The Moniteur announces that on 5th of May, the anniversary of the death of Napoleon, a grand funeral service would be celebrated in his henor l in the church of the Invalides.

The "Moniteur Parisien" announces that M Caillie, Marshal Soult's aid-de-camp, had arrived in Paris from Algiers, bringing most important despatches from Gen. Bugeaud to the Mini-ter of War.

The Constitutionnel quotes a letter from Mostaganem of the 6th inst. stating that the cavalry of Abd-el-Kader, which had united in the valleys of the Sig and Habrah, for the purpose of covering Tekedempt, had suddenly marched for Medea or Miliana, under the command of Mustapha Ben Thami. The regular infantry of the Emir, consisting of six battalions, each about 900 strong, had also left its cantonments, with orders to form a junction with the cavalry on the for sale, at all times, Watches, Jewelry, Pancy Articles, single copies 10 cents. frontiers of Algiers and Tittery, with a view, Spectacles, &c. &c. no doubt, of opposing the advance of General Bugeand upon this last province.

The infantry was well armed, drilled, and brave, and was commanded by two chiefs, one of whom was a Frenchman, named Rene, former sergeant of the Coast Guards, and the other an Arab, of the tribe of Hachiens Greris. The French were making preparations at Mostaganem, for the approaching campaign. Gen. Changarnier was to head the expeditionary column, which was to march from that place, and to combine his operations with those of General Lamoriciere, who was to advance from Oran with a

MASSACRE OF BRITISH SEAMEN. Saturday intelligence of a mournful nature reached London, by which many families in the eastern district of the metropolis will have to lament the loss of relatives and friends. The pilot Southseaman, a large ship belonging to Thomas Ward, Esq. which left the London Docks six months ago on a whaling voyage, was attacked by Mulay pirates in the Straits of Timor, who surrounded the vessel in their prows. The ship was gallanty defended by her captain and crew, but they were overpowered by superior numbers, and the savages boarded the ship, plundered it of all the provisions, and killed and wounded a majority of the Crew. The captain, the first and second | qualities in the market, which he will sell cheaper than mates, and twenty-five seamen fell victims to the | they can be had at any other store in the city. Also, barbarity of the Malays; the third mate, the surgeon, and eight seamen escaped, and afterwards navigated the ship to Singapore. These are the only particulars that transpired relating to this disastrous event. The pilot had only three tuns | Blinds; Tufted and Brussels Rugs; Stair Linen; Piano of oil in her when she was attacked.

The Malays are a savage and treacherous race, and a terror to mariners navigating the Straits of Timor. A few years ago Captain Aaron Smith, of the Mary Ann, inflicted a signal chastisement upon them. They attacked his ship, and he detexted them, with the loss of three hundred men, and twenty prows, which he sunk .-- [Globe.]

The excitement and anxiety in London was very great. It is the opinion of some that she has become disabled and is yet floating upon the oceau.—This slender chance is thought by many so important as to lead to the expression of a wish that a steam vessel might be expressly engaged to go in search of the President, since, if next door to the Patriotoffice, where he is manufactur | patroxize him. driven out of the course usually sailed between ing a STOCK of superior quality.
