ELLER, No. 62 S. CALVERT STREET, keeps tery. The first point was whether the Town Hall commissioners have the power to sell tickets without license. The act invests in them the power to raise the sum of $150,000} by disposing of schemes or tickets, and provides no compensation for them as commissioners, and the court cannot conceive that the Legislature meant these gentlemen should ad. vance their own money to pay for a license; besides the 1st section of the act granting this lottery declares it shall be done free from all taxes whatever. The court held that the license laid on venders of lottery tickets is done, with all other taxes on lotteries, for the purpose of revenue, and is therefore a tax on their business or profession; that being for the sole purpose of revenue, it is totally different from a license imposed for a police restriction, and the court are decidedly of the opinion that the words of the act "without being subject to any tax whatsoever" comprehends this tax also. be no doubt, for the very law creating the lisense calls it such.
