LETTER PROM WASHINGTON.

[Opprespondence of the Baltimore Clipper-] WASSINGTON, May 17, 1865. The "Exscutive Office," from which President Johnson dates . his "Orders" and "Proclamations," continues yet in the Treasury Beilding. A commodious spertment (lame. diately adjoining to and connecting with that of the Secretary of the Treasury, the windows locking westword towards the Executive Manzion) is appropriated to this purpose.— The passages leading to it from different parts of this grand edifies are wide and numerou affording ample room and verge enough for the crowds who some to make visits of busi-Bett or coremony.

The President's "home" is still at the elegant and hospitable mansion of Mr. Representative Hooper of Massachusetts, corner of H and Firteenth streets, directly opposite the Metropolitan Club House. It was for some time the residence of Gen. McClellan, after IRISM SYMPATHY FOR OUR EL be left the house of Admiral Wilkes.
