

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 12, 1841.

THE OCEAN for this week, containing all the choice matter of the daily, latest intelligence from every quarter, tales, poetry, editorials, &c. can be had at the counter this morning, or any time during next week, done up in wrappers, or otherwise. Price 6¢ cts. per single copy; $1.50 in advance per annum.

FOREIGN NEWS. Under our steamship head on the first page will be found interesting intelligence brought by the Great Western, eight days later from England, received by last night's cars in advance of the mail.

ABOLITION PETITIONS. The motion made by Mr. Ingersoll, of Pa., to reconsider the vote by which the House agreed to receive abolition petitions, was rejected on Thursday last, by a vote of 110 for and 116 against it. We are glad of this result, for we think that it will have a tranquillizing effect. We should be content to adopt the suggestion of some members of the House, and refer these petitions to a committee composed entirely of Northern members, with Mr. Adams at their head; for we cannot, for a moment, entertain the idea, that intelligent men from the North have a desire to interfere with the institutions of the South—and a report from such a committee, adverse to the fanatical and disorganizing doctrines of the abolitionists, would probably abate their zeal in a fruitless cause, and prevent further impertinence. Mr. Adams is known to be hostile to the proceedings of the abolitionists, but a stern advocate of the right of petition. The House having consented to receive the petitions, we have no doubt that, if referred to a committee of which he was chairman, he would make a report, which, whilst it would vindicate the rights of the South, would silence those who dare to interfere with those rights.

It is high time that this subject should be put at rest—the further agitation of it will only produce exasperation. The door is now open to the abolitionists; and we hope that their thousand and one petitions may be forthwith thrust in—not that we would have the time of Congress occupied with them at the present session. But let them be referred to a select committee for report at the next session. The report cannot be otherwise than adverse; and this report should suffice for all time to come. Hereafter should the petitioners renew their importunity, their petitions be quietly referred to a standing committee, and be permitted to "sleep the sleep of death." If pursued, we think would be productive of the happiest consequences.

FIRE COMPANIES. It is painful to have so frequently to record disturbances at, or subsequent to, fires. At the fire which occurred on Thursday night last, we are informed, a brick-bat was thrown by some unknown person, which struck a member of the Independent Fire Company on the head and severely injured him. On returning from the fire the same company was assailed at the corner of Eutaw and Saratoga streets by a large assemblage of rioters, who attacked with brick-bats and stones, but retreated on the discharge of a few pistols from the company. Again at the corner of Howard street, the attack was renewed, and again the assailants were repelled by pistol shots. The aggressors wore no badges.

This is a sad condition of things, and demands the interference of the proper authorities. If firemen are to be thus assaulted when in the discharge of an important duty, it may easily be foreseen that they will either not turn out on occasions of fire, or that there will be bloodshed for the firemen will protect themselves. We have heard, what we can hardly credit, that the watchmen are directed not to interfere with firemen's quarrels. We should suppose it to be the duty of every department of the police to interfere in all violations of peace and order, whenever they occur, without respect to who may be the aggressors.

Should the prevailing riotous disposition continue, it will become necessary to have severe legislative enactments passed, so as to inflict proper punishment on those who may assault fire companies when on duty.

GOVERNOR'S ELECTION. The Whig and opposition candidates are both bachelors, and both of an age when they should think of the holy state of matrimony: we hope, therefore, that the ladies will insist upon their providing themselves with a partner each, so that the government house may have its appropriate ornament. As they are likely to have work enough on hand, in electioneering, during the summer months, it is possible that the ladies whom they may select will be content with the promise now, and the fulfillment hereafter. But, before either presume to assume the title of governor, he must enter into engagements to give some little responsibilities for good behaviour during his three years' service. So say the girls.

FANNY ESSLER. The New York correspondent of the National Intelligencer announces the engagement of this charming actress at the Park Theatre—and adds, "She bids fair to be a great lion for a time." We presumed her to be a lioness, from the fact of her having a young lion some 18 or 20 years of age. So long as people have more money than brains, she and her cub need not apprehend the want of abundance of provender.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

GRATUITOUS INFORMATION. Our readers were apprized yesterday morning, of the occurrence of a destructive fire on the preceding night; and we did suppose that the noise made by the ringing of bells and the passage of engines, would have aroused the soundest sleepers; but it appears that the proprietors and agents of the Organ, who are so vigilant in seizing other people's letters, and in throwing aside the extras of other folk, were undisturbed in their nap—we therefore state, for the information of the readers of that print, that the Tannery of Messrs. Wm. & Thomas Johnson, at the western extremity of Saratoga street, together with a quantity of bark, were destroyed by fire on the night of Thursday last. We give this information gratuitously, as the sleepy-heads of the Organ may not yet have awakened.

THE FIRE which took place about 2 o'clock yesterday morning as the firemen were returning from the tannery of Messrs. Johnsons, proceeded from the burning of a hotel in West Pratt street, between Sharp and Howard, known as the Baltimore House, previously in the occupancy of Mrs. Maddox, who fortunately vacated it only on the day previous. The building was nearly destroyed. The property belonged to Mr. Isaiah Mankin, who had insured to a sufficient amount, we believe, to cover his loss.

FIRE AND INCENDIARISM. Last night a little after nine o'clock, a small frame stable belonging to Gen. Leakin, situated on South High street, was destroyed by fire. The engine companies were promptly on the spot, but not in time to arrest the flames, as hay had been put in the stable a few days since. It was unquestionably intentionally set on fire.

A NEW NOTION. We have received from the agents, a very neat silk handkerchief, on which is impressed in fast colors an excellent map of the United States, drawn from the latest surveys.—This odd but still useful notion is the offspring of Yankee ingenuity, being from the Tremont Printing Company, Boston. With such a contrivance a man may realize the story of the enchanted carpet in the Arabian nights; for, wherever he may be, he has only to slip out one of these "new inventions," and straightway he can run his nose, in the twinkling of an eye, into any State of the Union he chooses. For "go-ahead" people, this will prove a most useful and suitable article.

ASSAULTS. Gottlieb Summer, charged with an assault and battery upon Dorothea Greener, an elderly woman, was taken before Squire Snyder, and bound over to appear at the present term of the City Court. The same person was also bound over to appear at the present term of the court to answer to a charge of assaulting Elizabeth Steinback, a girl of twelve years of age.

RICHARD DARVIGE, colored, charged with assaulting and beating Charles Ranger, was committed to jail by D. H. McDonald, Esq.

VAGRANT. Margaret Burns was committed to the alms-house by Squire Barnard, as a vagrant.

WAVELEY NOVELS. From Mr. N. Hickman, Agent, we have received the first number of a new and cheap edition of these celebrated novels. The whole will be comprised in 25 numbers, and be furnished for $5. The reputation of these novels is so generally known and established, that we think it superfluous to do more than recommend this edition to public patronage. The number before us is legibly and neatly printed, though in type rather small for the eyes of elderly persons. It contains the whole of Haverly, the first of the series. Every library should contain the whole productions of Sir Walter Scott, with the exception of "Castle Dangerous" and "Count Robert of Paris," which exhibit the last glimmerings of his once brilliant mind—and prove that "Too long the veteran linger'd on the stage."

The edition now in progress is the cheapest, we believe, that has ever been published; and can be bound in volumes of convenient size, to suit the taste of the owner. The volumes of some editions are unwieldy.

ODD FELLOWS. A funeral procession of the Washington Lodge of Odd Fellows passed our office yesterday afternoon, conveying to the tomb the body of one of their brothers, Mr. George Webb. The solemn music and the measured steps were well calculated to awake serious emotions, and to send the imagination forward to that period when some friendly hand shall perform for us the kind services now discharged by the Odd Fellows for one of their late associates. But the scene awakened also other feelings.—There is something in these fraternal associations, which exalts human nature in our estimation.—In sorrow, sickness and want, the hand of benevolence is opened, and the ties of brotherhood recognized. Even in death the bond which united the deceased with his brethren is not dissolved. They gather around his corpse, and taking from the distressed family the painful necessity of making the funeral preparations, they never cease their assiduous attentions until the body is deposited in its mother earth. Nor does their friendship here cease if the family of the deceased be in distress; for they are taken under the special protection of the association, and the children are educated and raised to honor and usefulness. Such is the institution of Odd Fellows—such its benevolence and philanthropy.—And who is there who does not wish God speed to the association? If there be any, we are not among the number.

DRIFT-SUIT. We understand that Mr. J. R. Clark has commenced a suit in the District Court for libel against Messrs. Rea & Beardslee, the publisher of the Balletto, and Mr. T. R. Edson, engraver, of the firm of Rawdon, Wright, Hatch and Edson. The ground of the suit is an article which appeared in the Bulletin last August.

SUIT TO RECOVER THE VALUE OF AN ACCEPTED ORDER. This was a suit before Henry Saylor, Esq., to recover the value of an order to the amount of thirty-five dollars, accepted by the party upon whom it was drawn, in writing. The case is this: A drew an order in favor of B, upon C, for $45, payable in furniture, which order was accepted by C in writing. Subsequently upon a demand for payment, C refused to pay the demand; and this suit was then brought to recover the amount. Evidence was produced to show that at least a portion of the furniture had been made, but that the delivery of it was refused.

For the plaintiff it was contended that, although C, the party accepting the order might refuse to pay said order to the drawer, if he had just cause against the drawer, yet he had no right to refuse payment to the demand, unless he could prove that B had been guilty of fraud in inducing the acceptance of such order drawn in his favor that the very acceptance of it found him C, to pay it unless he could plead the limitation set upon it—that this was not pretended, and that the written acceptance therefore bound him to pay it, in spite of any subsequent understanding between him and the drawer. It was admitted upon the part of B that A had warned C not to ratify the contract or fulfill the order if he had not already done it; but this it was contended did not release C from the obligation of the acceptance.

For the defence it was contended that the original contract between A and B rendered it proper and just that B should go upon A for the recovery of the amount; and that C had a perfect right to refuse to perform the contract between him and A, in case he did not consider himself justifiable in paying the order, any time previous to the delivery of the property into the hands of the party in whose favor said order was drawn—and that the remedy of B in such case was to be found in A.

Those were about the amount, as we understand them, of the arguments advanced on each side. For the plaintiff, John C. Legrand, Esq.; for the defendant, Wm. P. Preston, Esq.

Judgment for plaintiff $45 and costs.

LIKE IS A BAD MARK. A black man was arrested and taken before Justice Pennington yesterday, at the instance of Benjamin Davis, of Petersburg, Va., who stated that he believed him to be a slave whom he had lost some three years since. It turned out upon examination of evidence that the negro arrested had been raised in the same neighborhood with the one who had been purchased by Davis, and that the likeness between them was so great that a gentleman stated on the part of the claimant, that he believed him to be the same person. The negro, however, produced his free papers, and, in compliance with the law upon the subject, brought the evidence of a respectable gentleman to prove his identity, and that he was the person named in the papers—upon the reception of which evidence he was, of course, discharged. The facilities which runaway negroes obtain in getting the papers of free negroes, and the many instances which are daily occurring of changing their names to suit the papers they obtain, render it necessary that every care should be taken to prevent their escape under such circumstances.

THE FIRE COMPANIES. We have alluded in another article, to the difficulties among the fire companies on Thursday night, on their return from the fire in Saratoga street. Many of our citizens are, perhaps, under the impression that these difficulties occur from a want of energetic action on the part of the United Fire Department of this city, who have the direction of the affairs of the different companies, but such we are assured is not the case. Some of the companies have been heavily fined and the expulsion of some of the members ordered, with a direction to the other companies not to receive them within a twelve-month after their expulsion. Much credit is due the Department for the determined course they have adopted in relation to these, so much to be lamented troubles among the firemen; and, should their salutary efforts to check disorder prove inefficient hereafter, the only remedy left will be for the Mayor of the City to exercise the powers vested in him by the ordinances of the Corporation, and close the doors of the Engine Houses to which the refractory members are attached.

CHARLES STREET SPRING. The City Spring at the corner of Charles and Camden streets is a cool and delightful retreat for the citizens of that vicinity, after they have got through the heat and fatigues of the day, in the present season, and would doubtless prove very inviting to them could they visit it with any hope of seeing its beauties or move along its shady walks without breaking their shins over the raised border of bricks which bounds the green plots. Can our city authorities do nothing to render it more attractive, or to do away with the evil complained of. We do not pretend to judge; but it seems to us that a lamp or two were placed about the enclosure, there would be more light thrown upon the subject; and the people of that vicinity would be better enabled to appreciate the beauties of the retreat provided for them, we believe, by the city.

FAER. A countryman went into a store up town the other day and inquired if they sold any "hypercrites?" The lady in attendance told him she did not know what he meant, and asked him if he saw what he wanted. "Them's the very things there," cried he, pointing to some chains for boys; "them's the hypercrite."

WE are pleased to learn, that Bishop Whittingham, of the Episcopal Church, has recovered from the infirmity with which he has been afflicted for some weeks.

J. M. Stewart, of Montgomery county, Md. has been appointed an additional commissioner to investigate the state of the New York Custom House. He is now in that city.

(Correspondence of the Baltimore Clipper.) WASHINGTON, June 11, 1841.

Last evening after the cars left, Mr. Marshall (of Kentucky) followed Mr. Ingersoll against the rescinding of the 21st rule, and in favor of the motion to reconsider the vote by which it had been rescinded. Mr. M. is a relation of the late Judge Marshall, and is a man of the brightest talents. His speech was listened to with the most profound attention. The question was then taken on the motion to reconsider, and it was lost—yeas 110, nays 116.

Mr. Wise then called up the motion of Mr. Foran to reconsider the vote by which the resolution in relation to the appointment of a committee on the rules, with Mr. Adams' amendment thereto, had been agreed to.

The resolution having been read, Mr. Wise consented to defer his speech until this morning, after which the House adjourned.

This morning Mr. Hunt gave notice that he would, at the earliest opportunity, bring in a bill authorizing the payment of the fourth instalment of the surplus revenue to the States.

Mr. Wise then took the floor on the motion to reconsider the vote by which the resolution in relation to the rules had been agreed to, but after speaking an hour, he fainted and was carried out of the House.

By general consent, as a matter of courtesy, the further consideration of the subject was postponed until to-morrow.

The House then proceeded to the election of a printer, whose compensation is to be at the rate of 20 per cent. less than the prices fixed by the joint resolution of 1819. On the first ballot, Messrs. Gales & Seaton were elected. The House then adjourned.

In the Senate, after a tedious debate relating to the removal of General Arbutnot, the consideration of the motion to refer that part of the President's message relating to foreign affairs, was resumed. Mr. Choate defended the letter of Mr. Webster to the British Minister in the McLeod case, and replied to the strictures of Mr. Buchanan on that subject.

MESSES. EDITORS: We shall soon receive the annual visit of our National Birthday—that day which is so dear to every American citizen—the remembrance of which is so ardently cherished by every true patriot. Its commemoration should not be neglected, but on the contrary should be celebrated in a manner worthy of the day, and that too with a spirit characteristic of the sons of the stars of 76. Therefore, in order that this coming anniversary may not pass unobserved, it is proposed that early meetings be called to make arrangements for a military and civic procession, to take place on Monday the 5th July.

SENTENCE OF BRADDEE. The court, on Monday, overruled the motion for a new trial, and sentenced the prisoner to ten years imprisonment on the first count of the indictment. Some doubt was felt as to the power to sentence upon the other two counts, upon which he was found guilty, and that question was held over for consideration.

News from Florida, dated at St. Augustine, states that Wild Cat had been in Fort Prince—and had invited the officers to a dance at his camp. He had twenty-one warriors with him, and says he is not going to Tampa Bay. This is the substance of the news.

FRITZ, the convicted murderer in Carroll county, Md., has been further respited. No day has been fixed for his execution. The opinion is that he is insane. If so, his punishment might be commuted to imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Two gentlemen named Stryker and Barry were seriously injured in Brooklyn on the 10th inst. by being thrown from a carriage. Barry had his leg broken while the other sustained severe internal injury.

The St. Louis Gazette of the 3d says—The weather is dry and hot. The crops are backward—the fields parched—and the farmer's prospect at this moment far from encouraging.

ARRESTED. Two young men named Ralph Bell and Richard Simpson have been arrested and imprisoned in St. Louis for passing counterfeit money.

PETER CHARLEVILLE, the man with whom two of the St. Louis murderers loaded, has been imprisoned on a charge of receiving stolen goods. There has been quite a hurricane in Galveston, Texas. Several houses were blown down and other damage sustained.

Mr. SHIBBLY will deliver a discourse TOMORROW MORNING, on the text—Jeremiah xlii, 22.—"There is sorrow on the sea."
The members of the Murray Institute will meet in the Session Room of the Church NEXT TUESDAY EVENING, at 8 o'clock, for the discussion of the subject postponed from last Thursday evening. J13-1*

DR. McMANUS gives thanks, for himself and family, to the members of the different Fire Companies, for their untiring and successful exertions in saving the property which he occupies from destruction, yesterday morning. Their success, in this instance, is another testimonial, added to the many others, of the distinguished usefulness as citizens when their services are needed. J13-1*

A CARD.
The subscriber respectfully returns his sincere thanks to the energetic firm, and all others, who so kindly rendered their services in rescuing his property from the ravages of the last fire which occurred near his dwelling, in High street, last evening. EGBERT HEISLER. J13 1*

EUTAW FISHING CLUB.
The Annual Meeting of this Club, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, will be held on MONDAY EVENING, June 14th, at 8 o'clock, at the Hall of the New Market Engine Co. Members will please be punctual. By order, S. Thompson, Secy. J13 2*

THE ALMS HOUSE.
"Give unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's," Mr. FINOTK—As an old Baltimorean, a tax-payer, and a curious man, I am always searching into every thing which concerns the public. I am a frequent visitor to the Alms House, and concerning every part and parcel thereof, especially the United States. I found that respect was paid to the memory of the President there, as well as elsewhere. The room appropriated to preaching was hung in black, the columns covered with black by being twisted around them, the carpeting entirely covered with black, and so on. The pulpit, as a few moments, the bell rung and the tidings of the house came in two and two, the men with crapes on their arms, and the women wearing black aprons. The little children, all dressed alike, clean, fat, and rosy, came last, marching in procession, with crapes on their arms.

The care taken for the comfort of the inmates, particularly for the aged, infirm, and the women and children, by the worthy Proprietor, Col. Jas. L. MAONIZ, is worthy of all praise. The whole of the expense for mourning was paid out of his own pocket, and not a penny from the public purse. His liberality cannot be too highly appreciated. It is beyond the shadow of a doubt the best keeper of the Alms House that I have known since its establishment, and I am an old citizen of Baltimore. Seldom have I seen a happier group of faces than I beheld on Friday, as they marched in to hear the word of God expounded. They all seemed cheerful and smiling.

The mode which he adapted to show respect to the memory of the brave defender of the frontiers, and the Washington of the West, met my approbation. He has gone down to the grave covered with a garland of glory, and sleeps on the pillow of fame. His memory should be honored, as his name will force itself on the pages of history. Ages cannot obliterate it. The tools of time cannot touch the eternal scroll upon which it is inscribed in letters of gold.

But to the subject: The Joint Committee of the 1st and 2d Branches of the City Council paid Col. Maguire the highest compliment, after having viewed every part of the Alms House, in doing which he attended them and the City Engineers. They speak of the cleanliness, the quality, and preparation of the food, as being good, and that the accounts were properly arranged and correctly kept. The late trustees give him their thanks, and spoke in decided approbation of his management of the establishment. It is his return, as a citizen, to the City, that so nearly concern them. The Col. is, on the point of leaving the Institution. Sic transit homo. J13-1*

APPRENTICES LIBRARY.
The Directors of the Apprentices Library announce, that the LIBRARY will open for the issue of BOOKS, in the room over the Patagon Engine House, North street, on FRIDAY EVENING 12th inst, at 8 o'clock, and will, until further notice, be open at the same hour every Friday evening.

BOOKS will be loaned to apprentices and other youths free of charge, under regulations which will be made known at the Room. By the terms of the Constitution members of the association are also entitled to the use of the Library, such regulations as may from time to time be required by the Directors. This is at present fixed at 25c. per quarter. The subscription of membership in one dollar per year.

In announcing the opening of the Library, the directors avail themselves of the occasion to return their thanks to those citizens by whose liberality every part of the plan has been carried into effect, and to those who have undertaken to purchase and value donations in books. The receipt of 10 dollars, through Wm. C. Law, Esq., their thanks are also particularly due to H. S. Kenney, Esq., Rev. Mr. Burap, Otho Spear, Esq., Hon. J. P. Kennedy, J. D. Armstrong, Esq., for the purchase of books, and to the donors of the books for pecuniary assistance, and valuable donations in books.

The present collection of books, nearly 600 vol., although sufficient to justify the Directors in commencing operations, would doubtless soon be found insufficient for those for whose use they are intended. They trust however, the claims of their liberality on the part of the community will be liberally responded to. Persons desirous of presenting books are requested to leave them with Otho Spear, Green street, Woods & Crane, Charles near Market street, at the Public School Assiniquist, O. T., with Peter Leary, Trams street, F. B., or at the Library room, on Friday evening, or to leave their address at the room when the books will be sent for.

The friends of the institution are invited to call and examine the Library. R. CONNOLLY Secy. J13 2*
