From Washington. The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer mys the Government is at a lous | what to do with the captured "rebels;" especially the privateersmen, and adds: At least one member of that body is in favor, as | 66

be expresses it, of "discarding all squeamish non-

sense, and of hanging every rebel found in arms against the Government, whether taken on the sea or land." This is undoubtedly the course that ought to be taken, if the Government regards this matter as simply an "insurrection." This is the view taken of it by President Lincoln; and he too, although be deplores the necessity of such dreadful measures, is in favor of such a course as will show to the world that we are in earnest in this matter, and that traitors found in arms against the Government must expect and receive a I traitor's doom. But the Secretary of State is in | favor of a milder, and as he thinks, of a wiser from a secession force concealed in the woods, Corn 57@58 ets.; yellow 46@49c. Bulk Shoulders Sc.; Sides | he says, necessity has led us to disregard former constitutional provisions, since the commencement of this strife. In this instance, the same necessity would seem to dictate a relaxation of the strict rule of law. If we hang these men, the rebels ! will hang Mr. Ely, Colonel Corcoran and Colonel Wilcox; and then we, in retaliation, will hang Mr. Faulkner and the prisoners at Fort Lafayette. Thus there will be no end to horrors. To avoid this, Mr. Seward favors a more lenient course than be would recommend under ordinary circumstances. His opinion has great weight with the President: but the matter is by no means ret decided. The other members of the Cabinet lare divided in sentiment on the subject. Mr. Welles sides with Mr. Seward, and the Secretary of War holds about the same views, only be objects to any further release of prisoners, as in the case of Col. l'egram's men. EDWARD HYATT. THOS. H. TRENT July 1, 1-31-jy 12 % SECOND EDITION, BY E. A. POLLARD, of VA. Criticized by conservative presses, North and South, as "the best head "ever published on the Society of the South.

Remarkably free from sectional projudice and mertaty, and, in truth, contains aketches that are att these the most catholic, and bilerant, and genial we ever had occasion to person. How appreciative, how loving how tender and sympathetic the author is in delineations we will let a few extra in abow .- Now So many jewels in their way - time by the subject, but brilliantly lightsome in it. It is a little mine, tall of promised dismonds - New York Neve Rabid abolitionness and prejudiced foreigners should read this benck - New York Herakt Defending "the institution" more than all argument from the assaults of ignorance or prejudice -In force Reserve Must have exected much good to free labor regions. It will he read with interest at the Kouth also - Modele Register. The author is sometimes a platiculation, sometimes a poet, and in every character restable - Are forder. An exceedingly interesting volume, quite in a new and unafterrest at the -- Bullemune Sun The remainder of the very large edition of this remarks ble besk, which is particularly interesting as hearing directly upon present topics of excitement, will be sold in Baltimore and
