BALTIMORE.

National Union Nominations.

SATURDAY, AUG 6, 1864.

FOR PRESIDENT: ABRAHAM LINCOLN, of Illinois. FOR VICE PRESIDENT: ANDREW JOHNSON, of Tennessee.

THE BALTIMORE CORRESPONDENT

OF THE N. Y. WORLD. In another coumn of this day's Clipper will be found a com runication from the correspondent of the New York World, resident In this city, and which we very freely insert, because in the first place we wish to avoid even the semblance of harshness or injustice to any; and in the next, that our readers may see for themselves how little apparent consciousness there seems to be in the writer in question, that views so damaging to the Union cause as he puts forth, are really obnexious to the great body of the Union men. Besides, we are glad to try the letter com mented on by us, by the standard of these dis claimers, for a more satisfactory test could hardly be imagined. Generalities will not. in this case, avail against the bill of partieulars, furnished the World; rague estimates ! are as nothing a sinst the positive "thouerals Averill and Kelly. We might go back in the same manner, if the thing was of consequence to justify the thee and space, to test the figures carefully ! and positively put down by this same writer, concerning the other rebel corps which have been operating in the South within the part three years; estimates which have been scouted | Julia II Monell by the best informed in this city, in our pretence, again and again, as utterly prepastarous. But put to the true test, as in this case, there could be nothing but these indignant an vague generalities to fall back upon,

And whether this writer understands the county, to Elizabeth Hogans, of Baltimore. tendencies of these views of his or not, makes ? little or no difference to the great body of Unionists. Amidet so much that is put forth, there could not fail, of course, to be some shrewd "guesses at truth;" but when he deliberately and persistently asserts the terrible superiority of the rebel forces put into the of the family sie respectfully invited to attend field against the Government, what is that but the very staple of that support contributed by the traitors of the North to organize oppo- native of the county Galway, Ireland. altion against the Government, to divide its ley Mercer, in the 15th year of his age, son of supporters, and paralyze its efforts at self Robert and lane Mercer. preservation? The Woodses and Vallandig ! hams do no more than this; and if he de- 4 months and 15 days. liberately takes sides with them, and furnishes J the material on which they build up an in jurious and deadly apposition to war measures, let him not be surprised if Union men that are indeed such, take issue with him, and ar- ! raign such statements as those found in the letter in question, and proved by facts, patent to the world, to be utterly without founds tion. Three or four, or even ten thousand raiders, freebooting ruffians like HeUaus- Jon, came to the tavern o Mr. Anthony Martin. land's followers, are not "seventy-five thousand men and all veteran troops,"-no way it can be fixed, -and McCausland is not Lee.

Whatever he may believe, or say, in regard to the power of the rebellion, its ability to] hold out, although it may of late show more ! ferocions characteristics, although in its dving | . r of Mr. George Peacock, a resident of the same efforts it may even advance its raiders to the | Piace. "banks of the Busquebanns," all this convinces no sensible person that it is not perishing apace, and that its end is not very nigh. Steadily crowded backwird until it holds but a single tier of States, and these but partially, since almost the entire coast is in possession? of the Government, losing thousands almost daily whom it cannot replace, utterly bankrupt in its finances, and as in the case of North Carolina and Georgia, divided against itself Mr. Wm. And the fact that rebel successes are magnified, and the successes of the Govern ment depreciated by the Copperhead press, constitutes one of the strongest hopes of the | ecanted, and extremely beneficial in its active | traitors in the field. Their presses arow the J comfort it affords them; and we again insist that it is the circulation of such sentiments? and views as are contained in the World and | seming Machine, we would recommend them to kindred prints, that to some degree divides J the North and prolongs the war. As such, they are legitimate subjects for criticism, and | we speak from experience. thrust into print, they are sure to get it; they are open to condemnation the most undoubted, and it would be strange if they should altogether escape it. And the writer in question need not exhibit Indignant surprise that such letters as his proveke criticism "both here and in New | It would be surprising, indeed, it they did not. Boldly challenging belief by their figures, their positive statements, their] complacent plausibilities, so well calculated to alarm the timid and snare the ignorant, it? would be marvellous if they were suffered in these times to pass unquestioned; a perion when this whole city and the country has been on the alert for facts. Broad conjec ! jectures will not do, and the press would certainly be derelict in its duty to the people, ? that did not put them to the test,

The one letter from which we have given be the most healthy and invigorating beverage recruit shall have been accepted as a part of the the U.S. sovernment, will deliver the same with extracts, and upon which we have indulged and other professional men, and is particularly strictures, is but an average sample, and with the attention of this community drawn to them, we shall probably not have occasion to notice them again. For the writer himself generated by the hot sun will be far an rel personally, we have no unkindly feeling - deadly to our Vounteers than the enemy's baynone whatever. We do not intend, however, HOLLOWAY'S Piles wite used in enormous to let such productions as his pass unchal quantities.
