An Exciting Scene. - This morning about eleven o'clock, as the notorious Jim Manly, formerly of Baltimore, but now a member of Col. Morehead's Pa. Regiment, and another member of the same, were passing the corner of Baltimore and South streets, a disticulty took place between them and the excited crowd gathered there. In a few moments the street was densely filled with the friends | of the soldiers, and those who did not relish their inopportune appearance at this time. The police, a who were present in strong force, succeeded in preserving the peace until the soldiers had taken refuge in Mann's Hotel. Narrow Empley.- During the storm of wind and rain vesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock, a sail boat containing four young men of East Baltimore, was capaired off Fort McHenry. A boat put out from a sloop lying near, and rescued them. About the same time, a boat containing seven of the crew of the ship Bremerkaren, now lying off Annapolis. was capsized off Bear Creek. A party of soldiers stationed at Fort Carroll succeeded in reaching them in a small boat, rescued and carried them to the Fort, where they remained until the storm had ; abated, after which they proceeded to their vessel. Roudgion. - About 31/2 o'clock this afternoon | Richard Pryor, John J. Hooper, and several other well known rowdies, appeared at the corner of Baltimore and South streets, and attempted to create ) a disturbance. During the confusion that ensued a ) man in the crowd was violently struck and kicked i in the tace, but by whom could not be ascertained. Prior and his crowd, after vainly endeavoring to get up a cheer for the Union, retired down Baltimore street. The Police having been dishanded, they appeared to have it all their own way.

From Washington. The Washington correspondents of the Philadelphia papers furnish the following: The provost marshal of Alexandria has sent four prisoners to this city, charged with firing into the cars on the track below Alexandria. They were committed to jail, to await the orders of General Mansfield. The nine new regiments will be constructed on the basis of the French army organization. Each regiment will be two thousand four bundred strong, divided into four battalions, each containing six companies.

> From New York. The correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger

All the talk to-day, is of the State Convention Democratic Editors, at the Astor House, in this city, to-morrow. There are a great many whisperings and rumors about it, but beyond the facts which I have hitherto sent you in relation to de lit and its purpose, nothing whatever is known except this-that the Convention bids fair to be fully attended, and that a strong effort will be made to commit it to some plan of compromise The total receipts at all the yards for the week with the South, to be submitted to Congress when it meets next week.

Several members of Congress from the Eastern States are in town, en route for Washington. The most of them are outspoken in regard to this com-

The old suit to compet the Rev. Dr. Highee, Assistant Minister of Trinity Church, to give up sundry original letters, written by George Washington, was renewed in the Supreme Court to-day. The letters in question were written by General Washington to Colonel Tobias Lear, and came into the possession of Dr. Highee's wife after the decease of that gentleman's heirs. The facts of the case are familiar to the public. The legal point involved is, whether the writer of a letter can have property after he has sent it. The case was turned over to a referee about a year ago, who decided in favor of Mr. Higbee; but from this decision the plaintiff (Wilson Eyre) now appeals. The appellants contend that the writer has property in his letters, whilst the respondents insist that the receiver of letters has the right to their possession against all the world, the Rebr Spirester Clauser, Thompson, Gom Augusta, Me.—to only limitation being the right of the writer to restrain the publication of them by the receiver. The steamers James Adger and Eagle, formerly of the Charleston line, having been examined by Com. > From Washington. WASHINGTON, June 27 .- There is considerable excitement here to-day in consequence of Marshal Kane's arrest. It is understood that Government approves Gen. Banks' course. We have rumors of much excitement in Baltimore. Troops are gradually crossing into Virginia, but so far as ascertained, all is quiet south of the l'otomac, and no indications of immediate hostilities. The Government emphatically repudiates the recent rumors of peace negotiations, but are determined to prosecute the war with increased vigor. It is believed that Gens, McClellan and Patterson have been ordered to pursue the enemy promptly. It is also under- } stood that a detachment of regulars will soon be dispatched from here to the neighborhood of Hagerstown. Many soldiers here have been paid off, and are enjoying their money. Some get highly frollicsome and unruly, but nothing serious has occurred. Good order and quietude otherwise prevails. The Administration fully acknowledges the provisional government of Western Virginia. Gen. Scott is at his office constantly, and enjoys unusual good health. It is reported here that martial law has been declared in Baltimore, and that other leading secessionists there are to be arrested. The Covernment is immovable in its determination to allow no organized enemies in the rear of its main Twenty-five Prizes Captured by a United States Steamer. NEW YORK, June 26 .- The bark Virginia Ann felt among the troops beyond the l'otomac at the report that Major General Dix is to be appointed to command them in place of General McDowell, who has the perfect confidence of all the forces. The appointment of General Dix will have a most unfortunate effect upon the feelings of the troops. The correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer

The pickets of the Federal and Rebel soldiers up above the Chrin Bridge have exchanged civilities. Two of them dropped their muskets and took a drink of whisky together, a day or two since. The Rebel picket cried out from a distance, asking the United States soldier if he had anything in the drinking line. The reply was satisfactory, and an arrangement was soon made whereby both parties left their arms and met half way, "smiled," and returned to their picket.
