LETTERS FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 19, 1935.

The revelations from the largest secret source of the nation, Dr. Stephen, the testimony of General Lee, the protestations of the public opinion that the rebellion is approaching its final catastrophe; that, though Davis may desire to persist in the cause which has brought devastation and ruin upon the South, neither the army nor the people are disposed to submit long to agonizing hardships and privations in prosecuting a hopeless rebellion.
