The South.

"Before St. Mark still glow his steeds of brass, Their gilded collars glittering in the sun; But is not Doris's nurse come to lead, Are they not bridled? Venice, lost and won, Her thirteen hundred years of freedom done, Sink like a sun beneath the waves, and shun, Better be whelmed beneath the waves, and shun, Even in destruction's depth, her foreign foe, From whom submission wrings an infamous peace."

DEATH OF SENATOR DOUGLASS.
A despatch from Chicago of yesterday says: Judge Douglas died here this morning at nine o'clock. Those in attendance were Mrs. Douglas, Dr. Miller, Mrs. Curtis and J. Madison Curtis, Jr., of Washington. His remains will be taken to Washington on Wednesday for interment. The following Order relative to the death of Senator Douglas has been issued from the War Department:

WAR DEPARTMENT, June 4, 1861.
The death of a great statesman in this hour of peril cannot be regarded otherwise than as a national calamity. Stephen A. Douglas expired in the commercial capital of Illinois yesterday morning, at nine o'clock. A representative of the overpowering sentiment existed in the cause in which we were engaged. A man who nobly disregarded all prejudices in an effort to serve the Republic. A statesman who lately received for the Chief Magistracy of the Union a vote second only to that by which the President was elected, and who had every reason to look forward to a long career of usefulness and honor.

A patriot who defended with equal zeal and ability the Constitution as it came to us from our fathers, and whose last mission upon earth was that of rallying the people to the rescue of Illinois, as our own, under the glorious flag of the Union, has been called from the scene of life and the field of his labor.

This Department, recognizing in the loss one common to all our country, and fondly desiring to give to the patriot who so nobly served his country, heretofore the "Columns of the different regiments to have this order read to-morrow to their respective commands, and suggests that the colors of the Republic be draped in mourning in honor of the illustrious dead.

[Signed] SIMON CANNON, Secretary of War.

The following is a brief sketch of Mr. Douglas's life:

Stephen A. Douglas was born at Brandon, Rutland county, Vermont, April 23, 1813. He died in the 48th year of his age at the time of his death. His father was a native of New York, and a physician of prominence, who died suddenly of apoplexy when Stephen was but two months old. His mother was a native of New York, and a woman of high character. Her husband's death, took her infant son and daughter about 18 years old, to a farm which she had inherited jointly with her unmarried brother.

Young Douglas received a common school education as secured with his mother's means and the advantages of the period and section in which he lived afforded. At 15, he was ambitious of entering college. Neither his father nor his uncle could afford the expense, but he determined to accomplish the proud hope of his life, he left the farm and apprenticed himself to a cabinet maker, at which trade he worked, partly at Middlebury and partly at Brandon, until he was 21 years of age. He then returned to his home, and in 1834, he was admitted to the study of law, and in 1836, he was admitted to the bar. He then removed to Springfield, Illinois, where he studied law with the Messrs. Hulbert of that place.

During the above year he determined to try his fortunes in the West. On his way he was taken ill at Cleveland, where he was compelled to remain for the summer. After his recovery, he visited Cincinnati, Louisville and St. Louis, but in neither city did he find a permanent home. At Jacksonville, Illinois, he was no longer pleased, but as his finances had dwindled down to the extremely small sum of 375 cents, he found that he could not travel much further, but that he must commence doing something, and that very quickly.

His first effort was to walk from Jacksonville to Winchester, a distance of sixteen miles, where he hoped to obtain a situation as school teacher. Upon reaching the town an auctioneer was selling the stock in the town, and he saw a young man wanting a clerk, Douglas offered his services, which were accepted. He served in this capacity three days, by which he earned six dollars, with which capital he started a school and obtained forty scholars, whom he taught three months at three dollars a term.

While teaching others he was himself a devoted student. From Jacksonville he borrowed works treating of the law, and in a short time he began to study law in Winchester. He then returned to his home, and in 1837, he was admitted to the bar. He then returned to his home, and in 1837, he was admitted to the bar. He then returned to his home, and in 1837, he was admitted to the bar.

His rise was constant and rapid, and at the first group he achieved distinction at the bar. When not twenty-two years old, and not eighteen months a resident of Illinois, the Legislature elected him Attorney-General of the State. Subsequently, he was elected to the Legislature in 1838, and in 1839, he was appointed Register of the Land Office at Springfield, Ill., by President Van Buren, which position he held until 1839, when he resigned. He ran for Congress in 1840, but in a poll of 20,000 votes, was defeated by W. L. G. B. F.

At this period Mr. Douglas took a very active part in politics. His services in the winter of 1840, in the campaign for the Presidency, were of great value. He was elected to the Legislature in 1840, and in the February following was elected by the Legislature a Judge of the Supreme Court. In 1843, at the solicitation of his friends, he resigned his position as Judge of the Supreme Court. He was elected by a majority of 100, and re-elected in 1844 by a majority of 100, and again in 1846 by a majority of 100. He did not take his seat under the last election, having in the meantime been chosen to a seat in the U. S. Senate, a position which he continued to fill.

His record since he has been a Senator is full and luminous. His speech on the Missouri compromise, on the admission of Nebraska as a State, his conflict for United States Senator with Mr. Lincoln in Illinois, and the more recent race for the Presidency, are all too fresh in the public mind to need recapitulation here.

Senator Douglas was twice married. His first wife was Mrs. Martin of Missouri, by whom he had several children. She died some ten years ago, leaving to her children a large property, in lands and slaves in her native State. About three years ago Senator Douglas married a second time—Miss Curtis, a beautiful belle of the Capital, becoming his wife. She survives him.

The New York Day Book thus speaks of his characteristics:

"Mr. Douglas has occupied no small share of public attention for several years past, and may be said to have been the acknowledged leader of the Northern Democracy ever since the repeal of the Missouri Restriction in 1854. His personal qualities secured him many warm and self-sacrificing friends, while his sympathy with the people gained him the popularity which is always accorded to a public man who is justly distinguished. Bold, dashy and energetic in all his undertakings, with almost superhuman powers of physical endurance, he even forced the admiration of men who did not agree with his opinions. As a speaker he could cope with his read opponents a debater, and perhaps no man ever lived in this

Progress of the War.

Despatches from Cincinnati and Washington state that on Sunday night, two columns of Federal troops under Col. Kelly and Col. Crittenden, left Grafton, and after marching about twenty miles through a dreary night surprised a camp of two thousand Confederate troops at Phillip, Virginia, a town in Harboure county, on Tigar Valley river. The surprise was complete, the Confederates fleeing and leaving fifteen dead bodies on the field. The Union troops captured a large amount of arms, horses, ammunition, provisions and camp equipage.

Colonel Kelley was mortally wounded, and has since died. Several other of the Federal troops were slightly wounded.

Gen. Sigel had recently received a despatch from Gen. McClellan confirming the intelligence. Phillip, is the county town of Harboure county, and was one of the places appointed by Governor Letcher for the reception of the Federal troops. They were not only put to flight, and were probably armed only with fowling pieces.

The second engagement at Aquia Creek. We give below the official report of Capt. Ward of the second engagement at Aquia, full as it is of the most absurd inconsistencies. He alone represents the gunners of the Confederates as firing in the next ten minutes in the furnace of 1,000 shots, that his vessel was repaired and ready to be sent to sea, and that the Confederates and not by the fire of the United States vessels as heretofore represented. The following is Ward's report:

FLORIDA STEAMER FREEDOM, Potomac River, June 1, 1861.

Sir—I have the honor to report a renewal of the bombardment at Aquia Creek, commencing at 10 o'clock on the 29th of May, and continuing until 10 o'clock on the 30th of May. The one at New York, Admiral, and the one at Philadelphia, Junio and Taratoro. The Navy Department has increased its working hours. There are fifteen vessels of war now in the Chesapeake, ten on the Atlantic coast, and ten in the Chesapeake and Potomac. Every exertion is being made to add to this list with the least possible delay. The Navy Department has received despatches from Capt. Ritchie of the U. S. steamer Saratoga, dated Bay of Panama, May 22d, in which he says, after acknowledging the receipt of the President's proclamation in regard to letters of marque, "having been notified by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company that the presence of privateers in the Pacific, I had partly anticipated the order of the Department by directing Commander Bissell, now at Acapulco, to cruise with the Cyane between that port and Manzanilla, and having dispatched the Commodore Porter at San Francisco, to expedite the repairs on the S. Mary's, and when in readiness for sea to repair to our station and co-operate with Capt. Bissell in affording protection to the mail steamers on the coast."

Frederick, June 3.—The State Rights Congressional Convention met here to-day. There was but a slim attendance. Allegany was represented by one delegate, Washington by two, Frederick by about twelve. The Convention nominated George Scott of Hagerstown, for Congress.

Washington, June 3.—At the municipal election here to-day not much more than one-third the usual vote was polled, there being but little general interest in the result.

St. Louis, June 3.—Dr. George B. Anderson, styled by Judge Buckner on the night of May 10, during a discussion relative to the capture of Camp Jackson, died Friday night.

A German Secessionist—Hung in East New York. A most diabolical outrage was committed upon a German, named Timmis, residing at the corner of Stagg and Ewen streets, New York, Long Island, on Friday evening. It appears that in the course of the evening Timmis, who was in a large saloon in the place, where a number of Germans were discussing politics and conversing the acts of President Lincoln, General Scott, Carl Schurz and others. He soon joined in the conversation, and was observed by the president and his confederates, who were all well known to him. The Germans at this became greatly enraged, and raised the cry of "Hang him, hang the damned secessionist," and seizing the man, quickly tied a rope about his neck, and then, with a single stroke of the axe, cut off his head. The following morning a self-constituted committee of Germans, consisting of three, called at his house for the purpose of compelling him to retract his language of the previous evening, but their request was observed by Timmis, who effected his escape through a rear window. As the committee entered the premises they were met by the wife of the fugitive, who was armed with a broom, with which she quickly drove them into the street, they declining to make any further attempt to enter the house. Timmis, but was lucky to escape with an unbroken neck.

The Fate of the British Volunteers. The following is the Montreal Commercial Advertiser: "Colonel Austin, of the much talked of British Regiment of New York, has returned to Canada a poorer and no doubt a wiser man. It appears from his statement that there never was any British regiment, the whole thing was a concocted matter, and that there had been no offer for it. Nor was there any pay forthcoming, and the Colonel after proceeding to Washington, and vainly applying the authorities there for his expenses, concluded to seek for a private which promised a profit of some hundred dollars. Some of his companions who were without means of their own, are unable to return, being kept in pawn by inexorable hotel keepers. No ends the fate of the British regiment."

ARMSTRONG GUNS AND ENFIELD RIFLES.—We have seen it stated in several papers that an Armstrong rifle gun, imported from England, was sent to the Government. Now, this is a mistake. Armstrong guns are manufactured exclusively for the British Government, and cannot be sold to private parties. It was an English (Blackly) rifle cannon imported from Liverpool that was used at Cheslerho. We have also seen it stated in several papers that Enfield rifles, purchased in England, have arrived here for arming our volunteers. This is also a mistake. The rifles made at Enfield are all for the British army, furnished to the Government, and are not sold to private parties. Such rifles cannot be sold to private parties, nor obtained upon any account from England. The British rifle muskets that have been imported are equally as good as those made at Enfield, because they are equally in fact, though they are manufactured by private gunsmiths.—Scientific American.
