The South.

Written for the "Roach" TRIFLES. ST R. B. T

How trifles sometimes touch the soul, And strike the hidden springs, Which bring forth sweetest memories, Of long forgotten things.

I beard last eve, as stars came out, . Upon the quiet sky, A plaintive song, from one I loved, In the bright days-gone by.

It thrilled my very soul; the notes, So soft, so low, so clear, Which once my proud heart melted Were charming now, another ear.

The long sealed fountains burst their chains, I calmed my heart with tears, The gentle rain, which God has given, To wash away our fears, and

And had be thus, unfaithful proved. And east my love aside? These little pangs of grief were mine While gazing on his bride.

But such is life; while woman's love Outlives earth's rudest blast. A man's "I love you" does not mean. Unchanging to the last.

FROM THE SOUTH.

The town of Newbern, which is said to be one i of the points of attack of the Burnside Expedition, is the port of entry of North Carolina, and the chief town of Craven county. It is situated at] the confluence of the Neuse and Trent rivers, the Neuse being more than a mile wide in front of the Southern railroad. The possession of Roanoke Island would be more important as securing the whole control of Albemarle and Curituck Sounds, \ the first of which is sixty miles long and from two to fifteen wide, Curituck is fifty miles long and trom two to ten broad, which would open water communication to within a very short distance of Norfolk, if it should be the intention to attack that place in the rear. The Norfolk papers of Wednesday contain the l following despatches:

Goldskozo', N. C., Jan. 21, 4 o'clock, P. M .-- 1 A large number of women and children have arrived here from Newbern. A fight was expected there. No other news.

at 4 o'clock yesterday, there were one hundred Sound, and twenty-five large transports outside of Hatteras Inlet.

enemy will attack Newbern, Hyde county and Rosnoke Island simultaneously. Our forces are completely prepared for them." The Day Bok has the following. "SAVANNAH, Jan. 21 .- From forty to fifty ves- i sels are in Broad river, fifteen miles from Port Royal." None of the Southern papers make any refer-fer in Kentucky. The funeral of Ex-President Tyler took place on the 21st, and was attended by Jeff. Davis and Cabinet, and the members of Congress. The Day Back copies a paragraph from a Pe-tersturg paper, saying that the steamer Pensacola did not escape from the Potomac without damage. A gentleman who examined her with a spy-glass after she passed the batteries, gives that paper the assurance that she had a hole as big as a hogshead in her bow, etc.

The Norfolk Transcrupt, in an editorial, says that General McClellan is going to cross the Potomac.

The Hay Book publishes a long article, recording the adventures, misfortunes and maltreatment of a Miss Poole, lately released from the prison for females in Washington. The Day Book says, according to her own story, there was no possible indignity and outrage to which she was not subjected.

From the Munfordsville Cor. of Cincinnati Times. A CRINOLINE FLUTTER.—Yesterday a division order was issued which caused a terrible flutter in certain quarters. Despite General Buell's order to the contrary, quite a number of officers' wives have succeeded in reaching them here .-They were not disturbed, and had disposed of a themselves comfortably, in anticipation of a long stay. Yesterday an order was issued, requiring all officers having wives or families in camp, or in Muntordsville and Woodsonsville, or vicinity, who were not permanent residents, to remove them to the rear before three o'clock to-day. Assurances were given that any officer refusing to ober the order, would be at once court-martialed found the following for disabedience of orders. So there is no getting around it.

Perhaps General McCook did not catch it last: evening, and perhaps he wasn't wished all sorts | of had luck. Some called him a sour, crabby the helper, who ought never to have a wife; others termed him a cruel despot, and inquiries were made as to whether he is a woman hater.

wite-who has been with her husband three or four months in Kentucky. She won't be driven home. Three times was she expelled from Camp | Nevin, but immediately appeared inside the pickets next day, and, finding shelter in some farm- I house near the camp, managed to get word to her husband. She did the same thing at Bacon | Creek, and followed her husband's regiment here. She says she won't be separated from the Captain, and as she is rather pretty, and plucky to the last, she has the sympathy of a large number | the objection's used in the most popular HAIR RESTORA of tractals. I suppose she will be sent away today, but if it is possible she will be back again tomorrow. I understand some of the officers prefor resigning to parting with their dears.

_π-& It is romantically told that a young lady, now an operative at a shoe factory at Lynn, was termenty one of the "upper ten" in Central Europe. She received a superior education, learned three or four languages, moved in high circles in Hance's Compound Syrup of Horchound, early life, and waitzed and firted with the younger namers of the royal family of her native land. She left her eastle-he me with a false friend, and on discovering her position, preferred to earn her live i and by steady tool in an humble calling rather than plurge into the gulf of vice.
