LINES-(TO MISS M. E. G.) "THINK OF ME." O think of me in joyous hours, When in the festive hall you meet; And when in beauty's blushing bowers, Fair Fancy's lovely form you greet; And when 'mid mirth and music met, You listen to my minstreley; Oh! lady, do not then forget; But think—oh! think of me! And when thy dark and dazzling eye Shall be bedimm'd with sorrow's tears; Whemdarkness rests upon the sky, And hope has fled from future years; When friendship sighs within thy breast, And thou sha!! taste of misery; When thy fond heart is all unbles!, Oh! think, then think of me! And think of me, when fairy May Shall scatter flowers upon the hills; When thy gay form shall musing stray 'Mid blooming bowers, and riphing tills; And when dread winter roots around, And storms shall weep along the lea; When leaves are scattered o'er the ground, Oh! then, I'll think of thee, WASHINGTON.
