

DAILY CLIPPER.

W.H. WALES, Publisher.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 14, 1864.

THINGS IN NEW YORK.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Clipper.]

New York, Sept' 12, 1864.

We have had for the last eight or nine days very changeable weather; to day it is quite cool, but very pleasant. A public meeting is now being held at the rooms of the Central Union Lincoln and Johnson Club, corner of 23d street and Broadway. The call for the meeting was the best of any that has been made this year and just as all should be. The meeting is very enthusiastic and highly respectable and not of such a class as you find at Democratic meetings. The hall is crowded and the Hon. Ethan Allen first addressed the audience; he was frequently applauded, and made a patriotic speech. A gentleman next sang a patriotic song in an excellent manner, after which the chairman introduced the Hon. Horace Greeley, who, upon rising, was cheered in such a manner that it was some minutes before he could go on. Mr. Greeley said "let those who commended the fighting stop fighting." Mr. Greeley was speaking when I left.

The editorial page of to day's "News" is principally occupied by comments on McClellan's letter. It closes its leader with the following remarks:

"General McClellan's voice is for war—principle, feeling, consistency, every suggestion of patriotism, statesmanship, and self-respect, forbids us, therefore, from giving him our support."

The "World" thanks God "for a purified, regenerated, disenthralled Democratic party." It also says "the men who have been the curse of the party have gone out of the party." What will the Peace men have to say to that?

Troops are daily leaving the several regiments around this city for the seat of war. Their departure is not to publicize now as in the beginning of the war. They now rarely every regiment that left passed through the city, but now they sail direct from the camps. It is estimated that about 1,000 daily go from here, and on Saturday nearly 2,000 left for the front.

General Dix was asked, if nominated for Governor of this State, whether he would accept, and in a letter to Ward Hunt, Esq., one of the delegates, declined.

The Union men of Newark, N. J., are to hold a meeting at Library Hall on the 14th instant. They will be addressed by Hon. J. F. Farnsworth, of Illinois, and others.

The passenger steamer Elite, from Beaufort, N. C., stopped at this port this morning for the purpose of getting a Hell-Gate pilot, after which she proceeded to Beaufort, to which port she was bound. She was captured by the gunboats Quaker City and Keystone State, on the 5th instant, from Wilmington to Nasau, with a cargo of cotton.

An accident occurred this morning on the Erie Railroad, to a cattle train, caused by one of the cars getting off the track in passing over the bridge near Poughkeepsie. The morning trains were delayed some time, but no person was injured.

The New Nation has become the property of Gen. Cluseret, who has been editor-in-chief of the beginning. The New Nation has charged its publisher two or three times, its first one being connected with the New York World.

The Central Park Concert on Saturday had the best attendance of the season. The Concerts, which are sustained by private enterprise, are drawing to a close.

On the 10th inst., Philip Treacy, of Cincinnati, and Dudley Karsnag, the present champion, play at the Hippodrome, New York, for the Billiard Championship of America.

The trotting horse, Capt. McGowan, trotted to-day on the Fashion Course, L. I., against time, the backers of time wagering $1,000 to $5,000 that he cannot trot 20 miles within an hour. The backers of the horse are confident he can accomplish it.

The first cargo of coal for the "Oncor" (not Company) is to arrive at Brooklyn, on Wednesday.

[For the Clipper.]

THE COMING MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

Whatever differences of opinion may have existed among Union men as to the wisdom or policy of renominating Mayor Chapman, there can certainly now be no question but that patriotism requires them to elect him. Granting to Mr. Stirling ability as a lawyer, or honesty as a patriot, we still cannot fail to remember that he is of the Winter Davis school of politics, and that Winter Davis has but recently betrayed the loyal men of Maryland. The "Wads" and Davis manifesto" coming forth at a time when gloom was settling over the nation—when the Administration was asking its true men not to be led by the military authorities of this city, but a descriptive list will be made out and the parties sent to the headquarters of General Grant, in front. This rigid order will have a salutary effect in abating the imposition now practised upon the different Provost Marshalls.

Incidency.—The tobacco works of B. Wilkins & Co., were set on fire by an incendiary recently, but his purpose was not satisfactorily accomplished. Messrs. W. & Co., have a very strong suspicion that the incendiary was.

General Nomination.—Mr. Levi Pittmyer was on Monday night nominated by the Unionist Union party, favorable to Mr. Stirling, to represent the Seventh and Eighth wards in the City Council.

Watch Thief.—John Mason, charged with stealing a silver watch from Samuel Elliott, was arrested on Monday night and committed to jail by Justice Meredith. The watch was found in possession of the accused.

Incendiarism.—A few minutes before six o'clock yesterday morning a brick stable in the rear of dwelling No. 178 W. Pratt street, was fired by an incendiary and destroyed, leaving a loss of $300.

Political Experiment.—It is said that John C. Fremont is minus $250,000 by the expense of his little experiment in running his paper, the "New Nation," in running his paper, the "New Nation."

LOCAL NEWS.

Bonfires for Substitutes.—In the First Branch of the City Council last evening, the following message from the Mayor was read and referred to a proper committee: "GENTLEMEN: I have been requested upon by delegations of citizens to make several wards, informing me that some of the conscripts are giving up $400 for men for one year's service in the Union army. This movement is having the effect of preventing the city from filling her quota.

Sanderson's Minstrels.—Mr. Low Gaylord has produced a great card with the patrons of the Institute, his budget of comedies, writing the tastes and fancies of every class. The troupe will to night appear in a rich programme, introducing several laughable novelties.

Circus.—The Circus and Arab combination will arrive in our city to-morrow, and will open on the corner of Charles and Camden streets. Our citizens may rely upon a short season of mirth and interesting enter-

AMUSEMENTS.

Mme. Veratti.—This finished actress has created a fresh sensation by her remarkable talents in the play of the "Duke and his Daughters." The theatre was densely crowded last night, and hundreds of persons were unable to gain admittance. The same play will be given to-night.

Frost Street Theatre.—The new domestic drama of Mrs. Lovell attracted another large audience last night. Miss Ruth as the long unproctected orphan girl, presents a most beautiful and thoughtful picture of every day life. The bill will be repeated to-night.

National Guards.—The new domestic drama of Mrs. Lovell attracted another large audience last night. Miss Ruth as the long unproctected orphan girl, presents a most beautiful and thoughtful picture of every day life. The bill will be repeated to-night.

Court Proceedings.

United States District Court.—Before Judge Giles. At the call of the Grand Jury, they were discharged until Friday morning.

Postage.—The postage of the various postal currency, was set for to-day.

N. J. Thayer.—Exq., Deputy District Attorney, then commenced to the Court the death of Nathan Williams, Esq., for a period of three years the District Attorney of this Court, and moved that the announcement of this Court, and placed upon the minutes of the Court, a mark of esteem to the memory of the deceased. George W. Dobbs, Esq., attended the motion, and paid high eulogy upon the character of Williams, as a gentleman and professional brother.

Superior Court.—Before Hon. Judge Martin. This Court was engaged yesterday in calling the Trial Dockets.

(Reported for the Baltimore Clipper.)

Towson, Sept. 13, 1864.

Circuit Court for Baltimore County.—Before Hon. John H. Price, Judge; John T. Estes, Esq., State's Attorney, prosecuting.

State v. William Oller.—Indicted for the murder of William White, removed from Baltimore city. R. J. Gittings, Esq., assistant to the prosecutor, substituted to defend him after his trial, when they would supply him with citizens' clothing.

(Reported for the Baltimore Clipper.)

Towson, Sept. 13, 1864.

Court of the School Board.—The Board of Public School Commissioners met yesterday afternoon at five o'clock, Geo. N. Estes, Esq., President in the chair. Bills to the amount of $3,710 10 were reported and voted to be paid. One hundred and fifty-six free admissions were granted by Mr. Lester, from the committee to hold a special examination for admission to the Central High School, reported the names of the following students of the Grammar schools named as having passed: No. 1, George H. Harrison; No. 4, James Durrington, George W. Kirwan, Benjamin T. Winchester, George W. Kirwan, Andrew Gapse, No. 10, John E. Little. Applications for position of teachers were received from Misses Mary T. Hittman, Misses Allen and Marian J. Henrix, and ordered to be filed.

A request from the ladies of the M. P. Church, corner of Lombard and Green streets, asking the use of the basement of the church for the purposes of a school, was declined. The resignation of Miss Elizabeth J. Brown, of Female Primary No. 20, was accepted, and Miss Catherine J. Miller nominated to fill the vacancy, a committee from the association of teachers, asking an increase of salaries was read and referred to a special committee. The President and Treasurer were authorized to draw on the City Register for $6,000, for payment of current expenses. The committee of conference with the City Council were authorized to procure appropriations to obtain new lots for the construction of schools No. 22 and No. 5. The Board then adjourned.

The Holiday Street Assessment.—The property-holders adjacent to the above-named property are to meet this evening at the office of the Mayor and City Council for an extension of time for the payment of the assessment of benefits for the opening of said street. The committee on highways had had the matter under consideration for several days, and yesterday afternoon a report was submitted to the City Council, and the committee discharged from further consideration of the subject.

The report of the committee was as follows:

"We believe that the committee could see no cause for an extension of time as prayed for, as time is as fully abundant at this time as it can possibly be twelve months hence, and a year's delay in this great and costly affair would be highly detrimental to the public interest. Your committee report was adopted and the committee discharged from further consideration of the subject."

W. B. K.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Finer Branch.—Sept. 13th, 1864.—James Young, Esq., President.

Young presented a petition from Michael C. Galler, asking permission to erect a frame kitchen, at No. 19 E. Lombard street; referred.

Mr. G. K. Kuyser presented a petition from Chas. T. Holloway, asking to be compensated for the use of 200 bats of hay, used by the city authorities for the purpose of barricading the streets during the late raid; referred.

Mr. Jones presented a petition to place a gas lamp at the corner of Habig & Poppleton street; referred.

Mr. George Kuyser submitted a resolution granting permission to Charles E. Jay to erect a frame building and steam engine on Lincoln street; adopted. Also, a resolution granting permission to S. M. Johnson, to erect a frame building at his yard, south side of Main street, relative to the bounty offered to volunteers; referred.

A communication was received from Henry A. B. bits, to present to each member of the Democratic "mystic" to speak, if said:

"Get them (the South) back you must, repudiate the illegal government they received, and stand firm over the instruments of their attempted degradation. We must treat this rebellion as a wise parent who woud a vicious child—we must whip him into submission. No milder discipline can serve the purpose. Some are crying peace, but the people can be peaceable as a lamb can be found with arms in his hands. We be to the people where there is no peace."

The Union must be preserved, and there is no safety of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. The rebellion is tottering now while I speak; it is going down, down, and will tumble into ruins. Politicians may talk to you about the cause of the South, but I say, put down the rebellion and then, if you choose, inquire into the cause of it. But if you put down the insurgents—first whip them, and then talk about the cause if you have nothing else to engage your attention.

I believe in treating the rebellion as Gen. Jackson treated Indians, while they first attack us, then let us to you, heart and hand.

My friends are fighting, not speech-making;

"But let me tell you that the army of Sherman is invincible, and cannot be disheartened. We must treat this rebellion as a wise parent who woud a vicious child—we must whip him into submission. No milder discipline can serve the purpose. Some are crying peace, but the people can be peaceable as a lamb can be found with arms in his hands. We be to the people where there is no peace."

The Union must be preserved, and there is no safety of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. The rebellion is tottering now while I speak; it is going down, down, and will tumble into ruins. Politicians may talk to you about the cause of the South, but I say, put down the rebellion and then, if you choose, inquire into the cause of it. But if you put down the insurgents—first whip them, and then talk about the cause if you have nothing else to engage your attention.

I believe in treating the rebellion as Gen. Jackson treated Indians, while they first attack us, then let us to you, heart and hand.

My friends are fighting, not speech-making;

"But let me tell you that the army of Sherman is invincible, and cannot be disheartened. We must treat this rebellion as a wise parent who woud a vicious child—we must whip him into submission. No milder discipline can serve the purpose. Some are crying peace, but the people can be peaceable as a lamb can be found with arms in his hands. We be to the people where there is no peace."

The Union must be preserved, and there is no safety of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. The rebellion is tottering now while I speak; it is going down, down, and will tumble into ruins. Politicians may talk to you about the cause of the South, but I say, put down the rebellion and then, if you choose, inquire into the cause of it. But if you put down the insurgents—first whip them, and then talk about the cause if you have nothing else to engage your attention.

I believe in treating the rebellion as Gen. Jackson treated Indians, while they first attack us, then let us to you, heart and hand.

My friends are fighting, not speech-making;

"But let me tell you that the army of Sherman is invincible, and cannot be disheartened. We must treat this rebellion as a wise parent who woud a vicious child—we must whip him into submission. No milder discipline can serve the purpose. Some are crying peace, but the people can be peaceable as a lamb can be found with arms in his hands. We be to the people where there is no peace."

The Union must be preserved, and there is no safety of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. The rebellion is tottering now while I speak; it is going down, down, and will tumble into ruins. Politicians may talk to you about the cause of the South, but I say, put down the rebellion and then, if you choose, inquire into the cause of it. But if you put down the insurgents—first whip them, and then talk about the cause if you have nothing else to engage your attention.

I believe in treating the rebellion as Gen. Jackson treated Indians, while they first attack us, then let us to you, heart and hand.

My friends are fighting, not speech-making;

"But let me tell you that the army of Sherman is invincible, and cannot be disheartened. We must treat this rebellion as a wise parent who woud a vicious child—we must whip him into submission. No milder discipline can serve the purpose. Some are crying peace, but the people can be peaceable as a lamb can be found with arms in his hands. We be to the people where there is no peace."

The Union must be preserved, and there is no safety of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. The rebellion is tottering now while I speak; it is going down, down, and will tumble into ruins. Politicians may talk to you about the cause of the South, but I say, put down the rebellion and then, if you choose, inquire into the cause of it. But if you put down the insurgents—first whip them, and then talk about the cause if you have nothing else to engage your attention.

I believe in treating the rebellion as Gen. Jackson treated Indians, while they first attack us, then let us to you, heart and hand.

My friends are fighting, not speech-making;

"But let me tell you that the army of Sherman is invincible, and cannot be disheartened. We must treat this rebellion as a wise parent who woud a vicious child—we must whip him into submission. No milder discipline can serve the purpose. Some are crying peace, but the people can be peaceable as a lamb can be found with arms in his hands. We be to the people where there is no peace."

The Union must be preserved, and there is no safety of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. The rebellion is tottering now while I speak; it is going down, down, and will tumble into ruins. Politicians may talk to you about the cause of the South, but I say, put down the rebellion and then, if you choose, inquire into the cause of it. But if you put down the insurgents—first whip them, and then talk about the cause if you have nothing else to engage your attention.

I believe in treating the rebellion as Gen. Jackson treated Indians, while they first attack us, then let us to you, heart and hand.

My friends are fighting, not speech-making;

"But let me tell you that the army of Sherman is invincible, and cannot be disheartened. We must treat this rebellion as a wise parent who woud a vicious child—we must whip him into submission. No milder discipline can serve the purpose. Some are crying peace, but the people can be peaceable as a lamb can be found with arms in his hands. We be to the people where there is no peace."

The Union must be preserved, and there is no safety of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. The rebellion is tottering now while I speak; it is going down, down, and will tumble into ruins. Politicians may talk to you about the cause of the South, but I say, put down the rebellion and then, if you choose, inquire into the cause of it. But if you put down the insurgents—first whip them, and then talk about the cause if you have nothing else to engage your attention.

I believe in treating the rebellion as Gen. Jackson treated Indians, while they first attack us, then let us to you, heart and hand.

My friends are fighting, not speech-making;

"But let me tell you that the army of Sherman is invincible, and cannot be disheartened. We must treat this rebellion as a wise parent who woud a vicious child—we must whip him into submission. No milder discipline can serve the purpose. Some are crying peace, but the people can be peaceable as a lamb can be found with arms in his hands. We be to the people where there is no peace."

The Union must be preserved, and there is no safety of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. The rebellion is tottering now while I speak; it is going down, down, and will tumble into ruins. Politicians may talk to you about the cause of the South, but I say, put down the rebellion and then, if you choose, inquire into the cause of it. But if you put down the insurgents—first whip them, and then talk about the cause if you have nothing else to engage your attention.