Thus it came to be the fact, that unlike the historical cases of England and other countries of the old i world, men went unhesitatingly into the commission of the most revolting and herrible orimes, with not the least fear of punishment, | eighteen miles in extent, and in that distance | unless perchance they met it in the best of battle; and good running there, of course, has | Uncades. The mode of descript and sensa. postponed the penalty forever of many, who | tion is similar to the preceding. The scene numbered others were most guilty, and who, saving themselves, have since led and driven thousands of the ignerant and less criminal to death. Now the Government may, and will in the end vindicate its integrity, at least; but no one can doubt but that a wholesome severity would have long elace brought the reveit to narrower dimensions, if not to an absolute end. And if hereafter, in its history, treason is a crime to be avoided as men gwild other high crimes, where penalty is death, it must yet zhow itself capable of inflicting condiga publishment—the great traitors must at any rate be dealt with according to the intentions of the organic law established by the founders of the Republic.

And now as matters have resulted in the late election, let overy rebel in arms pray! devotedly and carnestly for the continuation in this world of the present kindly disposed Executive; for should he by any chance de part, they will find little grace from his conetitutional successor, the stern hater of treason in all its revolting aspects, who would | succeed him. In the larguage of Holy Writ,they will find Andrew Johnson's little "finger" heavier than Mr. Linco'n's "loins." The rebellion must end, and those who desperately and wickedly persevere in it, continue to thrust the poor and ignorant batwirt themselves and the reward they have so richly earned, must meet with no mercy. We trust required to arrest all such persons; that i the President will give body to the policy thus foreshadowed, and then, when the limit is finally passed, let the loyal States exact un-Hipchingly, rigidly, the retribution so deserved. It is not worth while, forever, to go on expending the invaluable lives and the treasure of the loyal States, merely to instruct or admonish men plunged in crime, and showing the remorseless perseverance in shedding blood which might distinguish fiends. The policy of Gen. Butler is the true policy, and let the people and the press at once endorse it | to Prudence A. TTASHEFSH CANDY. HASHEESH CARDY,

> ASTHMA. ANTHMA.

MR. WM. H. READ: Dear Sir-I wish to inform you by this writing that I have been suffering with Asthma in its worst form for (3) years, spending within that time hundreds of sleepless nights in the most suffering manner. Everything failed to give relief until I obtained a box of HASHEESH CAN-DY, which proved the most wonderful curative agency I ever used, relieving me immediately whenever attacked by the disease. Often I have been so severely attacked that I could with great difficulty breathe at all, and was incapable of lying down at night, having such terrible smoth The Benowned Gymnast and Athlete, will Ap- | ering sensations.
