THINGS THAT ARE BITTER.

Bitter is falsehood, breathed by infant lips,
The blush of conscious guilt upon the cheek;
Bitter the mental draught, the wretched sips,
And bitter woes in bitter silence speak!

Who has heard the bitterness of woe,
Or who has felt the pangs that women feels,
When son or husband, from the bitter bowl,
Drinks deep its curse, and mam unman'd reveals!

See here, a bitter sight! The wassail rout!
These midnight revelries! That dawning gun!
Lo! age and youth join in the drunken "bout,"
And virtue weeps, where men forget their shame!

Is this a bitter—disapp inted love?
Go ask its victim, in her ruyless cell!
Behold the eye, where mind with beauty strove,
Aye, catch that look—its bitterness will tell.

What's bitter—disappointed hope?
Go ask the madman, through his dungeon grate!
Who knows the thoughts, that gave to virtue scope,
Ah! she fled—His is a bitter fate!

Death is a bitter hour, to those who fall,
In age advanced, and clogg'd with many sins,
Strong is that grasp, and bitter is the call,
Wherewith he arrests, and whereby he wins!

Despair is bitter—bitter are its gifts,
And melancholy follows in its train,
It steals that hope away, the soul that lifts,
And where it blights, joy never comes again!

Of human bitters, these are but a few,
One bitter more, and this the worst to tell;
Keep still, thou tear, that cayest my feelings true,
Lie—trickle forth, thou'lt help me say—farewell!

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

Thursday, Feb. 25. Benjamin Tibbles came into Court this morning, and gave bail in the sum of $1000 for his future appearance. He is indicted for gaming.

State vs. Henry Gunter. } Indictment for manslaughter, by killing Ferdinand H. Plain.

The following gentlemen were sworn in this case as Jurors:

George Brown,	Absalom C. Butler,
Nicholas Burke,	William R. Patterson,
Z. C. Johnson,	Noah Ridgely,
John N. Brown,	William Christ,
Jeremiah Storm,	Levi Williams,
Patrick Key,	Daniel Cameron.

The indictment charged the prisoner with manslaughter by killing Ferdinand H. Plain, by shooting him with a pistol, thereby inflicting a mortal wound on the neck of him the said Ferdinand H. Plain, the length of one inch and the depth of two inches, on the 11th day of November last.

George Berry on part of the state, stated that he was in the Rolla House, Hanover street, on the night of the 11th of November last—heard a young man named France and Plain quarrelling about their trades. Plain then turned round to a young man named Harris and said that he (H.) was an ordinary son of a b—h. Harris replied that he was as ordinary as he was last winter.—France then picked up a pair of tongs and said he would have order in the house. Plain picked up a chair and threw it at France—it missed him and struck the screen before the front door, breaking a slat out of it; upon this Gunter came out of the ten pin alley and said "ha, is the chairs getting lively," and went behind the screen to repair it. Plain said to Gunter "perhaps you don't like it." G. replied that he did not like it so very much. P. said "you son of a b—h I will make you like it," and then went behind the screen where G. was—they got into a scuffle—P. had G. by the collar, from the screen they got to the oyster box, when G. broke away from P. and went behind the bar and took from out of the drawer a pistol, and presented it at P. P. opened his breast and said "snap, snap you son of a b—h." G. then fired and shot him. P. then picked up a chair as G. was to run from behind the bar up stairs, threw it at him, at the same time exclaiming "Oh! you son of a b—h"—dont know that P. had his waistcoat unbuttoned when he told G. to fire. Plain might have reached G. from before the bar while he (G.) was behind it—don't know that P. was armed at the time—had a conversation with G. after P. was dead. G. said if it had been any person else he would not have killed them, but the reason why he shot him was that P. had said he would kill him (G.)

Emanuel Irons, on part of the state, stated that he was at the Rolla house on the evening in question; heard the quarrelling between France, Harris, and P.; P. picked up a chair and threw it at France; it missed him, and broke a slat out of the screen. Gunter came out of the ten-pin alley, and said "here is the chairs getting lively." G. picked up the chair and placed it upon its feet, and then went behind the screen; while he was repairing it, P. said to him "perhaps you don't like it." G. replied that he did not "like it so very much." P. then said "you son of a b——h, I will make you like it," and then went behind the screen where G. was, and should judge from their actions, that P. struck G.; they got into a scuffle behind the screen, from thence they got to the oyster-box, where G. broke away from P. and were very fast behind the bar, and got a pistol; P. then opened his breast, and said "shoot!—shoot! you son of a b———h." G. then fired and shot P.; P. then picked up a chair and threw it at G. as he went to run from behind the bar, at the same time exclaiming "oh, you son of a b——h." It was some few seconds before G. fired after he got the pistol. Witness was standing some 3 or 4 feet from P. when he was shot.

Cross-examined. G's hand was resting on the bar with the pistol in it when he fired; Gunter was not angry when he went behind the screen;—did not see who struck first; it was about half-past 9 o'clock when the occurrence took place; when G. came from behind the screen, his hat was off; G. was endeavoring all the time to get away from P. when in the scuffle; heard G. say to P., "Ferd, what are you doing." G. looked very much frightened; the next morning afterwards, saw G; he had a mark of violence upon his forehead.

John France, on part of the state, stated that he was at the Rolla House on the evening in question. P. and himself were talking about trades; were not quarrelling; while they were talking, P. turned round to Harris, and said he (H.) was another ordinary son of a b——h; H. replied that he was not as ordinary as he (P.) was last winter. Witness then picked up a pair of tongs in fun, and said he would have order in the house; P. then picked up a chair, and threw it at him (witness;) the chair missed him and struck the screen; upon this, G. came out of the ten-pin alley, and said "ha! are the chairs getting lively?" [Here the witness described the scene at the screen and the oyster-box, which has already been given.] After G. broke loose from P. he went, as fast as he could, without running, behind the bar, and got a pistol, presented it at P., hesitated some few seconds, and then fired; went with P. to the doctor's; after P. got out of G's house, he exclaimed, "D——n my heart—I am shot." P. said, when G. presented the pistol, "Snap! snap! you son of a b——h."

Cross-examined. When G. said he did not like it, P. struck at him; G. was endeavoring to get away all the time from P.; G. did not strike P.

Mr. Reed, a student of medicine, stated that he was present at the post mortem examination which was performed upon P. and saw the wound—the ball entered in the front part of the neck, and was lodged at the top of the first rib.

Walter Crook, on part of the defence, stated—that he knew G.; had lived with him about 12 months; always found him to be a peaceable, quiet and good-natured young man; it is about 12 months since he was in his employ.

Mrs. Margaret Swartz, on part of the defence, stated—that she is the sister of G.; was in the bar room at the time part of the scuffle was going on; heard P. say to G. that he would kill him, the d—d son of a b—h; left the bar to draw a glass of beer at that moment; did not see any more of the disturbance; as she came back into the bar, G. was coming in the door which leads up stairs; P. threw a chair at him, which struck her as she came in.

Otto Torry, on part of the defence, stated—that he knew G. for about twelve years and a half; always found him to be a peaceable and quiet man.

Mr. Palmer stated—that he rented to G. the house in which he had been keeping tavern, and knew him for 12 months; always found him to be a quiet and peaceable man, one who would rather take an insult than resent it; knew P.; he was a man of desperate bad character, totally reckless in his passions, and very dangerous; has known him to go into G.'s house and take anything he pleased; G. was so much afraid of him that he would immediately go up stairs when he came in; P. constantly slept in the Union Engine House, of which he (the witness) is keeper; he would very often ring the bell and raise false alarms in order to get into G.'s house; at last the directors of the company had to have a patent lock put on the engine house door in order to keep him out.

Emanuel Irons, recalled by the defence. On a Sunday or two previous to P.'s death, saw him slap G. in the mouth; G. did not resent it as he was so much afraid of him.

Edward Brown, on part of the defence, stated—that he knew G. to be a very quiet and peaceable man; knew P. on the contrary to be very dangerous and quarrelsome; G. told him once in conversation, that he had either given P. or lent him money to go out of the city, in order to get clear of him, as he (G.) believed if he remained here that he (P.) would take his life.

Dr. Durkee, on part of the state, stated the same as was given by Mr. Reed.

Mr. Middlecamp, on part of the defence, stated that he knew P. to be a man of very bad and depraved character.

Mr. Dickinson, a watchman, stated that P. was a man of very bad character; has had a great deal of trouble with him in the discharge of his duty; knows G. to be a quiet and peaceable man.

George Berry, recalled by the state—Did not hear P. say to G. that he would kill him.

Emanuel Irons stated the same.

John France stated the same.

Thomas Cooper stated that he knew P.; he was a high-spirited young chap; would fight at any time.

Friday, Feb. 26. Mr. C. W. Spilker, on part of the defence, stated that he has known G. for five years past; was in his (witness') employ for about three years; always found him to be a quiet, peaceable, and very industrious man.

Archibald McLean, on part of the defence, stated that he was at the Rolla House on the evening in question; saw the scuffle; G. broke away from P. and ran behind the bar; P. followed him within a few feet of the bar; G. got a pistol and presented it at P., his arm resting on the counter at the time; P. then uncovered his breast, and exclaimed, "shoot! you d——n Dutch son of a b——," or "shoot! G—d d——n you—shoot"—has known G. since May last; always found him to be a peaceable and quiet man; G. looked very much frightened; was as much frightened as any man he ever saw; his hair was standing nearly straight up.

Mr. Harris stated that P. struck G. several times.

The case was argued before the jury by John McKim Duncan and Wm. H. Norris, Esqs. Mr. Duncan is a young man of fine talents; he made an excellent argument, and bids fair to become an ornament to his profession; he understands the principles of oratory; his manner and style of speaking are peculiarly appropriate; it is calculated to have much effect. The case was conducted on part of the prisoner by James M. Buchanan and Charles F. Mayer, Esqs. Mr. Buchanan made a very excellent argument for the defence. In fact, the counsel on both sides done themselves much honor.

The [illegible] to the jury about 6 o'clock, and the court continued in session about a quarter of an hour afterwards, waiting for the jury to return their verdict. The jury sent a message to the court, stating that they were, as yet, unable to agree, and asked the privilege of having refreshments. The counsel on both sides consented. They were then allowed the privilege.—The court directed them to seal their verdict, it they should agree, and return it in the morning. The court then adjourned until to-morrow morning, at 10 o'clock.

REPORTS OF THE GRAND JURY.

To the Honorable the Judges of Baltimore City Court.

The Grand Jury, in compliance with the duty enjoined upon them by law, have visited the Jail of Baltimore City and County.

Whilst we deeply regret that the construction of the prison will not permit of a still further classification of the inmates than at present exists, we express our great gratification at finding the general arrangement of the prison and the great cleanliness of the various apartments and the apparent interest manifested for the health and comparative comfort of the prisoners were such as to commend to the favorable opinion of the Grand Jury the peculiar fitness of David Herring, Esq. the Warden, for the responsible station he holds.

CITY COUNCIL.

FIRST BRANCH, Feb. 26, 1841. The Branch met pursuant to adjournment. Present, H. Snyder, Esq., president, and all the members.

Mr. Bender presented a bill being a supplement to an ordinance relative to the appointment of city officers by the mayor. Upon being amended, the bill was passed.

Mr. Dallam presented the report of the joint committee on streets, relative to the petition of George N. Stewart, for opening a part of Vine street, which was favorable.

Mr. Dallam offered a resolution requesting that the joint committee on police inquire into the duties imposed upon the counsellor of the city, and report to this Branch. The resolution was passed; so Mr. Marshall may prepare himself for a formal visit.

Mr. Keyser called up bill No. 11, as amended by the Second Branch, being an ordinance for the appointment of a city collector, and prescribing his duties. Upon the yeas and nays being taken, they were—yeas 17; nays 5. The bill, therefore, and at last, has finally passed both Branches, and wants only the signature of his honor the Mayor, to become a law.

Mr. Myers offered a resolution, asking the committee on water to inquire into the practicability of preventing persons from using water from the pumps at the reservoir on Bell's Point. The resolution was passed.

A message was received from the Second Branch, being a report on resolution on the petition of Thomas Lloyd, which was unfavorable.

Mr. Field, of the joint select committee, presented the report of said committee on the new division of wards; accompanying which, was a resolution requesting that a memorial be sent to the State Legislature, asking the enactment of a law legalizing the election of members to the Second Branch of the Council from the prospective additional wards. The report was favorable, and the resolution passed.

A message came in from the Second Branch, being a report and resolution of the joint committee on claims, relative to the petition of Nicholas Smith, which was endorsed concurred in.

A message was received from the Mayor, directed to the First and Second Branches of the City Council, in convention assembled. On motion of Mr. Bender, a committee was appointed to invite the Second Branch into convention. The above message was the little end of the first "green bag," containing a few remaining nominations for office. The bag was undoubtedly light, for Samuel Myers, Esq., as he bore it across the chamber, stepped as nimbly as a young bachelor of twenty-five. The following gentlemen have been regularly confirmed by the members of both branches to office:

City Commissioner and Port Warden—Josiah Reihm.

Visiter of the Jail—T. C. Jenkins, in place of J. Roach, declined.

City Police officer—Amon Duvall.

Captain of Night Watch, E. District—Richard Bishop.

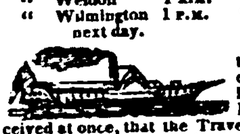
City Bailiffs—Conrad Eberhart, Charles Scott, John V. Woodall, Peter Kaeis, Chas. Creamer, John Maydwell, John P. Youce, J. C. Wellaager, John Wright.

The Council adjourned until Monday next at half past three o'clock.

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.
GREAT SOUTHERN
UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH.
The ONLY LINE carrying the GREAT MAIL, and the only DAILY LINE!

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 4 P. M., they proceed, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and one day in advance of the Bay Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	8 A.M.	reach	Baltimore	2 P.M.
" Baltimore	4 P.M.	"	Washington	6 P.M.
" Washington	5 A.M.	"	Fredk'sburg	12 M.
" Fred'ksburg	12 M.	"	Richmond	5 P.M.
" Richmond	5 P.M.	"	Petersburg	7 P.M.
" Petersburg	7 P.M.	"	Weldon	1 A.M.
" Weldon	1 A.M.	"	Wilmington	1 P.M.
" Wilmington	1 P.M.	"	Charleston at 5 the next day.



As this Line carries the Great Mail, (which cannot be delayed,) and is almost entirely a Rail-Road Line, it will be perceived at once, that the Traveller, unless in some extraordinary contingency, is sure of a connection through, whilst it is evident that Foos! Rough Weather!! and Storms!!! must often occasion delay in a Route, more than two-thirds of which is by the Bay—the traveller being also subjected to Sea-sickness, and incurring unnecessary risk, from Boats being urged to the top of their speed, to compete with the more DIRECT ISLAND ROUTE.

☞ The above line will be found not only the most certain and expeditious, but the most attractive, as it passes through the Seat of Government, and in sight of Mount Vernon by daylight, and through Fredericksburg, Richmond, and Petersburg, the largest and most flourishing towns in Virginia. It is also cheaper to Richmond, and as cheap as the Bay route to Weldon: and travellers have no expense or trouble with their Baggage.

☞ This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton, Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

LIVER COMPLAINT. This disease is discovered by a fixed obtuse pain in the right side under the short ribs, attended with heat, uneasiness about the pit of the stomach;—there is in the right side also a distension—the patient loses his appetite and becomes sick and troubled with vomiting. The tongue becomes rough and black, countenance changes to a pale or citron color, or yellow, like those afflicted with jaundice—difficulty of breathing, disturbed rest, attended with a dry cough, difficulty of laying on the left side; the body becomes weak, and finally the disease terminates into another of a more serious nature, which in all probability is far beyond the power of human skill. Dr. Harlich's Compound Tonic Strengthening and German Aperient Pills, if taken at the commencement of this disease, will check it, and by continuing the use of the Medicine a few weeks, a perfect CURE will be performed. Thousands can testify to the fact.
