

The South:

PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING By J. M. MILLS & CO. 123 WEST BALTIMORE MARKET.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, Nov. 11.

THE NEWS.

Our citizens have been excited this morning by reports of the capture of Beaufort, rout of the Confederates, &c., by the Naval Expedition. These things may or may not be true, but it is quite certain that no reliable intelligence to that effect has reached this city.

and the stock which was sent to them was also lost in the attempt to land it. They left the New York regiment behind, and it is thought that the Spaulding will return and bring them back also.

It was anti-slavery all over and in its marrow. It is the beginning of a movement that is destined, at an early day, to abolish the hated and hateful institution in this State.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

and the stock which was sent to them was also lost in the attempt to land it. They left the New York regiment behind, and it is thought that the Spaulding will return and bring them back also.

It was anti-slavery all over and in its marrow. It is the beginning of a movement that is destined, at an early day, to abolish the hated and hateful institution in this State.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

It was anti-slavery all over and in its marrow. It is the beginning of a movement that is destined, at an early day, to abolish the hated and hateful institution in this State.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

It was anti-slavery all over and in its marrow. It is the beginning of a movement that is destined, at an early day, to abolish the hated and hateful institution in this State.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

It took the bull right by the horns, and gave the anti-slavery cause a new impetus. It is a matter of great importance that Gen. Grant has received the news of his retirement to do what nobody else has done in Maryland.

MORE ABOUT THE FLEET—MORE VESSELS IN DISTRESS.

The following are dispatches from Fortress Monroe to the New York papers, which confess that vessels of the expedition had been affected by the bad weather:

Fortress Monroe Nov. 9.—[Special dispatch to the New York Herald.]—The gunboat Young Rover, arrived from Cape Fear, reports that she spoke on the 24 inst. the steamer Governor, Capt. Phillips, with machinery on board, in distress. Her smoke stack was gone, steam pipe broken, low water in boiler, and machinery out of order.

The Commodore Perry came the whole distance from Hall's Bay within five miles of land, and neither saw nor heard of any wrecks. The Captain also says that on leaving Hampton Roads, the entire squadron followed the Washburn into the Gulf stream, and the same evening encountered a gale from the southwest.

PHILADELPHIA, NOV. YARD.—The machinery of the steamer Florida is undergoing repairs. She is expected to sail early next week.

PHILADELPHIA, NOV. YARD.—The machinery of the steamer Florida is undergoing repairs. She is expected to sail early next week.

REGGERS FOR "ENTUSEMUSY."

We had hoped, in view of the late brilliant victory achieved by the Union party, as claimed by their organs, that they would be satisfied, but it seems not, for the American of this morning contains the following:

We were particularly struck with the justice of some remarks by the correspondent of a morning paper with reference to the department of our noble men passed through here the other evening on their route to the seat of war.

Let us ask our people, in all earnestness, shall these things remain thus always? Have we not just shown that we are for the Union—that the cause these gallant fellows are gone forth to fight for is our cause?

A NORTHERN VIEW OF THE WAR.

The physical question, as between the North and South, is rapidly coming to a solution. It is very singular that thirty-four States, associated as were our United States, should be so ignorant of the temper, character and resources of each other.

We looked at the census returns and said excitedly, "We are twenty millions and they are twenty millions stronger and have more men than we have." We are twenty millions and they are twenty millions stronger and have more men than we have.

It was anti-slavery all over and in its marrow. It is the beginning of a movement that is destined, at an early day, to abolish the hated and hateful institution in this State.

THE OBJECT OF THE WAR.

The Baltimore Correspondent of the Tribune insists on the Abolition of Slavery in the State of Maryland.

The Baltimore correspondent of the New York Tribune, a rank Abolitionist and a very badly scolded individual on the 19th of April, thus alludes to political affairs in this section:

It was anti-slavery all over and in its marrow. It is the beginning of a movement that is destined, at an early day, to abolish the hated and hateful institution in this State.

MARYLAND INSTITUTE NIGHT SCHOOL OF DESIGN.

Persons wishing to become MEMBERS of this School are requested to call at the ACTUARY'S OFFICE and obtain their Tickets at once.

GREAT SOUTHERN

Cloak and Mantilla Emporium.

E. W. JOY, IMPORTER AND MANUFACTURER OF LADIES' CLOAKS AND MANTLES.

No. 107 Baltimore Street.

I WOULD RESPECTFULLY call the attention of the public to my present stock of GOODS.

Also, 200 yds. BLACK SILKS, of superior make, extra bargains.

AUCTION BARGAINS.

WILL OPEN TO-DAY: SHAWLS! SHAWLS! SHAWLS!

200 BROUHE CASHMERE SHAWLS, bought at Auction, which will be sold at half price.

Also, 200 yds. BLACK SILKS, of superior make, extra bargains.

Also, CLOAKS! CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

of our own Manufacturing—latest Paris styles.

Also, a general assortment of FANCY AND STABLE DRY GOODS.

J. EDWARD BIRD & BRO., 213 Baltimore St., near Charles.

THE PUBLIC, WILL BE PLEASED TO CALL ON THE ACTUARY'S OFFICE.