

Price of Advertisements

Per copy, 50 cents
Per 100 copies, $50.00
Per 1,000 copies, $500.00

Advertisements will be accepted at the office of Publication No. 122 W. Baltimore street, upstairs.

The Baltimore Sun

NO. 64.

Price of Advertisements

Per copy, 50 cents
Per 100 copies, $50.00
Per 1,000 copies, $500.00

The South.
ANNUAL MESSAGE
President of the United States

Follow: Message of the Senate and House of Representatives.

In the midst of unprecedented troubles our people have cause to be grateful for annual reports of our country's progress. You will not be surprised to learn that the President of the United States, in his annual message to Congress, has done so with a frankness and candor that has been unusual in the history of the Republic.

A nation which addresses factious domestic discord is bound to disprove abroad and at home. It is not, however, to be discouraged by these facts, but rather to be encouraged by them. It is not to be discouraged by the fact that our country is in a state of anarchy, but rather to be encouraged by the fact that our country is in a state of anarchy.

I respectfully refer to the report of the Secretary of War for information respecting the numerical strength of the army, and for recommendations having in view the increase of its efficiency and the well-being of the various branches of the service entrusted to his care.

It is gratifying to know that the patriotism of the people, and the devotion of the officers, and the valor of the troops, have all been unflinching, and that the army has been increased in its numbers and in its efficiency.

By more attention, I presume, Congress has failed to provide for the hospital occupied by the volunteers. This subject was brought to my notice, and I was induced to draw up the form of a letter, a copy of which, I have directed to be sent to each of the several States, and to the Secretary of War, in order that he may be enabled to see that the hospital is properly maintained, and that the volunteers are properly cared for.

I commended to your careful consideration whether the power of making judgments shall not properly be given to the Court, reserving the right of appeal on questions of law to the Supreme Court. With such other provisions as experience may have shown to be necessary.

Talk attention to the report of the Postmaster General, following being a summary statement of the condition of the Department. The revenue from all sources during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1861, including the annual permanent appropriation of seven hundred thousand dollars, was $1,100,000,000. The expenditures were $1,100,000,000, leaving a surplus of $100,000,000.

In 1860, the expenditures were $1,100,000,000, showing a decrease of one-eighth of one per cent. compared with those of the previous year, and leaving an excess of expenditures over the revenue for the fiscal year of $1,000,000,000. The total revenue for the year ending June 30, 1861, is estimated at an increase of four per cent. over the revenue for the year ending June 30, 1860, or $1,200,000,000. The expenditures for the year ending June 30, 1861, are estimated at an increase of two per cent. over the expenditures for the year ending June 30, 1860, or $1,150,000,000.

proposition system which opens the way to all grievances, and all consequent energy and progress improvement of condition to all. No man living is more worthy to be treated than the man who has the right to be treated as a man.

From the first talking of our national census to the last, we have seen the people of this country, and the people of all countries, struggling to day, and not altogether for the sake of the world, but for the sake of the people of this country.

There are already among us those who, if the Union be preserved, will live to see the day when the people of this country, and the people of all countries, will be struggling to day, and not altogether for the sake of the world, but for the sake of the people of this country.

Washington, Dec. 3, 1861.

Some treaties designed chiefly for the interests of commerce and having no political character, will be negotiated, and will be submitted to the Senate for their ratification.

Although we have failed to secure the construction of such a road as we desire, we have secured the construction of another road which will be of great benefit to the people of this country.

In the year 1860, we have secured the construction of another road which will be of great benefit to the people of this country.

In the year 1860, we have secured the construction of another road which will be of great benefit to the people of this country.

Three additional circuits occur to me, either of which I think would be an improvement upon our present system. Let the Supreme Court be of convenient number, and let the circuits be of convenient size. Let the Supreme Court be of convenient number, and let the circuits be of convenient size.

Let the Supreme Court be of convenient number, and let the circuits be of convenient size. Let the Supreme Court be of convenient number, and let the circuits be of convenient size.

Let the Supreme Court be of convenient number, and let the circuits be of convenient size. Let the Supreme Court be of convenient number, and let the circuits be of convenient size.

Let the Supreme Court be of convenient number, and let the circuits be of convenient size. Let the Supreme Court be of convenient number, and let the circuits be of convenient size.

Annual reports exhibiting the condition of our agriculture, our commerce, our industry, and our population, are of great value to the people of this country.

While I make no suggestion as to the details of the execution of the laws, I believe that the execution of the laws should be left to the Executive, and that the Executive should be empowered to suspend the laws in cases where they are found to be impracticable or inexpedient.

I believe that the Executive should be empowered to suspend the laws in cases where they are found to be impracticable or inexpedient. I believe that the Executive should be empowered to suspend the laws in cases where they are found to be impracticable or inexpedient.

I believe that the Executive should be empowered to suspend the laws in cases where they are found to be impracticable or inexpedient. I believe that the Executive should be empowered to suspend the laws in cases where they are found to be impracticable or inexpedient.

It has been said that one day General is better than two good ones, and the saying is true. If taken to mean, not that one man is better than two, but that one man is better than two, then it is true.

It has been said that one day General is better than two good ones, and the saying is true. If taken to mean, not that one man is better than two, but that one man is better than two, then it is true.

It has been said that one day General is better than two good ones, and the saying is true. If taken to mean, not that one man is better than two, but that one man is better than two, then it is true.

It has been said that one day General is better than two good ones, and the saying is true. If taken to mean, not that one man is better than two, but that one man is better than two, then it is true.