The ultra men of the auti-elavery party, acted towards Mr. Clay, when he was a candidate, in the same manner that they are trying to defeat Mr. Lincoln. Clay, like Lincoin, was opposed to the extension of slavery, the in other respects, he was nearer to the views of the radicals, by far, than his oppomany votes that would otherwise have elected Mr. Clay, and thus secured the defeat of both Clay and their own candidate, and would forever have prostrated the hopes of anti-clavery, of Lord Macaulay in relation to the contracthad not the Democrats gotten up the infa- ing of debt by a nation. THE VACARIES OF THE RESELS.-It would seem that the Southerners can never learn any wisdom by their experience, in their action with Northern prople—for most of their calculations of success have been founded upon a mirconception of the character of the people in the non-slaveholding States. In the first place they thought the "Yankees" so cowardly, that they would never go to war . for the preservation of the Union-and that Rev. J. W. Langley, William B. AMERICAN FINANCES -The rast trade between this country and England, induces the public men of that nation to watch with an anxious eye all cur monetary movements. Hence the change in the head of our Treasury Department has called forth various comments from the leading journals—whilst some of these are predicting our financial prostration, others are proving by the facts of history, that these predictions are the fruits of disordered, or timid or prejudiced minds.
