

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 23, 1841.

ALL RIGHT. In another column will be found the circular from the Secretary of State, giving the President's instructions in relation to public officers. We are glad that the president has prohibited their improper interference in elections and the contribution of money for electioneering purposes. A public officer is bound to labor for his bread; but he will not now be required to fight for it also. This will cause his duty to be performed with more punctuality and fidelity, and the object for which he was appointed will be better answered. There will be fewer persons to hiss on the political dog that they may enjoy the fruits of the combat. Officers are left in the enjoyment of all the rights and privileges which they ought to desire, the quiet expression of their political sentiments and the peaceable deposit of their ballots. In these respects the president has fulfilled public expectation, and followed an example which should never have been deviated from. His decision on this subject cannot fail to be approved by all parties, and we hope that the practice he reproves will be forever abolished. But there is another branch of this circular of hardly less importance—we mean that relating to accounting officers. These are strictly enjoined to make prompt and faithful returns of public moneys in their hands. The practice of permitting large sums to accumulate in the hands of receiving officers, has led to great abuses and severe losses, and frequent and honest settlements cannot be too rigidly required of them. No apology should be admitted for neglect; for the money received ought to be considered as a sacred trust, the slightest intentional violation of which should subject the offender to instant removal and punishment. There is no difficulty in keeping correct accounts, if the officer be honest, intelligent and industrious, and none others should be appointed. Most of the defalcations which have occurred have originated in negligence or dishonesty; and partizan attachments have sometimes been offered in extension of such official misconduct. We hope that no such plea will be admitted from henceforward. The Secretary of the Treasury is an intelligent, practical and laborious man, who owes his present eminent distinction more to the proper exertion of his own intellectual energies than to party favor, and he will not be apt to tolerate remissness in duty in his subordinates. Receiving officers may, therefore, make up their minds to be held to a strict responsibility.

DIGNITY. We copy the following paragraph from the Republican of yesterday morning, with the view of returning a little of the advice which the editor kindly administered to us a few days since, and we hope that he will receive admonition with the same good feeling that he gives it. "A palpable hit.—A wag, the other day, speaking of the late Inaugural, took occasion to express his surprise that General Harrison in referring to Roman history for examples applicable to the present state of the Union, omitted to cite the fact of a horse being once made Consul, as a case directly in point." The editor apprehended that we were slipping into politics, but we think that he has palpably dropped out of them in the above paragraph, and got one step below the line. We like wit, but then it must be wit; and for our lives we cannot discover the point (if it have any) in the above article. It compares the President of the United States to a horse. There is neither joke, nor force, nor wit in this. On the contrary it is dull, undignified and disrespectful. Whatever may be the objections to the political sentiments or measures of a President, the fact of his occupying that distinguished station should secure to him personal respect; and we regret that our courteous neighbor should have forgotten this in his political zeal. It should always be recollected by politicians, and particularly by editors, that "harsh words break no bones," whilst "a soft answer turneth away wrath." We love the editorial profession—it is one of great responsibility, and should be of respectability—but its dignity and its usefulness are sacrificed, when abuse is substituted for argument. We suspect that the above article must have been accidentally inserted, for the editor has too discriminating a mind not to see that the shaft is pointless. It is better to kill an adversary with the small sword than to hack him to death with a blunt knife—and keen satire is preferable to abortive wit. The latter is like "The gun, which aimed at duck or plover, Re coils, and kicks its owner over."

We have given our neighbor a "Rowland for his Oliver," at the same time acknowledging our willingness that he shall "Check us when we go astray, And guide us in the better way." For he who is too obstinate to take advice, should never presume to give it. We respect the press, and would have the press to make us be respected.

THE SOUTHERN MAIL. Yesterday morning we received New Orleans papers of the 5th inst. There are yet, however, nine mails due from that quarter. From the Picayune, we learn that "a white man named E. Samson, who kept a coffee house and cigar shop at the southeast corner of Camp and Girod sts., where he also lived, while in a fit of mental derangement, shot his servant girl, Fanny, a mulatto, and afterwards put an end to his own existence."

Mr. J. H. Hewitt's Concert. It is whispered in every quarter that our friend and late associate editor, Mr. Hewitt, will have a full house at the Assembly Rooms to-night. That he will have a splendid Concert is beyond all question. The entire musical profession of our city, together with a great portion of the amateurs, have generously proffered their services upon the occasion. Many of our first citizens have also taken an active interest in the affair. A large number of tickets have already been sold. We have every reason to believe that the saloon will present a most brilliant display of beauty and fashion.

The programme speaks for itself. It presents a cluster of all the choice talent our city can boast. If such attractions, together with the many claims of our native minstrel, poet and patriot, do not draw together a crowded auditor, we can only say that we have over-estimated the generosity and good taste of the citizens of Baltimore. A friend at our elbow suggests that the Assembly Rooms will hold fifteen hundred persons.—We say, let every seat be taken. Such is the general sentiment of good feeling throughout our city.

THE FIRST TRUMPET. The war cry has gone forth, and the first trumpet has sounded for the political contest. The extra session of congress will give us life and animation in these otherwise dull times; and the clash of tongues and pens will drown the moans over the currency and the groans over the banks. In the ensuing melee, we beg that the champions on both sides will remember that "discretion is the better part of valor"; and we give editors on both sides fair notice that, if they do not conduct the controversy "with a decent respect for the opinions" of the people, we shall rap them over the knuckles. We do not mean to constitute ourselves bottle-holder to the fray, that office having been happily abolished by the temperance societies; but we do mean to see fair play, and to close the first mouth that utters foul language. We shall act as self-appointed chairman for the time being, and shall certainly "bend the thumb" against the person who may violate the rules of propriety.

THE FRESHET IN THE SOUTH. A letter dated Savannah, March 16th, gives still further particulars of the flood in the South. The whole town of Hamburg has been inundated, and very considerable damage sustained. Some of the streets in Augusta were under water. A stage, in crossing the Ocmulgee in a flat boat, was swept down the stream, the boat snagged, and three of the stage and horses out. The driver and horses were drowned. The passengers, among whom was Gen. Word, of N. Y., swam to an island, and were compelled to climb up trees. The hon. Mr. Holt, on his way home from Washington, was also among the number.

"A Subscriber" complains that the sweepers of the Lexington market house are in the habit of "flirting or throwing dust on ladies as they pass." This is a most ungentle act, and if done designedly, the sweepers should be "brained by ladies' fans" or shoe-heels, for being so unmanly;—but our correspondent intimates that, if repeated, he will give them rougher treatment. It is hoped that his honor the Mayor, whom we believe to be a man of gallantry and good breeding, will instruct his sweepers to be less free with their brushes, unless they are resolved to "kick up a dust."

CANDIDATES. James W. Williams, Esq. of Harford county, and Dr. James C. Orrick, of Baltimore county, are named as candidates to represent the third Congressional district in the 27th Congress. These gentlemen are both of the Van Buren party, and seem determined not to be "a day after the fair." There will be more "Richmonds in the field," and then the withdrawals will commence. The above named candidates may find the adage verified, "the more haste the less speed."

The New York Express states that the last returns of Mr. Ex-Collector Hoyt's accounts, to which the Naval Officer deemed it his duty not to affix his certificate, exhibited a deficiency of $179,700. This sum is exclusive of the amount for which suit is already commenced by the United States, for the recovery back of fees and emoluments of $30,000. Other amounts swell it up to more than $285,000.

The attention of the public is directed to the sale of the handsome and well finished dwelling house, situated in North Liberty street, opposite St. John's Church, by Weaver, Cannon, & Co. The sale will positively take place this afternoon, at four o'clock on the premises.

NO SIGN OF BAD TIMES. The boxes at the St. Charles Theatre, N. O., were selling at from 4 to $5 per seat, on the first night of Fanny Ellsler's appearance.

FIRE. The alarm of fire yesterday morning about 7 o'clock, originated from the partial burning of the brig Susan Mary, lying at Corner's wharf on Fell's Point. The flames were extinguished without the brig sustaining much injury.

A man named Turner Tufts committed suicide in Medford, (Mass.) on the 19th inst., by shooting himself with a rifle. Cause, depressed circumstances.

David Hoffman, Esq. will lecture this evening before the Mercantile Library Association, at the Universalist Church. Subject—"Destruction of Jerusalem by an eye witness."

THE HON. HENRY CLAY is yet at Barabum's. His health is improving. Yesterday he was enabled to leave his bed and walk across the chamber.

Amicus will confer a favor upon us by calling at the office. We most respectfully solicit an interview.

BOARD OF TRADE.

The following members constitute the Committee on Arbitration for the month of March, 1841: HUGH BICKHEAD, JOHN H. GORDON, M. S. NORMAN, J. W. PATTERSON, ESOPH PRATT.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, March 20, 1841.

To the Hon. Thomas Ewing, Secretary of the Treasury: Sir: The President is of opinion that it is a great abuse to bring the patronage of the General Government into conflict with the freedom of elections; and that this abuse ought to be corrected wherever it may have been permitted to exist, and to be prevented for the future.

He therefore directs that information be given to all officers and agents in your Department of the public service, that partizan interference in popular elections, whether of State officers or officers of this Government, and for whomsoever, or against whomsoever it may be exercised, or the payment of any contribution or assessment on salaries or official compensation for party or election purposes, will be regarded by him as cause of removal.

It is not intended that any officer shall be restrained in the free and proper expression and maintenance of his opinions, respecting public measures, or in the exercise to the slightest degree, of the constitutional right of suffrage. But persons employed under the Government, and paid for their services out of the public Treasury, are not expected to take an active or officious part in attempts to influence the minds or votes of others; such conduct being deemed inconsistent with the spirit of the Constitution and the duties of public agents acting under it; and the President is resolved, so far as depends upon him, that while the exercise of the elective franchise by the People shall be free from undue influences of official station and authority, opinion shall also be free among the officers and agents of the Government.

The President wishes it further to be announced and distinctly understood, that from all collecting and disbursing officers, promptitude in rendering accounts, and entire punctuality in paying balances, will be rigorously exacted. In his opinion it is time to return, in this respect, to the early practice of the Government, and to hold every degree of delinquency on the part of those entrusted with the public money just cause of immediate removal. He deems the severe observance of this rule to be essential to the public service, as every dollar lost to the Treasury by unfaithfulness in office creates a necessity for a new charge upon the People.

I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant, DANIEL WEBSTER.

[Similar letters have been addressed to other heads of Departments.]—Nat. Int.

QUERY. We cut from the St. Louis Gazette of the 11th inst., the following paragraph, which appeared in a notice of the Mineral Point Bank, a concern now in trouble: "We understand that Mr. Jones, the President of the Bank, who had been here for some weeks previous to the slurry, has gone back to Wisconsin. Mr. Knapp, the Cashier, has however been most frequently named to us as the most responsible man in the concern; and if what we hear is true, he must give the public an account of his stewardship."

Is the president of the Baltimore Savings Institution the man? If so the bank is inappropriately named. There is too much mineral about it.

CAUTION TO PARENTS. Never open letters addressed to your children; unless you have reason to suspect that they contain something improper. This practice is not only hurtful to the proper pride which should always be encouraged in young people, but it teaches them dishonorable habits; how can children respect the sacredness of a sealed letter, when they see it violated by their own parents. Mærish

Very good advice in all cases with a few exceptions. The river at Cincinnati, we learn, is in excellent navigable order, though business is rather dull for the season.
