[For the Baltimore Clipper.]

Mr. Editor.—From a little volume of "Wit and Sentiment," shortly to appear, we have extracted a few passages relating to the war, which if it be your good pleasure, we should like to see published in the Clipper:

Yours, truly, Pic & Co.

A FACT WORTH NOTICING.

By his Excellency Jefferson Davis, President of the Southern Confederacy—

Says Davis, however persistent the foe,
As we smack the first we must smite the last blow;
But that won't determine which party's the strongest,
For the last blow, my boys, is the blow that lasts longest!

HIT AT THE TIMES—1864.

Our route at Bull's Run stands confess'd
The hasty italy and the bustle;
We make good time, but not the best,
The best "Bull's Run" was that of Russell!

JEFF DAVIS—MID MARK.

Jeff Davis, of late, it is very well known,
Had a way like the devil of marking his own,
And when a poor Irishman falls in his hand,
He marks him C. A. with a hot iron brand.
You think it's hard Pat, but you poor silly elf
You're much better off than Jeff Davis himself;
You wear but his mark, and though bitter the pain,
It is nothing to hit, Pat, the black brand of Cain!

AN ELL FOR AN INCH.

The South has sworn it would not yield an inch,
But chivalrously stand the ground and fight;
Yet somehow when there comes a little pinch,
We take an L, and turn the FIGHT to FLIGHT!

PICAYUNE BUTLER—1862.

General Butler was a barber,
So the Feiicose were raving;
Now you've got him in your razor barber,
Tell us how you like his shaving!

S-E-W-I-S—PAT-D NELSON.

Floyd and she Pillow were two doughty men,
They kept up their pluck until midnight, and then
For the break'd out poor Floyd, took a glance at the sky;
Up, up, brother Pillow, 'tis high time to fly!
So you'd better before, while I just take a look,
Lee I leave, if there's anything here I can hook.

THE RECRUIT.

Will you Be a shave for L.,
Chain'd to a gang in chorus;
And C your hopes D. K.,
Of join the Substitutes!

SHALL I SEE BY THE RED TO PARIS.

Is Cotton King? The Emperor's mind to feel,
The hassels sent to Puebla of cotton seed;
And as a slight disguise would do as well,
The Missionary has the name Sladell.
At night a change gives us his master's name:
Jeff Davis or Old Davy, much the same.

PRESIDENT DAVIS DINES—1864.

Call to John and cook maid, Judy;
Order all the best cracks rare,
For I've made a good hail guinea,
By swapping off my old dun mare!
You, my lad, where's Alexander,
Where the chickens has he been?
Say, is this a goose or gander,
Did him come and steal the gin!

JEF D'ESPAIR.

Et jailbird the floor had laid
His easy limbs on soiena straw;
You're ill, says Bob, I'm sore afraid,
Indeed, says Jeff, I'm rather sow!

Toasts and pic-nics at a dinner party of ladies and gentlemen on a gala day at Richmond, Va., in the year 1864:

By the Illustrious "President Davis"—
Honor and Honesty—Our absent first aids!

By Mrs. Davis—
The greatest Southern General—Gen. Bragg!

By the facetious Miss Dixie—
Cheese comes after meat and a mouse after cheese!

By a Country Lady—
Apples of discord make the sourest dumplings!

By a Foreign Lady—
Are "Davis's straits" on the River Potomac?

By Vice President Stephens—
Better be an old fogy than a young rogue!

By the Chaplain—
A man can call nothing his own but his sins!

By General Bragg—
To keep from shaking in your shoes—Wear boots!

By General Robert E. Lee—
We wed our opinions for better for worse,
Though reason and truth often sue for divorce!

By the Wily Creole—General Beauregard—
Fathoms of drunkenness—Zig zag.

By General Ewell—
Men walk into battle, and come keeping out!

By General Longstreet—
A stretch of imagination—Dream of hanging!

By a Tactician—
What is hardest to conquer—A doubt or redoubt?

By General Hitchugh Lee—
What is next to horse stealing—Dockrobin, you'll say!

By the Sarcastic Editor of the Richmond Examiner—
Two things at a time you may do very well,
As you run you can study what he you shall tell!

By President Davis—
If a man has but one eye, his wife is his other I!

By the Poet—
The London Times, ere while eclipsed the Thunderer,
Is, for its false predictions, called The Blunderer!

By a Secretary—
Men should be on their p's and q's, I trow,
When their p q diary affairs are low!

☞ The following is from a most respectable source, and we give it a place with regret although without any hesitation. We have been one of the staunch believers in, and eulogists of the "Union Relief," and we shall be glad to hear of anything that can palliate the facts stated below:

[COMMUNICATED.]

At a late hour on Saturday night I was trying to avail myself of whatever coolness there was in the atmosphere of Monument Square, when a "soldier" of a New York regiment, hungry, weary and moneyless, asked me the way to the "Rest." I immediately went with him, and on the way he gave me an account of the battles of the Army of the Potomac as convinced me he was one of them. Arrived at the place we found it closed. I tapped upon the window, and after some time an official came, who rudely questioned the man, and then ordered him round to the barracks. "He wants food," I said.—"Can't have it," was the rough reply, "the cooks are all in bed."

"He must have it, if I have to take him to a tavern." With a sharp look at me he then said there were meat and bread. "But he wants some coffee." "Can't have it."—"Well, you have water!" "Yes, we have water." He took him in, but had I not been there this returned soldier of the Republic, hungry and pulseless, would probably have been shut out. In an ordinary case such conduct would outrage humanity. In this I do not know what to say, but hope you will notice it as to prevent a repetition of what must shock every patriotic heart in this community. "Soldiers' Rest!" A beautiful text, indeed, while such creatures, who are worthy of Libby's tender mercies, have any connection with it!

AMUSEMENTS.

Holliday Street Theatre.—This evening will commence the second week of the laughing season at this establishment, and continued success of the popular comedian, vocalist, and burlesque actor, Frank Drew, who will appear in an Irish drama of great interest, and in his irresistable funny burlesque of Mazeppa, Mr. Drew will appear as Handy Andy to-morrow, the performance proceeding with Mazeppa—"Colleen Bawn" is promised this week.

Benefit of Mr. Oliver B. Doud.—A decided, ly attractive bill is presented for the benefit this evening, of the above named gentleman, stage manager of the Front Street Theatre. "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," will be given in a superb manner with other attractions, the particulars of which will be found in another column. The members of a resident company are particularly entitled to a due consideration on benefit, for they work with a zealous industry the entire season, often studying their parts in a few hours notice, not often having sufficient time to analize the character or the play. Unlike the star, who has made his role of characters the study of years. It is, indeed a sunny spot—the career of a stock actor or actress to be substantially remembered on benefit nights, and we sincerely trust that the benefit this evening to Mr. Doud will realize handsomely.

☞ Last Sunday a Canadian named Barron, formerly a farm hand for Alexander Morgan, near Leesville, Canada, returned from service in the U. S. army to his former home, and found all the people at church but a servant girl and two children. He murdered—he supposed—all three, but one of the girls, aged 13, survived to tell the tale.—He stole $500 in silver, set the house on fire, and decamped. Detectives are on the villain's track.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Bridal Reality in Double Pipe Creek and Neighborhood.—We learn that a large and enthusiastic Railroad meeting was held at Double Pipe Creek, on Friday last, the 31 instant, at 10 o'clock, A. M. Lycurgus M. Phillips was chosen President, and Joel Myers as Secretary of the meeting. The meeting not being very well organized, the evening of the same day, and John Wilt were acting as President, and Dr. Wm. White as Secretary. The meeting was well attended by the sons and sires of the country, and all appeared to be well pleased that another effort was being made to put things in such a shape as to secure the extension of the road in a very short time. Captain Frech, the President of the road, in his usual and forcible way, stated the object of the meeting, and urged them to take immediate steps to raise, securing the necessary subscriptions of stock so that the road may be put through. Mr. Myers, in a forcible manner stated the many advantages that must necessarily flow to the people all along the line of the road as soon as the great enterprise shall be completed. John Wilt, Esq., a member of the Bar of this city, was introduced to the meeting, who spoke at both meetings for nearly an hour, setting forth the necessity of extending this great work from the present terminus to Hagerstown, as originally contemplated, and urged them to go to work and secure the means at once. Mr. Wilt, at both meetings gave them a plain unvarnished statement of the many advantages the place would receive if being made a point, and that it was not policy for them to remain inactive and console themselves with the idea that the Board of Directors would do their work, but that they must be active and energetic in extending aid and encouragement as far as they are able, if they expect the road to be made.—The speaker alluded to the valley being rich with the products of the earth; one that he thought it had no equal in the western portion of the State; and in point of fact, should long since have had direct communication with Baltimore.

Dr. White also made a few remarks in regard to the mineral wealth of the mountains, and especially the rich iron ore of the Catoctin mountain, and the C pper ore of the South mountain, and the beautiful specimens of copper ore lately found near the contemplated road.

Committees were then appointed to at once attend to the obtaining of subscriptions to the stock. It was gratifying too to observe the interest manifested by the people present at the prospect of having the Western Maryland Railroad extended to that section of country.

Mr. Gill, the Civil Engineer of the road, with his interesting and useful reports of the road was present, and distributed copies to the gratification of those receiving them. He also made out a statement of the reduction of the cost of the road at this time, which was over $140,000 up to the summit of the mountain, and over $250,000 for the entire length of the road.

We hope that the friends of this great enterprise will not delay the matter of going to work any longer, but do their duty at once, and success will crown their efforts.

The Military Commission.—On Saturday, before the Military Commission, of which Major W. P. Lord is Judge Advocate, the witnesses in the case of R. J. Watkins were examined. The accused was charged with violating the laws of war, and with rendering aid and comfort to the enemies of the United States. The evidence discloses the fact that he crossed the Potomac with McCue, recently tried before this Commission, but does not cast upon him a share in the complicity in the depredations committed by the latter on or about April 6th, a few days after their arrival on the Maryland shore.

Captain E. W. F. Read, 6th U. S. Infantry, has been relieved from duty as a member of the court, and First Lieutenant Edward J. Johnson, Company B, 117th Ohio Volunteers, has been detailed in his place. Major Robert Hill, 197th Ohio Volunteers, has also been relieved from further attendance on the Commission, and has been ordered to report at Havre de Grace, where he will command the troops stationed at that point. The Commission resumes its labors at half past ten o'clock this morning.

Indicted on Serious Charges.—The Grand Jury of the Criminal Court for the January terms, previous to the close of that term, found indictments against various persons, eleven or twelve in number, having the cases in attendance on patients in Mount Hope Hospital, upon charges made during an investigation had by the grand inquest, of ill treatment, false imprisonment and detention. In all these cases but twenty four indictments found, several of the parties being indicted in three different bills. Among those alleged to have received such treatment are Mrs. Anne Pumphrey, of Washington; Miss Sarah Tuttle, of Maryland, and Miss Fleming, formerly of New York, but more recently of the Carmelite nunnery on Aisquith street. It is very probable that all the facts in the cases will come out in the trial before the Circuit Court of Baltimore county, to which tribunal three of them were removed last week and three more on Saturday—and the community have an opportunity of judging correctly whether there is any foundation for the complaints. Of these indictments all in the case of the resident physician, three are nuns and five are sisters of charity.

Personal.—William W. Morris, Brigadier General of the United States Army, and well known to our citizens as commander of the forts of the city, has, in consequence of extreme ill-health, yielded to the advice of his physicians, and left Fort McHenry, his headquarters, for a trip North. He left here in the same carriage Capt. Appold, Captain Howe, accompanied by several members of his family, including his son, Lieutenant Arthur Morris, U. S A. The disease which threatens the life of the gallant old soldier and patriot is an affection of the lungs, and its ultimate recovery is a matter of doubt in the minds of his physicians. General Morris has been in the regular army about forty-five years, and his proper rank in the regular corps is that of Colonel in the 2d Regiment of Artillery. He designs spending a short time at Saratoga Springs. During his absence Colonel Dan. Macauley commands Forts McHenry and Marshall.

Returning from the War.—The city is now enlivened with the inspiriting sounds of martial music, which accompanies the regiments now on their way home after a blissful termination of the war. Within the past week soldiers to the number of at least six thousand per day have arrived here from Washington, and it is needless to add that both officers and men are elated with the idea of soon receiving their happy homes. Many of these regiments, upon arriving at the Camden street depot, partook of refreshments at the "Soldiers' Rest," which they greatly needed. Among the commands which arrived here were the 6th, 7th and 8th Regiments, and the Purnell Legion, (all Maryland,) under the command of Colonel John S. Johannes.—These regiments are to have a handsome entertainment given them by the corporate authorities of the city.

Removal of Hospitals.—The West's Buildings, at Union dock; the Newton University, Lexington street, and the National Hotel, Camden street, have all been vacated by the Government, and the sick and wounded soldiers removed elsewhere. A large number of them are now much more pleasantly located in tents on the grounds of the immense hospital near the Galveston road, whilst others have been assigned to the Jarvis Hospital, West Baltimore street. In addition to the buildings named above, are many dwellings also vacated, their owners wishing to rent them to private families. This vacation will greatly reduce the hospital expenses of the Middle Department.

Drowned.—Coroner Thomas, on Saturday evening, held an inquest upon the body of a boy named Hagan, whose parents reside on Bond street, South Baltimore. The deceased, who was about ten years of age, left home in company with some companions for the purpose of fishing, and was not heard of until yesterday afternoon, when the body was discovered floating in the water at the Spring Gardens. A verdict of accidental drowning was rendered. Yesterday the body of a man supposed to be a seaman, was found in the water at the foot of Chester street. An inquest was held by coroner Sperrihl, the jury rendering a verdict of accidental drowning.

Cases for Court.—George Sowers, otherwise known as Curley, was arrested on Saturday by policeman Frost, charged with an assault and battery on Mrs. Annie Daughter, residing on North Sharp street. Justice Hinke committed him to jail in default of security for his appearance at court for trial. The complainant alleged that he had taken some rings and then hacked her.

Pic Nics.—The pic nic season has set in with considerable zeal, and hundreds of ladies and gentlemen and schools daily visit the beautiful groves adjacent to our city. Mr. Orndorff, superintendent of the Catonsville Railway, is now prepared to accommodate pleasure seekers with any number of cars to Catonsville, and other points along the Frederick road.

Limb Fractured.—On Friday night last, Mrs. Sarah Goesville, while attending the festival held at the Emory Chapel, had her left leg broken by falling upon the floor. The accident was caused by her foot catching in the torn matting. She was removed to her residence on Rose street, where the fractured limb was adjusted by Dr. Falks.

Western Maryland Railroad.—Three trains are now run upon this road daily, to accommodate the large and increasing travel upon it. The road is now in excellent running order, and the fact that it is now necessary to have three trains upon it daily, shows that its great importance as a means of travel is fully appreciated.

Dr. Goldsmith.—We would call attention to the card of this gentleman in another column. A regular graduate and practitioner, he will be found careful and attentive to all cases committed to his charge.

Running Ashore.—The vessels are now at work in our city at the present time, and all seem to be busily employed. On Saturday night, a collier accidentally under the influence of liquor, was found under a car at the Northern Central Depot and taken to the station house, where he was detained until about midnight in the Sheriff's charge. After quitting the station house he fell into the gutter. He was taken to the station house, where it was ascertained that he had been robbed of $378. On the same night two other intoxicated soldiers, one found on Pratt street, near Gay, they had also both robbed, one of $300 and the other of $400. Last night another soldier, was taken to the lock up, charged with drunkenness, and during his confinement he was relieved of $550. There was also brought to the station last night, an Indian, belonging to a New York regiment, who had been robbed of a silver watch and $200 in money.

Sale of Canton Property.—The Baltimore Gas Light Company have purchased from the Canton Company that large tract of land on the grounds of the late Governor Lloyd, lying between the Old Kendall Iron Company and the harbor, north of Hanover's old needle factory, formerly occupied by the Canton Cracker Factory. On the tract are the ruins of the old factory, on same were small tenements formerly occupied by the operators. The property has a front of over 400 feet, and nearly as much depth. The Gas Company design erecting thereon a large gasometer, so as to supply the eastern portion of the city with gas. The amount paid for the ground was $35,000.

The Maryland Brigade.—The returned Maryland troops will be reviewed by the veteran Brigadier to-morrow morning. The troops will form in Monument Square, at 6 o'clock, and will march, headed by the Governor and staff, and the Mayor and City Council, along Calvert street to Baltimore; Baltimore to Eutaw House, where the Governor will review them from a stand erected for the purpose.—After the review, they will march to Druid Hill Park, where they will be entertained by the Mayor and City Council.

Committed to Jail.—A man named James Lomata was arrested on Saturday by detective Morgan upon the charge of having been engaged in the riot which occurred in the Turner Hall, West Pratt street, on the 19th of April, 1861, during which the property of the Turners was almost entirely destroyed, and their rifles stolen. The accused, who has just returned from the South, was taken to the office of Sheriff Danaher, who committed him to jail to await an examination.

Larceny of Money.—Henry Francisco, a lad of twelve years, was arrested on Saturday by officer Woodside, charged with having robbed James Grieves a discharged soldier, of $95. He was released by Justice Spicer to await examination. Thomas Brant, about the same age, was arrested by officer Foregoy, charged with stealing $1 67 from the moneydrawer of Mrs. Phipps on Dorring, No. 13, Frederick street, and was held for a hearing.

Sale of Photographs and Card Pictures.—Persons who wish to supply themselves with some fine photographs, card pictures, &c., are referred to the advertisement of Samuel H. Greer who will to-morrow dispose of a large quantity of goods in this line, from Crowley's well known stock on hand. The assortment comprises a great variety, and embraces a great many copies from rare and valuable paintings.

Cut his Throat.—On Saturday afternoon Ferdinand Klein, residing at No. 151 South Howard street, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a shoemaker's knife. An inquest was held by Coroner Thomas, but the jury failed to discover any cause for the self-murder. The deceased was aged about 36 years, and emigrated from Austria. His body was deposited in Potter's Field.

Match Fantasy.—This institution, so essential in the excellence of the modern to the wants of the people of Baltimore, has been removed—as will be seen by the advertisement to another column—from its old location to Saratoga street. Give them a call, those who desire to patronize home manufactures.

No More Passes.—Gen. Low Wallace on Saturday issued an order, directing that hereafter no more passes will be required by passengers leaving here in the river steamers.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Court of Common Pleas.—Before Judge King. The following business was transacted in this court on Saturday:

A. D. Clemens vs Alexander Close—appeal from Murray; sold sub curia.

Assignments for to day see to-morrow.

[Reported for the Baltimore Clipper.]

TOWSONTOWN, June 3, 1865.

Orphans' Court for Baltimore County.—Before Hon. D. G. H. Emory. John T. Ensor Esq., prosecuting attorney for the State.

Sitting in equity—the Court was engaged to day with the chancery case of Wm. Price, executor of Benjamin Price, vs. Priscilla Kemp in her own right, and as administratrix of Joshua Kemp, deceased. A bill filed to set aside a deed of conveyance of land made by J. L. Capels to Priscilla Kemp, wife of Joshua Kemp, deceased, on the ground of fraud. John T. Ensor, Esq., for complainant, and Messrs. H. B. Bosman and R. Graves for defendant.

Court adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The Court held two sessions yesterday in order to conclude the case of State vs. Bowerman.

☞ The health of General Winfield Scott is so improved as to enable him to ride and walk in moderation. The old hero visited the Surrogate's office, in New York, on Wednesday last with reference to the estate of his late wife, who died some time ago in Italy. It appearing that a testamentary paper had been executed by the deceased lady, which is still at Rome, the Surrogate informed the General that it must be sent for, in order to obtain probate here, or in Baltimore, where the personal assets are.

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS.

MONDAY, June 5, 1865.

Gold on Saturday declined one per cent, with heavy sales. The stock market was dull, but prices showed a healthy firmness. People's Bank shares sold at 118. Santa Clara advanced ½ per cent. Western Maryland Railroad bonds sold as low as 73. These bonds are regarded as being excellent investments, but are not appreciated by the city.

Money was easy at six per cent and New York exchange was scarce at fifty cents on the thousand.

North Carolina funds were held at 35, and Virginia at 38 cents on the dollar.

The suggestions of Wendell Phillips relative to the repudiation of the war debt, has caused considerable excitement among our merchants and other monied gentlemen, they regarding Phillips as an insane lunatic.

Energetic efforts are now being made to induce the government to resume the issuing of small notes, and the withdrawal of the small paper trash. The mint is overflowing with small coin—depreciated to so near the level of the paper from them as to circulate freely with them. Write the present one, two and three cent pieces, the small dollars, it is believed, would experience little difficulty in making change, should the three, five and ten cent notes be withdrawn from circulation. Should any difficulty result in discarding the ten cent notes let them in this respect be continued for a given time, a few months, until a ten cent coin of the same relative value with the new three cent piece is made. It is certainly very desirable to get rid of the filthy and torn paper fractions of ten cents and under. The loss sustained by the users of the ragged, disfigured paper is large, and is borne mainly by small dealers, a class least able to bear the tax which such a currency imposes. Every note worn out or lost is the loss of the last holder, and to its amount a gain to the government issuing it.

☞ A melancholy case of suicide occurred on Monday in Cincinnati. A lad sixteen years old, named Frank Dunglas, son of Mr. J. E. Douglas, shot himself with a shot gun. He was a pupil at the public school, and a great favorite.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE TO PERSONS ENGAGED IN CATCHING OYSTERS.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
ANNAPOLIS, May 31, 1865.

ALL PERSONS engaged in the sale or catching of OYSTERS within the waters of this State for sale, with a scoop, drag or dredge, inshore or any other instrument, and all persons engaged in the carrying, or employed in the Oyster trade in the Chesapeake Bay, (except those who buy from persons licensed to catch oysters with tongs or rakes), are hereby WARNED to obtain a license, as required by an act of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed at January session, 1865, chapter 161.

Application for Licenses, except in the case of the licenses issued to be made in person to the Comptroller by the owner or master of the vessel to be used. The applicant must have resided in the State at least twelve months immediately preceding his application, and must pay, before the license can be issued, the following fees, viz: $1 per ton for every ten his vessel may measure, according to its Custom House measurement or survey, which license must be produced before the Comptroller.

This license will authorize the taking of oysters with scoop, drag, dredge or other instrument, from the first day of September next until the first day of April following, within the waters of Chesapeake Bay and not within any other bay, river, creek, strait or sound, and not on any oyster bed or rock on or about Tully's Point, Sandy Point, Hackett's Point, Thomas' Point, the Three Sisters, on the western side of Chesapeake Bay, and not within Chesapeake Bay where the water is less than fifteen feet deep.

Any one who is required by the provisions of the act to take out license, failing to do so, is liable to a fine of not less than $50 or more than $200, and the forfeiture of the vessel used, her cargo, &c.

Persons engaged in catching oysters with RAKES or TONGS are required to obtain licenses from the Clerk of the Circuit Court for the county in which they respectively reside, or if in Baltimore city, from the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, or be liable to a fine of not less than $20 or more than $100.

This license will authorize the taking of Oysters with rakes or tongs in one canoe or other boat from the first day of June next until the first day of June following.

ROBERT J. JUMP,
Comptroller.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF BALTIMORE CITY.—Term 1865.—AMANDA M. HOVEY vs. DARIUS A. HOVEY, JACOB S. LANSING and LANSING J. LANSING.—The object of this suit is the absolute possession and control of certain leasehold property in the city of Baltimore belonging to the complainant.

The bill and supplemental bill states that on or about the 8th day of July, 1858, the complainant was the true and lawful owner, or in her own right, of sundry parcels of ground lying in the city of Baltimore, that in contemplation of marriage with one Darius A. Hovey, she executed and delivered a deed to Amos Hoopes, of said pieces of property to have and to hold the same, to the said Amos H
