CHEM. LEE'S SURMERDER. BY THE SARD OF MARRIE MALL. Right had hung ber sable meatle. festooped o'er the fewering bests While the distant landscape's summi Showed the bettle's wandering ghosts Sleep had sought the block encampments Worghing weary systias down, And the stient picket listened To a soft approaching sound. Johany Reb. I come to meet you-We were brothers -once again have come unermed to meet you Let me not be heard in vain; Though your regs attest devotion To your failing, dying cause, Let us cease this flerce commettes And resume our sacient lews. Let us crep the warlike trappings And renew our civil crees, Happy in the common country

You and I were tanght to bless The picket leaning on his mushed Pondered o'er what he had beard Then among his comrades bastened Shouting, "Feace," a magic word. Soon it reached the Southern chieftsin And recalled the days of yore, When he lived in peace and pleaty; Contrast now he must deplore; Then he saw his ragged army which he loved of earth most dear and he saw each brigade dwindle Till he shed a bitter tear. They were now in droves describe. At the tidy Northern's call. For they heard them tell the story Of the same at Mathle Hall: Then the chieftain bereft of glory.
