When such person "is honorably discharged from service." are not in conflict with what has been said, but harmorize with it. They mean to provide for the payment of this $10 in the case of a discharge before the expiration of the entire term of service could be completed by the soldier, although desirous of doing so; for instance, by the soldier's disability, gan WORRDS, SICKLESS, &C., by the very event anticipated—an earlier termination of the War If such a condition had a it been annexed the most faithful soldier, who by his greater services and severer sufferings especially ment ed the bounty, might be deprived of it. endared by their sufforings and services in tapable of serving out his time, however anxions to do so. It surely never could have been intended that the obtaining even of an bonerable ducharge could be a subsiliate for services meyer rendered, nor purge a deabandoring his duty in time of war. Thus the tounty to the futbful soldler who served out to the expiration of hise raice, or while so faithfully serving, has been honorably discharged before its expiration without any default on his part, and we desy this bounty to those who never earned it. It may be worthy of note that this man has now received more than one-half of this service for which the entire bounty (8300) was duty during nearly all the time, when it foot of Bord street y ing and returning. With great respect, I am your obedient servant, A. RANDALL. Attorney General of Mury and
