Dark is the night! How dark! No light! No fire! Cold on the hearth the last faint sparks expire! Shivering the watches by the eradle side, For him who pledged her love! Last year a Bride. Hark! 'Tis his footsteps! No! 'tis gone! Tic! Tie! How wearily the time rolls on! | Why should he leave me thus? He once was kind: And I believed 'twould lact! How mad! how blind! Rest thee, my babe! rest on!—'tis hunger's cry! Sleep! for there is no food!—the fount is dry! Famine and co'd their wearying work have done!

My heart must break!—and thou, my child—hush?

The clock strikes one!-&c. This song is designed to represent the feelings of young wife and mother, under circumstances sufficiently common to warrant the assertion that it is founded on fact, without exaggeration. It represent the Gambler's Wife and Child, deserted by their natu ral protector, in the extreme of soverty and starvation for the PLEASURE of play. The fire expires—the energies of life sink from want of food, and the mother vainly strives to hope in the midst of despair, appealing to the past with the memory of the bride, while vainly endeavoring to sooth her child with the energy of a mother's love, until the infant dies in her arms, and her heart is broken. The current of her feelings is interrupted only by the peal of the clock, and at the third hour the scene closes; while Time strides onward in its monotonous march, regardless as the world
