the counter this morning.

As the time approaches for the Presidentia! "on, we see the enemies of the Union and deinistration increasing their ac of the A. "ring their devices to gratify" tivity, multips, " thirst for wengeful satitheir long deferre. wost incongruous,faction. Materials the . daggers draw. politicians who have been at with each other for the last quare. in in tury, now find some bond of fellowsh., common hatred of the President, in the esg. desire to supplent him and his supporters i the affections of the people. It is not enough that he has a fee in front, savagely threatening to burn the Capitol over his head, to mak Washington city a desolation, the glorion nationality bequeathed to us by the Father. his country a thing only of the past. Carrie away by a determination to acquire power b any means whatever, all is forgotten with the home traitors, but their fierce hatred of ou rulers, and their anticipated triumph.

We know, thus, what the unscrupuloupeliticans and traitors are plotting, and nov let us ask - what are the people doing to ci cumvent these bold and reckless men? While one is "attending to his farm, another to he merchandise," whilst the finances of the country, it: trade and its commerce are like to be placed in such deadly peril, that no ma may be certain that he will be able to bequeat his estate, or the value of it, to his childre is it a time to sit down in supine indolenc and to see those barriers swept away whic have so far in the history of the republi given us safety and prosperity? Do not al know, that with the present Administrati supplanted by a set of reckless gamblers i politics, and the country torn asunder b divisi as which cannot be healed, that th. credit of the country goes overboard with at. this, and that no man is sure of any thing a far as the rights of property are concerned? vested in Biate securities; that one noids certain amount of bank or railroad stock ; whilst all can put their hands in their pocket. and feel there the evidences of the close d pendence they have upon the well sustaine credit of the Government. And yet, wearle perhaps of a struggle to sustain the life of th nationality, ready to despair or despose almost in the very moment of triumph, to many are debating with themselves wheth. they aball not betray their brave defenders and listen to the syren song of those "wh. cry peace when there is no peace!"

The truth is, never has the country, sincthe attempt to destroy the Union was inaugu rated, so needed the best efforts of every true patriot. With the fact demonstrated that the Union cannot be broken up by the sanguinary attacks of traitors in the field, new tactics are to be tried; and that power is to be sapped and mined by sympathizers with treason here, which has withstuod every fierce assault from | which we give: the other side of the border when led on b the minions of Jeff Davis. Treacherous to. beyond all names for treachery, these assault: are made in the sacred name of patriotism; are made by these who assume the fairest se better than the Lincoln ticket? purposes the better to disguise their deadly intentions. Professing to be zeslous in their regard and respect for the Constitution, they have stricken hands with those who have de rided it as an obsolete instrument, or as the mere engine of tyranny.

Let it be noted, too, that even thus early in the pelitical struggle, we have the fact commended to our attention, that no money or efforts are to be spared by those arrayed in hostility against the President. Usmpaign as good a one as they could get in the person documents, of the most artiul and mischievous character, filled with arguments designed to alarm the timid and entrap the unwary, are to be circulated by the one hundred thou sand, not only in our own, but in all other loyal States; and whilst this seems a fact un doubted, what are the hitherto active and determined friends of the Union cause doing to neutralize these vile attempta?

And what if it is true, that our enemies are for the present divided, scattered, with as yet no one recognized leader? What if to-day the only probable cement in their case appear. to be a last for power? They are not the less pen, my body seizen, subjected to military Sewing Machine, we would recommend them to to be guarded against, are not the less den- control, banished through the Southern lines, go to Thomas Shanks, 36 N. Ricen street, and gerous, since gathering throughout the wid: land every malignant hater of the Federal of liberty, the same devotion to principle as Executive, they may, when the time comes, in former years. And I come with the same so complicate matters as to compel an infa- resolution, whether come life or death, im mous and ruinous "peace."

this connection? What but a more truce be forever "God's noblest work an honest man." twint two sections, maddened by the remen brancs of past losses, and with the chief cause of quarrel still left almost untouched? What does the Bouth need, but a little time to re ctuit its exhausted forces, to import new war munitions from abroad, and thus to re new a conflict now in a fair way to be ended forever?

any de suit now of the true defenders of the other sprang with great force up in the wolf at Schwin's Hall, corner Broadway and Orleans Union; let them drive the President from th. position he has so nobly filled to replace words found dead a short distance from the him by Fremont, Seymour, McUlellan or an, spot. in accord with these, and then, let the fact? vill remember that a sharp correspondence | miles out, had slackened speed to about twelve etween Jeff. Davis' Secretary of the Trea. miles an hour, being near the point at which ury and the Governors of several of the 'Confederate' States, recently occurred, on running at a fast speed, as it overtook and ran subject calculated to test the question of 'ates' rights-the Governors persisting in he dout ine that each State had a right to nport, on its own account, goods required or the use of its soldiers in the service, and export cotton to pay for the same-whilst be Treasury official, under orders from his nief, insisted that such things could not be: ast the right would not be acknowledged, as t conflicts with and weakens the central juris. action. A test was likely to be made upon be subject, as Governor Brown, of Georgia, ad a vessel on the way, of great value, and aden with goods much needed by his State cops just now, in their conflict with Shernan-but alse for all human calculations, the perof the Georgian have been dashed to be ground by a sad misfortune to his ship, driven back with considerable loss. An atad doubtless Jest. Davis and his Minister of tate will secretly rejoice at the sad result of he Governor's venture-for on her way into port, the captain of the vessel not having the car of Uncle Sam before the cycs of his mind, for his laws and regulations relative to ne blackade. This mishap, how-.ver, relieves the rebel President, for the ime being, of the duty of settling the vexed juestion with his dissenting Governors, and uts it off to a more convenient day, when it to be determied whether or not securion en secedo from secession. Mr. Secretary Estimere. very clearly foresaw that if this right | vas ever granted to one State, other States? sould also claim the same, and then what sould become of the power of the "Confed racy," and where would it derive its reveue? Thus we see that this vile heresy of Atates' Rights is coming home in a practical hape to torment its originators and support.
