No lease or contract is to be for a larger period than assistant superintendents and superintendents re establishment of traternal relations with are to arrear as next friends of the freedmen. The p occeds accruing under the act are to go to de lay the experses of the Department. in order that it may become selfaupporting at an early day. Whenever the Commissioner carrot otherwise employ freedmen, he shaif mate provider, as far as practicable, with trans and mitable persons, for their gervices. The ctter provisions of the bill relate 73 against 42 to military protection, the making of regulareports, the trials by courts-martial of delin quent officials, and their punishment, An. The 13th a cti h repuals the last clause of the confication bill which provides that confication shall only have eff of during life time. Mr. Somper explained the previous attempt. ed legislation on this subject, saying that this bill thek the control of the freedmen from the War Department as first proposed by the House, and from the Treasury Department as termerly proposed by the Senate, and by ertablishing a new department, put the control under the President, as with other depart. mente of the Government. He read a letter frem Gen. Hurlburt urging that the burthen of the ears of the freedmen should be taken from the military authorisies and placed in the hands of persits ready to give themselves permanently to the work. Military commanders were often obserged and one system of treatment charged with every removal (

Mr. Sammer said we had now under the law for commercial intercourse with insurrectionary districts, a system in operation entrolling the freedmen, as they were under that law, under the charge and direction of the Treasury agents. This was a system not worthwof the country at this time-an irrepressible, irrevocable proclamation of the President taving freed all the staves through out the country, and a constitutional amendment 'orever prohibiting slavery having passe. both Houses of Corgress.

Mr. C.liamer ir quired if the bill was now subject to amendmini? The Chair said it was not. The question was simply whether the report of the Conmittee of Conference should be agreed to.
