THE PROSPECTS OF BALTIMORE.

We took occasion recently to dwell somewhat at length on the prospects of Baltimore in view of the rapidly approaching end of the war,—on the chances of an increase in its trade, and an expansion of its limits. Curiously enough, from almost every city north of us comes the same cry of overcrowded populations, the same loud call for more dwellings.—From Philadelphia, New York, Brooklyn, Boston, and west to Chicago, Cincinnati, Pittsburg and other prominent points, all dwell on the great need that exists for more houses; and the people of those places—like our own—are talking of the great cost of building materials and labor, as the only checks possible to an immense expansion in the matters of city bounds and of population.

In some of the cities named, the anxiety on the subject of more tenements comes to be almost a "panic," as those whose terms as tenants expire are driven hither and yon to find homes for their families, consequent upon that almost universal "moving time"—the first of May. When we take into consideration the enormous diversion of population in this direction that has been going on from the South for more than four years now, the fact of a present redundancy in the cities of the loyal States does not seem so remarkable. But admitting the fact, the question is certainly getting to be one of some importance—how this surplus crowd is to be disposed of, unless builders feel disposed to enter upon their old enterprizes of providing tenements? The great uncertainty in regard to prices for the future, has of course pretty effectually checked large transactions in the building line, so far; but then with gold brought down by the advent of peace, the time will soon be here when high rents caused by the actual scarcity of tenements, will compel the study of these questions in relation to demand and supply. In relation to this matter, we commend to our readers in Baltimore, the following extract from an article in the last Philadelphia North American:

"THE BUILDING SEASON.—We see it "stated that the building trades in Philadelphia are preparing to erect large "numbers of new houses during the ensuing season, stimulated thereto partly by "the increasing demand for dwellings, and "partly by the cheapening of building mate"rials. That real estate pays better here "as an investment than it has ever done be"fore, there can hardly be a reasonable "doubt. Rents have risen steadily, and "the prosperity of the times has given an "enhanced value to almost every kind of "houses. Chiefly owing to this cause, the "usual building enterprises have taken a "fresh start this spring, and there will be "thousands of houses put up in the course "of the season. Evidences of this may be "found in the statistics we recently pub"lished, showing the great amount of new "water pipe to be laid during the season."

"These improvements will be of all "classes, high and low, large and small, "common and ornate. In some sections "they will fill up vacant spaces left by the "previous strides of the city. In others "they will create new spaces by erecting "clusters of dwellings beyond the present "limits."

We repeat it, the same account comes to us of improvements pushing ahead in other cities, and the question becomes an interesting one to every citizen of Baltimore as to how far our own beautiful metropolis shall keep up in the race in this regard with the other loyal cities of the Union. We see no reason why labor and building materials should not be as cheap and available with us as with the people of other places: and whilst it is true that few bricks have been made, of late, the certainty of a good demand for them would hardly fail—we should think—of stimulating the production, so as ere long to give us a full supply.

At any rate, it cannot be long now before many of the problems must be solved, bearing upon the prospects and continued prosperity of the city. Whilst the fact of our being in the immediate neighborhood of hostilities has in the past four years exercised a most deleterious effect upon the city's growth, it can hardly be doubted but that with the return of peace, trade and enterprize will so tend in this direction as to more than strike the balance betwixt us and those cities hitherto more fortunate.

THE ARMY AND NAVY REGISTER.—This is the title of a new monthly magazine about to be published by Sitwell Harris, Esq., formerly one of the proprietors of the Army and Navy Gazette, and more recently connected, as agent, with the Army and Naval Journal of New York, published by Capt. W. C. Church. Mr. Harris is a gentleman of vast experience in the publication of journals devoted to the interests of the Army and Navy, and proposes to make the Register a first class monthly magazine in that peculiar line of literature. It will contain official lists of military and naval promotions, dismissals, appointments, resignations, etc., statements of the distribution of prize monies, and a large amount of reading matter on the improvements and inventions of modern warfare, and other topics of useful and entertaining interest to our military nation. A corps of the most progressive scientific writers in the country has been engaged by Mr. Harris, who is in Baltimore now making arrangements for the new publication. It will be published in Washington as the most convenient centre for departmental and official intelligence. It will be of the same size and general appearance as the late Continental Monthly, and will be richly stored with military and naval information. By request of a few large firms employed in the manufacture of military equipments, ten pages only will be devoted to advertisements. Mr. Harris has been the pioneer of similar enterprises in this country, and will bring to bear upon this new undertaking the same business tact, energy and integrity which has secured him flattering success in his previous publications.

FROM RICHMOND.—We have received some interesting items of information in the way of an inside view of rebeldom from a late inmate of Castle Thunder—just arrived. All hope seems to have fairly died out amongst the conspirators, and he states that they have been sending their treasures out of the city so as to be ready for any emergency. Marshal Kane he represents as figuring on the staff of the Chief of Police, in some very subordinate capacity, and Mr. Hanna, formerly connected with the press of this city, as in the same vocation with the Richmond Examiner. Altogether, the view thus communicated of affairs down there is anything but coleur de rose, no hopes being entertained of much further chance of holding out.

GRAND ITALIAN OPERA TROUPE.—If the lovers of the opera in the city desire to be made aware of the splendid treat that is in store for them with the advent in Baltimore of the Maretzek troupe, they should scan the following from the Washington Chronicle as to its performances in that city:

"Fra Diavolo."—The representation of Auber's comic opera of "Fra Diavolo" at Ford's Theatre last evening, by the Italian Opera Troupe, was witnessed by a very large and fashionable audience, and their frequent outbursts of applause attested their satisfaction of the performers and the performance. Miss Clara Louisa Kellogg, a native of New York, made her first appearance on this occasion, in the charming character of Zerlina. Miss Kellogg has an exquisite voice, a most prepossessing face, and every movement and gesture expressed the very embodiment of grace and beauty. Her singing was loudly encored from her entrance on the stage, and her solo in the first act was so bewitchingly rendered, and so cheertully repeated that she was at once the acknowledged favorite of the evening.—M'lle Morensi enacted the comparatively unimportant part of Pamela and sustained the good opinion she gained in "La Forza del Destino," although she had not the same opportunity for displaying her fine talent. Signor Bellini was last night transformed into the buffo singer in the role of Lord Pochbourg, which, contrasted with his Don Altravo of the previous performance, evidenced his versatility as an actor; while Lotini, in the role of Lorenza, gave us an entirely different style of character. Of the new tenor, Signor G. Lotti, we are not prepared to speak at length.—He enacted the part of Fra Diavolo. In the first scenes he appeared to be laboring under a certain degree of nervousness.—His voice was too low, and at some times almost indistinct, but in the third act he seemed to recover his self-posession, and gave us some fine notes, which showed that his voice was capable of a high range. The chorus was excellent, and the orchesta gave us the overture and general music in first rate style. This evening Verdi's "Ernani" will be performed, and as it abounds in gems, and Zacchi and Macafferri will appear, we predict another fine audience.

"The soul I wrong by, and the heart I bear, Shall never say with doubt, nor shake with fear."

Thus exclaimed the doughty Scottish Chief when arrayed for battle; and thus may all cry who arm themselves against the Legion of Dyspepsia, Headache, Ague, Sallowness, Lazgnor, Liver Complaint, and all their concomitant evils, with a bottle or two of PLANTATION BITTERS, the original S. T.—1863.—X. This great Tonic, which is still increasing in popular favor, and is effecting more cures than ever before, is emphatically The Poor Man's Friend and The Rich Man's Blessing. PLANTATION BITTERS are sold by all respectable dealers throughout the habitable globe.

☞ Reader, did you ever take a glass of Speer's Sambuci wine? If you never have, let us recommend you to do so, for after having tried it both as a beverage and a medicine, we boldly pronounce it the most palatable and efficient wine we ever drank. As a mere beverage even, we maintain it is the very choicest wine in use, being at once delicate in flavor, cheering in its effects, and cheap in price. As a medicalagent, we have tried it effectually during the last ten days (after being prostrated by cholera morbus), and have found it everything and more than what its proprietor claims for it.

Nearly all Druggists keep this wine.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BALTIMORE, March 20.

At a mass meeting held this day by the GERMAN UNION MEN OF BALTIMORE, and friends of Mr. CHR. BARTELL, Delegate of the Legislature of the State of Maryland, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

1. That in consideration of the unwearied activity of Mr. Chr. Bartell, we feel very sorry that his indefatigable efforts for the welfare of the State of Maryland have not met with such a success as every good Union loving citizen had wished and expected; that his loss in partisanship has reversed his efforts, especially in relation to the Immigration bill, which was carefully and ably elaborated; that

2. We, his fellow citizens, fully and with satisfaction acknowledge the zealous, disinterested, and faithful discharge of his duties, with which he has served the interest of his constituents and of the State of Maryland in general, and hereby publicly express our thanks in behalf of his friends; and that

3. The malicious, inexcusable, and offensive action of the "German Correspondent," of Baltimore, the unjustified critique of the official actions of our delegate, Chr. Bartell, has met with the greatest disapprobation of the Union loving population of the city, and that the "German Correspondent" will be looked on with distrust and contempt by every friend of the Union; and that

4. These resolutions be published in two German and two English papers, and a copy of the same be handed to Mr. Chr. Bartell by a committee.

LEGAL NOTICES.

STATE OF MARYLAND, to wit.

Whereas, It has been represented to me that a most atrocious murder was committed on Saturday night, the 25th inst., in this county, the murderer entering the house of Captain Thomas H. Watkins, late of the Purnell Cavalry, and shooting him as he sate in his own parlor, and a certain formerly of Prince George's county, and lately connected with the rebel army, who made a murderous assault on Captain Watkins last summer, and more recently is said to have been lurking in the neighborhood, committing other depredations, is strongly suspected, as stated by the Jury of Inquest, of having committed the murder:

Now, therefore, I, AUGUSTUS W. BRADFORD, Governor of the State of Maryland, do, by this my Proclamation, offer a reward of

for the apprehension and delivery to the Jail of this county of the said John Boyle. A further reward of

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS

Will be paid for the arrest and conviction of any other person as an accomplice or accessory in said murder. Three men are believed to have come together to the house of Captain Watkins on foot, and after the murder committed, they stole and took away with them three horses, one a chesnut sorrel with a blazed face, four years old, having on him a military saddle, taken from Captain Watkins' yard; the other two stolen from the neighborhood, one a dark bay with white face, the other a four year old grey mare, her shoulders and one leg much rubbed by harness.

Given under my hand at the city of Annapolis, this 27th day of March, 1865.

By the Governor:
A. W. BRADFORD.
WM. B. HILL, Secretary of State. mh30-3t&o

THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE, That the subscriber has obtained from the Orphan's Court of Baltimore city, letters of administration on the estate of ROBERT MORTON, late of said city deceased.
