

BALTIMORE

"THE UNION, THE CONSTITUTION, AND THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAWS."

VOLUME LI.—NUMBER 29.

BALTIMORE, FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 4, 1865.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

Latest News by Telegraph

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

BURNING OF THE GLASGOW.

Passengers and Crew all Saved.

BURNING OF THE STEAMER GLASGOW.

New York, August 3.—A despatch from

Quincy dated 7 50 A. M., of this morning says:

On July 31st at 46 deg. N. long. 82 23 west, the steamer Glasgow was burnt by her crew and crew were all saved by the bark Rosamond, and are now on board the steamer Erie. The Glasgow sailed from New York for Liverpool, July 29th.

SECOND DEPARTURE.

New York, August 3.—The following particulars of the burning of the steamer Glasgow have been received:

The Glasgow left New York on the morning of Sunday, for Liverpool, with a full freight and 250 persons, including women and children. At 1 o'clock P. M. on the 31st, an alarm of fire was sounded from the fore part of the vessel. All the second cabin passengers fled amid the wildest excitement.

Orders were given by the Captain and his officers that no person should get into the boats without permission, and that the first man who attempted to force his way into a boat before all the women and children had been taken off, would be shot. This order was cheerfully acquiesced in by all the gentlemen in the first cabin.

A vessel was soon discovered at a distance of some eight miles, and the Glasgow was at once put under full head of steam towards her, firing minute guns and displaying signal flags. The vessel soon changed her course and made for the Glasgow.

In the meantime the Captain ordered the boats to be lowered so as to prevent confusion when the time came to occupy them. Capt. Manning then ordered the ladder to be lowered, and commenced transferring the passengers to the boats. The ladies and children were all first transferred, and then in regular order the men were transferred. The friendly bark proved to be the Rosamond, Capt. Wallis, of and for New York. He received the passengers and crew with the utmost kindness.

After all the passengers had been transferred, the removal of the baggage took place, and then the Glasgow officers and men left the steamer, Captain W. remaining by her until 10 o'clock P. M., when the ship's hull was wrapped in flames.

The steamer Erie coming in sight on the morning of the 21st at daybreak, the Glasgow's passengers were transferred to her.

The origin of the fire is variously reported. One having it is a bale of cotton took fire from a lighted match thrown upon it by a stowage passenger after lighting his pipe.

On reaching the deck of the Erie, some of the passengers of the ill-fated ship Wm. Nelson were met with.

Among the passengers on the Glasgow were Mrs. Mary Campbell, of Baltimore, Charles A. Lee, U. S. Consul, Madrid, and his wife and daughter. All were saved as before stated.

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Baltimore, August 2.—The frigates Minnesota and Victoria are at Newport News today, from City Point, laden with stores for the French Government from Richmond.

About forty schooners are in this harbor waiting for a favorable wind. One was sunk last night off Sewell's Point in shallow water. Her name and the cause of the disaster have not been ascertained.

The steamer Ranger and Delaware arrived at Norfolk this morning from City Point, with the 80th Illinois Regiment, appointed to duty at Norfolk and vicinity.

The 29th U. S. Cavalry, from Richmond for New York, are on the steamer Edward Everett.

The schooner E. Nickerson has sailed hence for Baltimore.

The steamer George Appoll, Captain Howe, from Baltimore for Boston, Mass., reached here today.

The steamer Blackstone, which arrived here a few days since disabled, has been towed to Norfolk for repairs.

Another unsuccessful effort was made today to raise the old United States frigate Congress, off Newport News. The steam was not sufficient to work all the pumps. The water, however, was lowered three feet below the tide mark in two hours. The pumps will be started again at 2 o'clock to-morrow morning, weather permitting.

DEPARTURE OF GEN. GRANT.

BALTIMORE, Md., August 2.—General Grant arrived at 2 45 P. M., from Portland, and was received at the depot by the officers, alumni and students of Bowdoin College, and an immense crowd of people. A procession was formed, headed by the Germania Band, and marshaled by Brigadier General Hays, which escorted Gen. Grant to the residence of Major General Chamberlain.

General Grant, family and staff, accompanied by General Hays, Ayres and Chamberlain, and Brigadier General Hays, and others, attended the closing exercises of the Commencement at the church where the degree of L. L. D. was conferred upon him.

At the Commencement dinner no inducement could obtain a speech from him. General Grant will attend the reception extended to returned soldiers of Bowdoin College this evening. He leaves for Portland to-night and to-morrow, will visit Augusta.

VIRGINIA COLORED MEN'S CONVENTION.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—Additional delegates attended the colored men's convention in Alexandria to-day. An address was adopted setting forth the grievances of the black people of Virginia, and asking for the right of suffrage and other equal rights before the law.

DEATH OF AN EX-GOVERNOR OF RHODE ISLAND.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., August 2.—Hon. Byron Diman, formerly Governor of this State, died at his residence in Bristol, last evening, aged 70 years.

News from the Southwest.

The Steamer of a Steamer Exploded on the Mississippi—Six Persons Killed and Many Wounded—A Steamer Boarded by Robbers on the Yazoo River.

NEW ORLEANS, August 1.—The steamer Ellice, with seven hundred bales of cotton on board, was burned on the river. No lives were lost.

The steamer Joseph Pierce exploded her boiler twenty miles below Vicksburg. She subsequently caught fire, and burned to the water's edge. Six persons were killed and twenty-eight wounded. The scalding steam passed through every part of the boat, and the air was filled with flying timbers.

The steamer Dora was boarded by robbers on the Yazoo river on Sunday afternoon, who took twenty thousand dollars and other valuables, and opened an indiscriminate fire on the passengers, wounding the mate and one passenger. The passengers were stripped of their valuables.

Superintendent Conway reports less than thirty-five freedmen maintained by Government in Louisiana. No rations are issued except to the sick and helpless. Cotton, sugar and molasses at New Orleans are unchanged.

HEALTH OF THE PRESIDENT—APPLICANT FOR PAROLE.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—President Johnson's health is considerably improved and it is expected that he will meet his Cabinet to-morrow, which has not done so nearly a week past.

Many applications for pardon continue to be received. Among those who have recently received the Executive clemency are William T. Avery and William H. Smith. They were both, previous to the rebellion, members of the United States House of Representatives. The former served the Rebel Government as maj. gen., and the latter was a member of the so-called Confederate Congress.

REPAIR OF THE ST. LAWRENCE RAILROAD.

ASBY HAY, August 2.—The workmen commenced unjamming the cable this morning, at about three miles from shore. The armor was entirely rusted from the trouble it had beyond us. Dragging for the other end was at once commenced. The machinery works admirably, and we have great hopes of successfully repairing the cable.

WOMEN'S THEATRE.

WASHINGTON, August 2.—Ford's Theatre is at once to be appropriated to the uses of the War Department, and proposals have been issued inviting offers for making the necessary alterations.

DR. MUDD.

We have since announced the arrival of the conspirators at the Dry Tortugas, and the disposition made of them severally. The Washington Star of last evening contains some additional particulars concerning them, from which we copy the following in relation to Dr. Mudd:

On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place.

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

"On the trip Dr. Mudd acknowledged to Captain Wood, General Dool and others, that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place, and that he had been in the room where the assassination took place."

THE TRAGEDY NEAR HARTFORD.

Particulars of the Terrible Crime.

Two terrible murders were committed recently at Oakland, Conn., near Hartford. The Hartford Times gives the following particulars:

The village of Oakland, Manchester township, about nine miles east of this city, was aroused this morning by the news of the most fearful crime ever perpetrated in this vicinity. The body of a little son, Mrs. Benjamin Blackwelder, sister-in-law of Nathan Blackwelder, of this city, aged forty-six, and her daughter, Harriet, eleven years old, were both found murdered while sleeping together in their home.

The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat.

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the throat."

"The mother's face was cut in two by a powerful blow from the axe, which divided the nose, crosswise, and cut open the face entirely across, creasing through the forehead, the upper jaw and cheek. Over the right eye was a great gash, and the axe, sinking through the skull and into the brain, and there was another which was made by a butcher knife, one deep into the right breast, and another deep into the left breast, and a third blade penetrating deep into the