I think that we should now egree To end war's savece rolen. And being back Peace and plenty To our Lleeding land sgain !" Then, answered Jeff, "It pleases me To hear you talking sa. And if I only knew the way I'd gladly stop this woe: But Abrahim I cannot see The path I should pursue And if you'll point it out to me I'll be obliged to you." "You're only to lay down your erms. And set your negroes free .. Return to your allegishes. And forgiven you shall be " I'm sure that you are very kind But I don't quite like the figger. For our people, all, are much opposed To setting free the nieger.

"That's monsense, Jefferron, my boy, For Slavery, you know, Must perish, for already It's received a mortal blow "-Well, well, if Slavery must die For freedom still we fight We want our independence. And went nothing but what's right." 'What sinf! 'your independence!

Whe rashed you of it, pray? As a portion of the Union If you return, still you may Be "free and independent" As the Union e'er must be And as brothers will enforce the right On land and on the sea!" "You're butsed our towns." says Jeferson. Such talk, pray you give a'er Remember Chambersburg in flames-"The Valley's fair no more.

For Milroy, Hunter, Sheriden abam ovad Isoto treses A Of Virginia's Lovely Valley And its homes in ruin hild!" "Enough! enough!" said Abram. "I have no more to say. I vousesk to kindle up old fires l'il try another way! The comfab thus was ended, And the meeting was in vain And the work of blood and slaughter Was quick resumed sealn. But Abe had not forgotten That a promise he had made To make another effort (And now none will be aliai. For both sides are weary fighting And they wish the war to cease And will hall with foy the tidings Of an honorable Peace!) So a meeling of the Cablnet He histly did call Lad a messenger was to n dispatched To the famous MARBLE HALL. And Smith was quickly summoned The meeting to attend .-and his good advice being taken The war will quickly end. Now Smith is our Commissioner. To Richmond soon he goes, To win beck the Southern people And to reconcile the rebels To the less of all their slaves. They'll be rescued from starvation
