WASHINGTON, March 29, 1841. The lore of the sciences and of learned associations which are already characteristic of our happy country, methinks will not be without effect upon the literary world...

The National Institution for the Promotion of Science was lectured before at the Unitarian Church in this city, on the 22d inst., by a gentleman of your city. The subject he descended on, was "Society;" he traced this to its origin...

The lecturer spoke of the fictitious lines drawn in society as it at present exists, between what are called working classes and professional, and said that working was not an epithet to be applied to any class in contradistinction to professional men...

As offering encouragement to the lowly, he cited the case of a Worcester, Mass., blacksmith, who had, by devoting eight hours of the day to study, acquired the mastery of fifty languages...

The Hon. J. Q. Adams delivered a lecture before a crowded audience at Parson Laurie's Church, on Wednesday evening last, on the Christian Faith. The learned and justly panegyrized lecturer said, that he was aware of the unpopularity of this subject, as it would not be of literary cast enough to suit the minds of some...

The weather has been very fine for the last week. Pleasing anticipations are enjoyed here as to the extra session of Congress, at least by our merchants and boarding house keepers.

From the National Intelligencer. APPOINTMENTS BY THE PRESIDENT. JOHN HOZAN, Register of the Land Office at Dixon, Illinois, vice Samuel Hackleton, removed.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, March 27, 1841. To M. St. Clair Clarke, William S. Murphy, and Hudson M. Garland, Esqs.

es you to direct your attention to the following points: 1. What is the number of persons employed on the public buildings now in progress in the city, exclusive of laborers? This is the more necessary as many of these persons hold offices not created by specific provisions of law.

2. What is the respective duty of each of these persons? 3. What prices are paid to them for their services; and whether, in any case, the compensation is unreasonably large?

4. Whether there has been, or is, any just ground of complaint against those persons, or any of them, either in regard to their own diligence and skill, or in regard to their treatment of laborers employed by them?

If you have any reason to suppose that any one has been guilty of misconduct, you will state the charge to him, and give him an opportunity to answer it; and will report no evidence of which the party shall not have had notice.

WINTER ARRANGEMENT. GREAT SOUTHERN UNITED STATES MAIL LINE, DAILY TO THE SOUTH. The ONLY LINE carrying the GREAT MAIL, and the ONLY DAILY LINE.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 4 P.M., they proceed, via Washington, Frederickburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C., to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching there on the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and one day in advance of the Bay Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

As this Line carries the Great Mail, (which cannot be delayed,) and is almost entirely a Rail-Road Line, it will be perceived at once, that the Traveller, unless in some extraordinary contingency, is sure of a connection throughout, whilst it is evident that Foul! Rotten WEATHER!! and Broams!!! most often occasion delay in a Route, more than two-thirds of which is by the Bay—the Traveller being also subjected to sea-sickness, and incurring unnecessary risk, from Boats being urged to the top of their speed, to compete with the more DIRECT ISLAND ROUTE.
