CHRISTMAS T'MEA

Not a creature was stirring—not even a mouse; The stockings were hung by the chimney with care. In the hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there. The children were precied all sung in their beds. While visious of sugar plums danced in their heads. And Mamma in her 'kerchief, and I in my cap. Had just settled our brains for a long winter's use: When out on the lawn there rose such a clatter. I sprang from the bed to see what was the matter: Away to the window I flew like a flash, Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash, The mean on the breast of the new fallon snow, Gave the lustre of mid-day to objects below; When, what to my wondering eyes should appear, But a ministure sleigh, and right tiny reign deer. With a little old driver, so lively and quick, I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick. More rapid than eagles his coursers they came. And he whistled, and shouted, and called them by name; "Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now Prancer! now, Vizen, On Comet, on Cupid, on Dunder and Blizen, To the top of the porch! to the top of the wall! Now dash away! dash away! dash away ali! As dry leaves before the wild hurricane fly, When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky, Fo up to the house top the coursers they flew, With the sleigh full of Toys-and St. Nicholas too. And then in a twinkling, I heard on the roof The prancing and pawing of each little boof: As I drew in my head, and was turning around, Down the chimney Et. Nicholas came with a bound, He was dressed all in fur, from his head to his foot, And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot; A bundle of toys was flung on his back. And he looked like a pedlar just opening his pack; His eyes—bow they twinkled! his dimples how merry, His cheeks were like roses, his nove like a cherry; His droil little mouth was drawn up like a bow, And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow. The stump of a pipe he beld tight in his teeth, And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath: He had a broad lace and a little round belly. That shook, when he laughed, like a bowl full of jelly He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf, And I laughed, when I saw him, in spite of myself, A wink of his eye, and a twist of his head, Boon gave me to know I had nothing to dread; He spicke not a word, but went straight to his work, And filled all his stackings—then turned with a jerk, And taying his finger aside of his nose, And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose. He sprang to his sleigh, to bis team gave a whistle, And away they all flew like the down of a thistle; But I beard him exclaim, ere he drove out of right,
