney, of Illinois, who have for some time been quartered at ) Sandy Hook, have had anything but pleasant) military experiences so far. The condition of the l members has been wretched in the extreme, without tents, with a scarcity of food, and that tainted. Ac. Several of the companies have been in a state ! of mutiny, and a number of the men have deserted by the way of Shrewsbury. On their arrival at Sandy Hook, they were kept without food for 48 ) hours, and then they received a ration consisting of coarse pilot bread and musty cheese, the provisions ! having been furnished in New York. The meat was often tainted, and seldom fit to eat, but by making it up into soup, the men succeeded in eating a small quantity, compelled to do so from hunger. This style of living caused serious illness among the troops, and the whole regiment began to show i symptoms of dissatisfaction. The medical department seemed to be totally overlooked. The surgeon was unprovided with any medicines, consequently he was unable to administer relief to the members who were suffering.
