

The South.

BE GENTLE TO THY HUSBAND.

Be gentle, there are hours when he
By anxious care is tossed;
And shadows deep lie on his brow,
By business trials crossed.

Be gentle, 'tis for you he toils,
And thinks, and strives to gain
Home comfort and home happiness—
Don't let him strive in vain.

Be gentle, though some hasty word
Should fall, it was not meant;
A smile, a kind word will recall,
And many more prevent.

Be gentle, oh! 'twill soothe the much care,
And make each burden light;
A gentle tone will smooth the brow,
And draw an answer bright.

Be gentle, though it may seem hard,
To check an angry word;
Yet try, and it will surely bring
A full and rich reward.

BE GENTLE WITH THY WIFE.

Be gentle, for you know,
How many trials rise;
Although to thee they may be small,
To her, of giant size.

Be gentle, though perchance that lip
May speak a murmuring tone;
The heart may beat with kindness yet,
And joy to be thine own.

Be gentle, weary house of pain
The woman's lot to bear;
Then yield her that support thou canst,
And all her sorrows share.

Be gentle, for the nobled heart,
At times may have some grief;
And even in a trifling word
May seek to find relief.

Be gentle, for unkindness now
May rouse an angry storm;
That all the after years of life
In vain may strive to calm.

Be gentle—perfect there are none—
Thou'rt dearest far thy life;
Then husband, be gentle still forbear,
Be gentle to thy wife.
