

BALTIMORE

CLIPPER.

"THE UNION, THE CONSTITUTION, AND THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAWS."

BALTIMORE, TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 18, 1865.

VOLUME L.—NUMBER 91.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

Latest News by Telegraph.

THE GREAT CALAMITY.

TO THE
BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

THE DEATH OF THE PRESIDENT.

ACCOUNT OF AN EYE WITNESS.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.

THE CAPTURE OF MOBILE.

INTERESTING INCIDENTS, &c.

5,700 PRISONERS CAPTURED.

THE GREAT NATIONAL TRAGEDY.

Spanish Fort Taken by Assault.

Probable Surrender of Johnston.

Gen. Sherman and Johnson in Conference.

&c. &c. &c.

PROBABLE SURRENDER OF JOHN- STON'S ARMY.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Information has been received by the Government from Gen. Sherman, that he was in communication with General Johnston, a view to the surrender of the latter.

Gen. Sherman would offer the same terms that Gen. Grant did to Gen. Lee, and it was supposed they would be accepted.

Capture of Mobile.

NEW ORLEANS, April 10, via CAIRO.

Official despatches announcing the glorious success of the expedition against Mobile.

Spanish Fort and Blakely were captured the former at 10:30 A. M., on the 9th inst.

The steamship Kangaroo, Capt. Bridgeman, left Queenstown, April 1st.

A man, whose face I do not distinctly remember, passed me and inquiryed of me what I was doing.

The mail was delivered at 10:30 A. M.

On the night of Friday, April 14th, we met with a friend, I went to Ford's Theatre, arriving there just after the entrance of President Lincoln and the party accompanying him.

My friend and I, after viewing the performance, went to the door of the box.

The dead was perpetrated during the entrance of the third act of the piece.

On the night of Friday, April 14th, we were received by a portion of Gen. Smith's command, assisted by the light draught

of the gunboats and troops.

Next proceeded towards Mobile, which was captured by a portion of Gen. Smith's command, assisted by the light draught

of the gunboats and troops.

Richard Coblen, M. P., died in England

April, aged 61 years.

The London Times commenting on the prospects of the Jeff. Davis rebellion, says:

The organized resistance of the South is now confined to the vicinity of Atlanta, and the continuance of the war in its present form depends upon the genius of Gen. Lee alone.

The London Times of the 5th instant

argues in favor of the Canadian confederation, and says:

As to the supposed difficulties which might arise between the central and provincial legislatures it is sufficient to say that, although the proposed arrangement

was not by any means perfect, yet it was the basis of some sort of union; and that, under present circumstances, even an imperfect federation is better than none at all. It is for such shadowy and unworkable purposes that such a scheme as this is devised.

The President had not changed his position, except that his eyes were closed and his head slightly bent forward.

During the performance, he turned his head down upon the level below me.

Standing there he was almost in the line of sight, and I saw him while watching the play. He stood, as I remember, on level above the orchestra, and remained there, perfectly motionless, apparently

watching the stage, and the orchestra

below. Then he drew a number of visiting cards from his pocket, from which he exhibited, having a printed heading, and supercribed in a bold hand. I could not read the address, and did not inquire of any one what it was.

It was a portion of Gen. Grant's order to the 10th Corps.

It is impossible to be blind to the fact that the personal character of Gen.

Nelson and the continuance of the war

in its present form depends upon the genius

of Gen. Lee alone.

The London Times of the 5th instant

argues in favor of the Canadian confederation, and says:

As to the supposed difficulties which

might arise between the central and provincial legislatures it is sufficient to say

that, although the proposed arrangement

was not by any means perfect, yet it was the basis of some sort of union; and that, under present circumstances, even an imperfect federation is better than none at all. It is for such shadowy and unworkable purposes that

such a scheme as this is devised.

The President had not changed his

position, except that his eyes were

closed and his head slightly bent forward.

During the performance, he turned his

head down upon the level below me.

Standing there he was almost in the line

of sight, and I saw him while watching

the play. He stood, as I remember, on

level above the orchestra, and remained

there, perfectly motionless, apparently

watching the stage, and the orchestra

below. Then he drew a number of visiting cards from his pocket, from which he exhibited, having a printed heading, and

supercribed in a bold hand. I could not

read the address, and did not inquire of

any one what it was.

It was a portion of Gen. Grant's order to the 10th Corps.

It is impossible to be blind to the fact that the personal character of Gen.

Nelson and the continuance of the war

in its present form depends upon the genius

of Gen. Lee alone.

The London Times of the 5th instant

argues in favor of the Canadian confederation, and says:

As to the supposed difficulties which

might arise between the central and provincial legislatures it is sufficient to say

that, although the proposed arrangement

was not by any means perfect, yet it was the basis of some sort of union; and that, under present circumstances, even an imperfect federation is better than none at all. It is for such shadowy and unworkable purposes that

such a scheme as this is devised.

The President had not changed his

position, except that his eyes were

closed and his head slightly bent forward.

During the performance, he turned his

head down upon the level below me.

Standing there he was almost in the line

of sight, and I saw him while watching

the play. He stood, as I remember, on

level above the orchestra, and remained

there, perfectly motionless, apparently

watching the stage, and the orchestra

below. Then he drew a number of visiting cards from his pocket, from which he exhibited, having a printed heading, and

supercribed in a bold hand. I could not

read the address, and did not inquire of

any one what it was.

It was a portion of Gen. Grant's order to the 10th Corps.

It is impossible to be blind to the fact that the personal character of Gen.

Nelson and the continuance of the war

in its present form depends upon the genius

of Gen. Lee alone.

The London Times of the 5th instant

argues in favor of the Canadian confederation, and says: