MISCELLANEOUS NEWS ITEMS.—Another meteor has fallen at Hubbardston, Mass. It was discovered on the 9th ultimo, and on examination proved to be a meteor as large as a hoghead of a red-tail.

When Algeon Sidney was told that he might avoid life by denying his handwriting, he said, "When God has brought me into a dilemma, I must mean to see a lie or lose my life, he gives me a clear indication of my duty, which is to prefer death to lying."

At a dispatch from Bing Bing announces the death of Joseph J. Chambers, editor of the Bing Bing Republican. Colonel Chambers was a native of Maryland, but for many years was a resident and leading politician in Westchester county, N. Y.

At a hearing in Philadelphia the other afternoon, the person was stopped while the federal process of a soldier passed by the oldest officer in the French army in Col. Freney, aged 106 years. He is blind, but otherwise bright.

THE REBEL CONSCRIPTION. The Richmond papers are unwilling to keep their courage up, though in sad discord with the utterance of Jeff Davis. Whilst the latter groans over the fact that the abolitionist men South are quite out of the question in a further fight—all are between the age of eighteen and forty-five are gone, the

At this period of the war it is useless to exhort, to pray men to take upon themselves the duties of soldiers. The romance of the war is all gone long ago. Men apply the arguments and appeals to the common sense of the people, and the operation of the law makes "hard cases." What is wanted, and what has been found, is the officer who can see the emergency in which the country now is, and who has the firmness to act according to the law.

The recitation of details was one of the wisest steps ever taken by the Government, and the law authorizing it was one of the greatest of the war. It has done more to give the country such a power as to detail, deprived the Conscriptors of half its virtue. The appliances which could be brought to bear upon the recalcitrant men, were such as to nullify the operation of the law.

The only argument against the revocation of all details that will bear any weight, is that if the details are revoked, we should all starve. Well, we had better starve than fall under the Yankee yoke. We should starve all the same, and starve as slaves, notes, freemen; starve in the roads and streets instead of in our own houses.

But we shall not do that. Whether Lincoln or McClellan be elected, the war cannot last forever, nor are the men now going into the army the real producers of the country. Of all things, the South has most in most plenty, she has the most abundant resources, though she does suffer from Mr. Davis.

AN EARL CAPTURED BY A BOY.—The other day, whilst one of the Filley boys, engaged in the herring fishery, was on the water, he observed a large bird approaching, which, after hovering about a short time, alighted upon the method. One of the lads on board, not being able to get a shot, fired at the bird, and it fell into the water, thinking to secure a prize, he had on the lad approaching, it took wing. He had not descended far, however, before the bird, which was a young one, was seen to be nearly exhausted. The plucky lad again sprang up the mast, and on reaching the top attempted to grasp the bird, but his Majesty was not to be taken without a struggle. The boy, after a short time, was seen to be nearly exhausted. The plucky lad again sprang up the mast, and on reaching the top attempted to grasp the bird, but his Majesty was not to be taken without a struggle.

"WANT A WOOL CAPTAIN?"—The Democratic press probably justified by this time of the ability of their opponents, for the incident which happened at the Harwood Hospital in Washington, a few days ago, may help them to fight victoriously the matter.

In the Paris Figaro there appears an amusing article from the spirit of Madame de Sevigne, reconstructing in the most pathetic language against the statue which is proposed to be erected to her memory in the city of Paris.

The principal of the Inland Revenue Department of England has just examined twenty five samples of beer, of which twenty were adulterated. In fourteen of these samples he found the prohibited articles called grains of paradise—grains which, however, it is for fear of the law, is not used.

Martin Flynn, who resided at Dun- kirk, was killed on the Lake Shore road, near Angola, last Wednesday afternoon. He was on his way to home, and it is supposed accidentally fell from the train, and was killed on the spot. The train at night ran over him a second time, horribly mangling his body.

When Algeon Sidney was told that he might avoid life by denying his handwriting, he said, "When God has brought me into a dilemma, I must mean to see a lie or lose my life, he gives me a clear indication of my duty, which is to prefer death to lying."
