

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 29, 1841.

MONUMENT TO HARRISON. In a letter from James E. Harvey, of South Carolina, to the editors of the National Intelligencer, he says: "The Delegation of the State of South Carolina to the National Convention of Young Men held at Baltimore on the 4th of May last, have, by their Vice President, (Mr. E. Gamage,) desired me to suggest to the members of that body, through your columns, the propriety of erecting at Baltimore, Washington, or North Bend, a Monument to William Henry Harrison, late President of the United States."

There is one great error generally committed in such matters—men are too quick to undertake and too slow to execute. We should have no objection to have Monuments erected to all the Presidents, either by subscriptions or by Congress. It would not be necessary to construct them on the magnificent and expensive scale of the Monument to Washington in this city. Should the suggestion of the South Carolina Delegation be adopted, we would recommend that the Monument be placed adjacent to that of Washington; in which case we are sure that the subscription in Baltimore would be most liberal from the citizens generally.

BELVIDERE BRIDGE. Some correspondent has written a note complaining of the dangerous condition of said bridge—it being out of order, &c. We have not seen it for some time; but if our correspondent informs us correctly we would respectfully suggest that the bridge be repaired as speedily as possible. The propriety of so doing is self-evident.

A SWAG. An iron lamp-post has been broken off at the north-east corner of E. Baltimore and Excise streets, within some six or eight inches of the ground, which leaves a fine snag over which people may break their limbs. Root it up altogether. That done, pass to the south side of Baltimore street, and keep on east until you come to some planks placed over a run, where you find as pretty a trap for the legs of pedestrians of a dark night as heart can desire.

LATE COLLECTOR OF BALTIMORE. The Republican of yesterday morning contains a note from William Frick, Esq., late Collector of this port, denying the truth of a report published in the New York Herald, that he is a defaulter to government. Mr. Frick's note is the first intimation we have had of such a report being in circulation; and that there is no foundation for it every person in Baltimore would readily believe, without the contradiction now published.—We have never heard Mr. Frick spoken of otherwise than as a prompt and faithful officer, and an amiable citizen.

M. JEFFERS. It will be recollected that Mr. Jeffers was last fall indicted for an alleged attempt to introduce men from Philadelphia to vote at the Mayor's election in this city. His trial had been removed to Annapolis, and was expected to have taken place last week. We are informed that he appeared in Court, and stated through his counsel, that he was prepared for trial, and anxious that it should not be delayed. The witnesses for the prosecution being absent, with the exception of one, the State's Attorney caused the case to be postponed until the next term.

LADY'S BOOK FOR MAY. The proprietor shares no expense to make this work acceptable to the ladies; and the present number fully equals preceding ones in interest. "The Milliner's Apprentice; or, the False Teeth"—and "Love after Marriage," are excellent. These only we have had time to read attentively—but we have no doubt the succeeding articles are equally good, being from the pen of Miss Leslie, and other authors of merit. Agent for the Lady's Book, W. N. Harrison, 25 North Gay, and 74 Baltimore street.

By the latest New Orleans dates we learn that Gen. Hamilton has sold $7,000,000 of Texas Bonds in Paris. The conditions of the sale have not been made known, as some negotiations are yet pending between the Commissioner and the French Government—the only difficulty appearing to be that in case a certain object is effected the bonds are to be sold at a less discount than they will otherwise bring. There is no doubt the bonds have been sold.

THE NEXT STEAMER FOR ENGLAND. The Columbia, Capt. C. H. E. Jenkins, commander, will leave Boston on Saturday next for Liverpool. It is said that a large number of ladies and gentlemen have already secured state rooms, and that the Columbia will no doubt have her full complement of passengers. The next steamer from Liverpool will be the Britannia, Capt. Cleland, and will probably arrive at Boston on Wednesday, May 5.

ARREST. Mr. Mitchell, a member of the last Congress from the state of New York, (an account of whose forgeries we published some time since,) has been arrested in Canada, notwithstanding his boast that he would blow his brains out before he would be taken. He will no doubt be brought on to New York for trial.

VIRGINIA ELECTION. As each party claims to be triumphant in the recent elections in this State, we shall wait for full returns, when our readers will be made acquainted with the actual state of parties, without any guess-work.

REPORT OF THE DEATH OF GEN. JACKSON. The Mobile Journal of the 19th inst. states that a painful rumor has been current in the city during the day, of the death of the venerable Andrew Jackson. It comes from New Orleans, where it is also spoken of as a report brought down the river by a passenger, and as needing confirmation.

The Journal, it will be seen, gives but little credit to the report. Such a rumor was in this city on Monday last. It is to be hoped the venerable old hero is yet breathing the pure atmosphere that surrounds his hermitage. We have seen nothing in relation to the above report in any of the New Orleans papers. It is remarked in the Journal of the 21st that "the report of the death of Gen. Jackson, mentioned yesterday, is not confirmed."

We have also the Commercial Register of the 22d, in which no mention of the above rumor is made.

ANOTHER MURDER. From the Richmond Star we learn that a murder was committed at Dinwiddie Court House, on the day of the late election, upon the body of a Mr. Harman, formerly of Petersburg, by a person whose name is not mentioned. It appears that Harman was engaged in contest with an elderly man, and had him down upon the ground, when the man's son rushed up and stabbed him in ten or twelve places with a dirk knife, causing death very soon after. He then started to escape, but was seized by a gentleman, whom he threatened to kill if he approached; but a cold argument in the shape of a bowie knife being presented, he promptly surrendered. It is said that there was an old grudge between the parties. The murderer is safe in prison.

SLAVERS. The British brig Wasp, says the New York Sun, arrived at this port on Sunday, left at Sierra Leone, about fifty days ago, twelve prizes, slaves, belonging to different nations.—Left at Rio Nunez, 1st January, U. S. schooner Grampus, and U. S. brig Dolphin—came there to demand satisfaction from King Sara for some damages he had done to an American vessel.—The dispute was amicably settled. Capt. Ward, a passenger on board the ship Grotius, below at Boston, from Manila, and last from St. Helena, reports that seven vessels, slaves, had arrived at St. Helena, with 700 slaves, prizes to H. B. M. cruisers on the West coast of Africa. The last that arrived (March 2d) threw overboard sixty dead slaves in sight of St. Helena.

POLICE. Titus Pearce, charged with assaulting and threatening to kill Eliza Sanks, was committed to jail, for want of security to keep the peace, by squire Barnard.

Ann Baily, charged with rioting, fighting and disturbing the peace, released on giving security to keep the peace for six months.

Ellen Welsh was brought before squire Snyder, charged with assaulting and stabbing Elijah Ward. Released on giving security in the sum of one hundred dollars, to answer the charge at the City Court on Saturday next.

IT WAS TOO GOOD TO TALK ABOUT. The ladies are always engaged in a good cause. Yesterday some dear creature belonging to the Fair sent us a slice of pound cake, accompanied by a full glass of ice cream, which could only be equalled in chasteness and beauty by the smiles of the donor. Ladies, we thank you much, and will take cognizance of your good works, not forgetting to recommend your present laudable enterprise to public favor.

A fire occurred in New Orleans on the 19th inst., which consumed four houses, one a looking glass establishment, the other a boarding house, kept by Mrs. Lane, and two others on Old Levee street, one in the occupancy of Thomas Poole & Co. as a ware room, and the other by Messrs. Calvin & Dyer, as a wholesale boot store.

ATTEMPT TO SET FIRE. An attempt to fire the premises in the rear of Randolph & Co's store, Richmond, was made on the 25th inst.; but fortunately was discovered in time to prevent any serious result. The attempt was made by firing a bed in the kitchen.

CONCERT. The lovers of exquisite music are reminded that the Baltimore Harmonic Society will give its first concert at the Assembly Rooms to-night. We are convinced that the entertainments will be of the very highest musical order. The programme can be seen on reference to our advertising columns.

A FINANCIER ARRESTED. A man named Jas. Brown, from Akron, Ohio, was arrested in New York on Monday, by Mr. Smith, of that city, and Mr. Blaney, of Philadelphia, on some charge of forgery or financing. Particulars not given.

The New London Gazette advertises that there are in that city not less than three hundred unmarried ladies, between the ages of sixteen and thirty years, handsome, well educated, and accomplished.

What a distressed town it must be!

MORE HURTING ON THE FRONTIER. The Toronto Patriot of the 26th inst., says, on Saturday night last, the 10th inst., "the Gothic Cottage Inn," opposite Clifton House Hotel, at the Falls of Niagara, was burned by an incendiary.

FIRE. The alarm of fire yesterday morning, about 2 o'clock, was caused by the burning of a frame house, in Fayette-st., near Run alley.—The building with its contents were destroyed.

Dr. W. B. Duffield, one of the oldest and most respectable physicians in Philadelphia, died there on Saturday last.

James C. Churchill, Esq., was on the 20th, elected Mayor of the City of Portland, Me., by the Common Council.

CITY MORTALITY. In the city of New York last week there were 140 interments—in Philadelphia 132, and in Boston 46.

HOAX. Dealing in the marvellous is said to be the privilege of travellers; and so many have straddled themselves of it to exhibit their inventive talents, that such narratives are now generally received with some grains of allowance for exaggeration. It was probably to ridicule this propensity to the marvellous even in scientific men, that the following article was written—for we can hardly believe it possible that it was ever seriously published as the result of actual experience. Frozen flame is a capital idea, equalled only by the frozen music, which, after being congealed all winter, played delightfully in the thaw of the spring. And then, we have the sledge running away from the travellers by the force of attraction, and probably containing its slight about "the end of the world," to the present time. These were amusing incidents in the journey of the Russian traveller with the unpronounceable name. The next occurrence was of a more awful cast, as he and his companions found themselves so irresistibly forced towards the North Pole, that they were in danger of taking the leap into Symmet's hole, had they not fortunately encountered a negative current of magnetism which threw them back into a place of safety! We will venture to say, that these travellers will not be troubled with the rheumatism for a half century to come.

We give the article for the amusement of our readers, and hope, that, should any of them design to explore the regions about the North Pole, they will previously divest themselves of all metals, and carry their victuals ready cooked.

PHENOMENA AT THE NORTH POLE.

FROM A LATE ENGLISH PAPER.
A St. Petersburg periodical, Le Journal Scientifique et Littéraire, publishes a very extraordinary narrative of an expedition to the Arctic region, under the command of M. Nidjine Nitigou-wosenak. The narrative says:
"About the 8th degree of latitude yielded us one of the most curious discoveries that have enriched the physical sciences in latter times. It occurred thus: For some days we had made no fire for want of wood, when, in searching our box of provisions, I found some Lyons chestnuts which M. Arago had sent me as a souvenir. I took it into my head to roast them. We put together some shavings which we still had, and kindled them. A bright flame forthwith arose, and we were anticipating the sweet sensations it was about to yield us, when suddenly an incomprehensible phenomenon manifested itself. The flame, at first so bright and crackling, seemed struck with immobility, and was gradually covered with a solid crust—it was congealed.
"Our astonishment baffles description. (A scientific description of the ice thus produced then follows.) I broke a bit of it and put it into my mouth. Contrary to my expectation, the sensation which resulted was most agreeable; just like the little taste of barley sugar extremely refreshing, though accompanied by a light burnt smell. I am persuaded that when such ice shall be produced by artificial means, confectioners will turn it to great account.
"A little further on another phenomenon, not less remarkable, awaited us. We had for some time perceived an increased rapidity in the progress of our sledge, though we used our iron hook but little. The phenomenon was soon explained; one of us having dropped his hook, the moment he attempted to pick it up we saw it gradually remove from us, flee before us, and ultimately whiz as it split the dense atmosphere around us. Though already accustomed to the wonders which those mysterious regions had presented to us, as it were, at every step, we stood mute with astonishment, but were soon roused from our amazement; our sledge, which is almost wholly made of iron, seemed pushed on by a fatal, irresistible, and invincible power, such as that which draws a light boat towards a cataract; we tried to stop it, but could not succeed, and were compelled to leave it to the mercy of Heaven.
"The magnetic power of the pole produced its effect, and, after a few hours of that fantastic progress, we were enabled to perceive, by the light of an aurora borealis, the sombre and mysterious extremity of our globe. It consisted of enormous mountains, probably of pure loadstone, divided into huge strata of various colors, green or blue. One would have fancied the back of a gigantic zebra was rising before us. Alas! unless Providence vouchsafed us unhop'd-for assistance, we must soon be dashed to pieces against it. Impelled by the proud demon of science, we had tempted Heaven, and already did we feel its hand suspended over our heads ready to crush us. "Nevertheless, thus isolated in that vast frozen solitude, and fatally dragged to destruction, we were calm and resigned, so great is the power of the grand mystic force of Nature over man! Some tears only flowed in silence, and I heard beloved names uttered, when suddenly, a sort of barrier of icebergs, heaped over one another, made us deviate from our course, and at the same moment, and in a few seconds, a force as powerful as that which had made us before devour space in front of us made us roughly recede.— We had just fallen into a negative magnetic current. We were saved, and saved carrying away with us the most awful secret of Nature. It was enough to run mad with joy. We raised our hands to Heaven."

NOMINATIONS. James W. Williams, Esq., of Harford county, has been nominated by the Democratic convention, a candidate for Congress from the third district.

Augustus R. Sollers, Esq., of Calvert county, has been nominated by the Whig convention, a candidate for the seventh Congressional district.

BAPTIST CONVENTION. The Convention of the Baptist Ministers commenced its session yesterday morning, in this city, in the Baptist Church, corner of Lombard and Sharp streets. A large number of delegates from different parts of the Union are in attendance.

THE CATHOLICAL FAIR. We invite attention to the fair which is now being held by the ladies of the Catholic Church, at the Assembly Rooms. Their tables are magnificently spread with various beautiful and useful articles.

We are much pleased with the poetical production of "A Skisson," which will be found in another column of to-day's paper. We shall be pleased to hear from him again.

The property of the Northampton (Mass.) Silk Company, in Northampton, was disposed of at auction on the 1st of April, for $22,250.

Orders have been received at New York to put the harbor of that city in proper posture of defence.

MORE OF THE APPALLING MURDER AND INCEST-MARKS AT ST. LOUIS. An extra slip from the Evening Gazette, dated April 18th, 12 o'clock, brings additional particulars relative to the late revolting murder in that city, of which we had a notice yesterday. The extra says:

Nor yet is our record of the destruction of life complete! After the fire had been subdued, a portion of the wall, fronting on Pine street, fell to the ground, and crushed to death an Engineer of the Union Fire Company, Mr. Ambrose Kimball.

Mr. Kimball has left a wife and several young children in narrow circumstances. Baker and Weaver were reputed to be quiet young men, and are highly spoken of. There is much conjecture as to the purpose of the foul incendiary assassins, how they entered the premises, attained their object, &c. Prompt and immediate action was taken by the Mayor and City Council for the purpose of detecting the blood-stained murderers. A reward of $5,000 has been offered for their detection by the corporate authorities of the city, besides other considerable sums by various citizens.

We would advise the police in every city throughout the Union to be on the look-out. Indeed there is a probability that the murderers may have made their way already as far as Baltimore.

SUGAR IN TEXAS. By late Texas papers we learn that the planters on the Colorado are turning their attention more and more to the cultivation of sugar. A sufficient quantity was raised last year in the neighborhood of the Egypt Settlement to supply that populous neighborhood.

She is a general house servant, cooks, washes, and iron—the latter with her left hand. She has a good temper, and I have reason to believe she has some or will go into service in the city.
