

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.
FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 7, 1841.

Advertisers are respectfully informed that the lines in this paper are called one square, and in all cases where an advertisement exceeds a square, the charge will be five cents for each and every line over ten. We are compelled to adhere strictly to this regulation, as the space set apart for advertisements is entirely filled, making every line of the utmost importance to us. All advertisements are payable in advance. See terms of advertising on the first page of to-day's paper.

EXTRAORDINARY. A public meeting was called for Tuesday evening last, to deliberate on a subject deemed of vital interest to the citizens of Baltimore. The names of a number of the most respectable and responsible of our citizens were attached to the notice. The meeting was numerously attended, and an address was delivered replete with information of an important character, and yet not the slightest editorial allusion to the proceedings of the meeting is to be found in a majority of the daily papers of this city. This is extraordinary, particularly when we consider with what avidity trifling incidents are sought for as matters worthy of publication. It is true, that a favorable notice of the proceedings could hardly be expected from those migratory editors, who have a more direct interest in diverting the trade from Baltimore to Philadelphia—but we should suppose that courtesy to their subscribers would impel even them to state the fact of the meeting having taken place.

The editorial corps has been considered equal in liberality of feeling to any other denomination of men; and yet the neglect in the present case would seem to imply, that the silence as to the address delivered, arises from the circumstance that one of the editors of the American was the speaker. We hope that we are mistaken in the supposition, for we should be sorry to find that a feeling so unbecoming conductors of the public press, is entertained by a single editor of this city. It is the only instance, we believe, in which the like silence has prevailed in regard to the proceedings of a meeting called under the names of responsible gentlemen; and some curiosity exists to know the motive for it in this case.

MORE BANK FRAUDS. It seems as though the demon of swindling has been let loose in the banking institutions of the country. Scarcely a mail arrives that does not bring an account of some act of roguery in a bank; and what is worse, in almost every instance, the perpetrators of these acts escape being brought to justice. It cannot be denied that there is a considerable deterioration in the standard of morality, occasioned by the frequency of crime, and the impunity with which it is committed. We now read of bank robberies without emotion, they being considered pretty much as expected events; and their quick succession leaving no time for reflection on any particular offence. A bank fraud creates as little sensation as the rapid passage of a steam car.

The New Orleans papers furnish us with an account of the robbery of the Bank of Louisiana by two of the clerks, to an amount variously estimated at from $80,000 to $160,000. It seems that the receiving teller pocketed deposits as they were made, to the amount of $80,000, when he and his companion in roguery decamped—and this will probably be the last we shall hear of them. But it is apprehended, that other banks in New Orleans have also suffered from roguish officers. One of the papers says: "A deep game has been playing for a long time among some of the banks down town, and we hear that efforts are making to smother another flagrant breach of trust somewhere—we know not exactly. The whole age is rotten and corrupt with crime; virtue is discarded; honor bereft of charm; character a play; morality a farce, and poverty a crime! We hope that investigation will be put on foot in every bank in this city.—The innocent owe it to themselves, and the guilty owe it to the public. Let us have an exposition from the State Bank and the Bank of Louisiana. Give the public the amounts of the over-drafts, and the names of all scoundrels. Let us know if possible who in the city is honest, if we wish to remain a decent community."

It appears to us that there should be frequent, perhaps daily, examinations in Banks, to detect these monstrous frauds. There is something radically wrong in the present mode of conducting banking business, which must be corrected before public confidence can be restored. Bank affairs are now kept too much in the dark. Even the directors are not admitted into the secrets of the system, under the plea that private accounts are not to be examined. We cannot see any just reason for this course. The directors of a bank are the trustees of other persons' property, and are entitled to know every thing in regard to the disposition of it. They are morally responsible that it shall not be misapplied, and cannot, with propriety or justice, devolve their responsibility upon others. We therefore think, that they should inspect every transaction, by committee or otherwise, and be particular in examining the assets of the bank, so that detection might follow close upon acts of misdemeanor.

It was expected that a motion would be made in the New York Supreme Court, in favor of McLeod, in the course of yesterday.

REVENUE BILL. After this bill had been passed by the legislature of Pennsylvania; vetoed by the governor; passed again in the Senate by a constitutional majority; rejected in the house; reconsidered and again rejected—it was finally, on the afternoon of the 4th instant, reconsidered, and passed in the House, by a majority of two thirds, the vote being ayes 62, noes 28; so that the bill has become a law notwithstanding the governor's veto. Many of the previous votes had been strictly partizan, but on the final trial thirteen of the Van Buren members voted in the affirmative; four of the same party were absent, and two are accused of having dodged the question.

The Philadelphia Spirit of the Times, in publishing the account of the passage of this bill, uses the severest terms of denunciation against the members of his party who supported it, and the paper appears clothed in mourning. The editor says that the state should be henceforth called Bankruptcyland, as the people "have no longer any laws but such as the banks choose to prepare for their obedience." He publishes, surrounded by black lines, the names of those of his party who supported the bill on its final passage, (though they had previously voted against it,) and designates them "traitors to the people." He intimates, in very plain terms, that they have been bribed by the banks.

Now all this is wrong. The members may have been honestly convinced that strict adherence to party discipline, would be highly injurious to the interests of the people; and if so, they were bound as honorable men, to sacrifice their party feelings for the public good. We should despise a man who, "knowing the right, would yet the wrong pursue;" and are not willing to denounce every one as a traitor and a scoundrel who has the independence to throw off the shackles of party.

After the passage of the revenue bill, some other business was transacted, among which was a bill authorizing the governor, in order to prevent the possibility of a failure to meet the interest on the loan falling due in August, to call on the banks, under their charter, for the necessary sum, in case the other means should fail. This bill was passed by both houses and sent to the governor. At 11 o'clock, P. M. the legislature adjourned sine die.

THE CATHEDRAL FAIR. We again invite attention to the Ladies' Fair yet in progress at the Assembly Rooms. It will continue, we are informed, during to-day and to-morrow, when it will be finally closed by selling such articles as may have been left on hand at public auction.—The object which the ladies have in view is certainly highly commendable, and calls loudly upon their friends, especially those of the Catholic persuasion, for liberal support. The improvements contemplated from the proceeds of the present Fair, will most assuredly add much to the beauty of our city. This should be an inducement for persons to act in concert with our fair friends. Every thing calculated to please may be found upon the richly-spread tables.

Eyes too are there of raven hue,
Of hazel and of gray,
Then blue ones clear as morning dew,
And laughing as the spray:
Checks blushed with a crimson glow,
And forms of fairy mould,
All chaste and pure as Alpine snow,
More winning far than gold.

Those identical dark rolling orbs which have heretofore been the subject of inquiry, do most certainly verify the language of Byron, in that there is nothing so charming as the "light of a dark eye in woman."

FIRE AND SERIOUS ACCIDENTS. A postscript in the Charleston Transcript, dated 3d inst. says: A fire broke out this morning between 12 and 1 o'clock, on Magwood's South wharf, in a three story brick Warehouse, containing between 800 and 1000 bales Cotton, the greater part of which together with the warehouse, was destroyed by the flames. The warehouse was not insured, the greater part of the Cotton was covered by insurance.

We are sorry to state that Mr. Peter Roulain, attached to the Company of Charleston Fire Axemen fell, it is supposed, through the scuttle hole on the roof of the adjoining building and cut his head severely. P. S. We are also pained to learn that Messrs. A. Decamp and C. Denay, attached to the Aetna Fire Engine Company, were severely hurt by the falling of the wall. The former seriously injured.

FIRE. The extensive stable and cow-house belonging to the Green Mount Cemetery, together with a valuable horse owned by the Company, were consumed by fire yesterday morning.—The fire was discovered between half-past three and four o'clock, and had then made considerable progress. It was evidently the work of an incendiary, for the superintendent informs us that a light is never carried into or near the stable, and that on the previous night, between 9 and 10 o'clock, as he is in the habit of doing, walked around the different buildings, and found every thing secure. It is to be hoped the author of this act may be found and punished as he deserves; for base indeed must be his heart, who would for any cause desecrate this spot consecrated for the sacred repose of the dead.

MURDER. An Indian by the name of Rufus Thompson, living on the Cattaraugus Reservation, murdered his wife a few days since in a most barbarous manner, literally cutting her into many pieces with an axe. The wretch has not been arrested.

MR. LUCCHESI'S CONCERT. We invite attention to the Grand Benefit Concert which is to be given by Mr. Lucchesi, at the Assembly Rooms, to-night. It is to be hoped he will have a full attendance.

BALTIMORE—PENNSYLVANIA—AND THE WEST.

At a numerous and respectable meeting of the citizens of Baltimore, convened agreeable to public invitation on Tuesday evening, the 4th inst., at the Assembly Rooms, HUGH BIRCKHEAD, Esq. was called to the chair, and JAMES J. S. DONNELL appointed Secretary. An Address, on the subject of the "Resources of Pennsylvania and the West, and the Relations of Trade which Baltimore now occupies in reference to them," was delivered by WILLIAM BOSE, Esq. At its conclusion the following Resolutions were offered by him, and adopted by the meeting:

WHEREAS, it appears that a line of Tow Boats has been completely organized for the purpose of towing Canal Boats between the basin of the Tide Water Canal at Havre de Grace and the City of Philadelphia, without transhipment of cargo; and whereas it is manifest that without similar facilities are provided by the citizens of Baltimore, the trade of the Susquehanna Valley and the great West may to a greater or less extent be diverted from this city—be it therefore Resolved, By the merchants, traders, manufacturers, mechanics and property holders of Baltimore, in general meeting now assembled, that it is incumbent on them forthwith to adopt such measures as will secure the facilities of a systematic, certain and frequent steam towage of Canal Boats between Havre de Grace and Baltimore during the season of navigation.

Resolved, That the Chairman of this meeting appoint a committee to obtain subscriptions to the fund which is indispensable to carry out this object.

Resolved, That Thomas Wilson, Alex. L. Hogg, Hugh Birckhead John Gibson, Jos. C. Wilson, and Wm. G. Harrison be an Executive Committee, with power to take the steps which may be deemed necessary to give full effect to the measure contemplated in the first resolution, including the employment of a suitable steambot, the regulation of the rates of charge for towing, and all matters connected therewith; and that the subscriptions collected by the Committee under the second resolution be placed at the disposal of said Executive Committee; and that at the close of the season of navigation they present a statement of their proceedings to the contributors to the fund, and divide among the said contributors, in proportion to the amount of their several subscriptions, the sum which may remain in the hands of the said Executive Committee.

The meeting then adjourned.
HUGH BIRCKHEAD, Chairman.
Jas. J. S. DONNELL, Secretary.

In conformity with the second resolution, the Chairman has appointed the following gentlemen as the Collecting Committee: John Herr, Wm. C. Shaw, Enoch Pratt, Thos. M. Locke, Robert Howard, James Norris, James L. D. Gill, Lot Ensey.

The gentlemen appointed on the above Committee, as also those on the Executive Committee, are requested to attend a meeting THIS AFTERNOON, 7th instant, at five o'clock, in the office of the Baltimore Insurance Company.

THE KNICKERBOCKER for the present month has been handed us by Mr. N. Hickman. We have perused with much interest, and would especially commend the present number to all who are fond of literature. Upon our table is also Graham's Lady's and Gentleman's Magazine, presented us by Mr. W. N. Harrison, No. 23 N. Gay street. This work is likewise highly meritorious. It contains a beautiful steel engraving, a plate of the latest fashions, besides a variety of choice original tales and poetry. We shall make some extracts from it as soon as practicable.

BARNABY RUDGE, No. 5, by Boz. Having received the whole of the preceding numbers, together with the present, from Messrs. Knight & Colburn, 174 Baltimore street, we could now speak to the merits of the work, if it were necessary to say any thing in favor of the writings of Boz. But he is the favorite author of the day, and of course Barnaby Rudge, notwithstanding his uncouth name, will have abundance of male readers, and be sure to find favor with the ladies. We purpose to attend him to his journey's end, now that we are enabled to ascertain his starting place.

CITY TEMPERANCE. The New York Sun says: This cause, in our city, we are gratified to learn, was never more successful than at present. Drunkards are reforming by hundreds, and moderate drinkers, so called, by thousands. There appears never to have been a period since public attention was turned to reform, in which so much could be achieved by the same amount of exertion.

A FORGER ARRESTED. A man has been arrested in Chicago, in whose possession was found some $5000 in forged certificates of deposit, chiefly on the Bank of Syracuse. They were dated Feb. 26, '41, and in sums of $100, $300, and $500 each. In his possession were similar drafts on the Banks of Mississippi and Wisconsin, forming altogether an abundant and various invoice, "suitable to the wants of Western customers."

POLICE. Rigby Downs was yesterday brought before Justice King, charged with dangerously assaulting and beating Samuel Mitchell with an iron shovel. Committed for want of security to answer the charge at the City Court on Saturday. Samuel Marshall, a lunatic, who was found strolling in the streets destitute and without any home or means of support, was yesterday committed to the almshouse.

CLERGYMEN IN THE FIELD TO-DAY. The Abolitionists of the 5th Congress district in Massachusetts, have nominated Cyrus P. Grosvenor, a Baptist clergyman of Worcester, as a candidate for Congress, in opposition to Charles Hudson, a Universalist preacher.
