They evidently are but little disposed to yield in this hour of your national trouble what they withheld in your herdar of united strength. They have not forgotten your Ostend manifesto, your Cuban and Central American movements, nor your loud assertion of the Monroe doctrine. England has some old scores to settle on the subject of the Right of Search and the San Juan question, while France looks to the Isthmus Panama and the South Seas. Even Spain, if she had been disposed to forget the Cuban foray, cannot so easily banish the recollection of her foiled diplomacy in Mexico during the Miramon and | slave labor in the Cotton States to the production | Junrez struggle.

From France we hear that the Emperor has revired an old favorite phrase of his-the coap d'etal a le exterieur-the State stroke outside.
