"AT THE LAST."

The following beautiful poem appeared originally in the New York Independent, written on the passage, "Man goeth forth unto his work and to his labor until evening:"

The steam is calmest when it nears the tide,
And birds most musical at close of day,
And saints divinest when they pass away.

Morning is lovely, but a better charm
Lies folded close in Evening's robe of balm;
And weary man, set free from care and toil,
For Morning calls to toil, but Night to rest.

Sent from Heaven, and on her wings doth bear
A holy fragrance, like the breath of prayer,
Footsteps of angels follow in her trace,
To shut the weary eye of day in peace.

All things are hushed before her as she hath the ores
O'er earth and sky her mantle of repose:
There is a calm, a beauty and a power,
That morning knows not, in the evening hour.

"Until the Evening" we must weep and toil,
Plow life's stern fur ow dig the weedy soil
Tread with and feel our rough and thorny way.
And bear the heat and burden of the day.

Oh! when our sun is setting, may we glide,
Like summer evening down the golden tide;
And leave behind us, as we pass away,
Sweet, starry twilight round our reeling clay.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Clipper.]

SHREWSBURY CAMP,
RAYMOND'S GROVE, August 18, 1865.

The great "Shrewsbury camp" has ended for the present year, and to day the numerous visitors are flocking to their homes by the thousand again, to resume their daily avocations. Last evening the concluding sermon was delivered by Rev. S. U. H. Smith, of Chambersburg, Pa., and was characterized by his usual eloquence and ability, vividly showing (under the plain figure of man, which was to "glorify God below and fit him way to heaven." After the conclusion of the discourse by Rev. Mr. Smith, the usual invitation was given to those desirous of "fleeing from the wrath to come," and many were the numbers and loud the cries of those desirous of possessing that pearl "the world cannot give nor take away."

As it was the last night, the meeting was kept up all night, and it is supposed that during the night some fifty souls presented themselves, inquiring the way of salvation. The meeting seemed to increase in interest as the night decreased in length, and about the break of day the grove was made to ring with the glad shouts of those who had passed from "Death unto Life," and made sure to be in the number of those who had previously tasted the same sweet blessing. The number converted during the continuance of the camp is estimated at the lowest figure at one hundred, though it is supposed it will take a considerably larger figure to cover the number.

The evening train of yesterday, from Baltimore, brought up Marshal Carmichael, Capt. Mitchell, detectives Smith and Wallis, and some three or four policemen, which had the effect, in conjunction with Samuel Hinds, Esq., chief manager, and his efficient aides, to preserve the same good order that has prevailed throughout the entire "camp." A meeting was held this morning at the stand about 8 o'clock, when an open air singing address to the converts was delivered by Rev. Mr. Warren, preacher in charge of Shrewsbury Circuit. After which the following resolutions, which speak for themselves, were offered by Rev. J. H. McCord, and adopted unanimously by the large number of persons present:

Resolved, That the thanks of the tent holders, visitors and ministers are due, and are hereby tendered to Mr. Raymond, for the privilege of holding the camp meeting on his ground, and for many other evidences of his kindness and generosity.

Resolved, That our thanks are hereby tendered to the chief manager and his assistants for the efficient manner in which they have performed their duties, resulting in the uninterrupted quiet and good order of the meeting. Signed by Rev. J. H. McCord, Dr. H. S. Hunt, and Rev. S. H. C. Smith. After the singing of several "Songs of Zion" the meeting came to a final close, and the "Shrewsbury camp meeting" for 1865 is no more. W. B. K.

A RELIGIOUS GENERAL.

A letter from Nashville says:

"General Fiske held a very pleasant meeting last evening at Cumberland Hospital. The capacious church was filled, and while the General talked in his quiet, kindly way, tears dropped like rain. The General began something like this:—'Fellow soldiers: I came to speak a few words in behalf of the Saviour. I love my Saviour, and I love to speak of Him, and especially to my fellow soldiers. I have spoken of Him to many thousands of them through all this great and bloody struggle for freedom. When I entered the army I believed that it was necessary to give up religion. I have loved the Saviour ever since I have been old enough to know, and I do not think that when we enlist in the army, and swear to support the old flag, with its stripes red, white and blue, it is necessary or expedient to forswear obedience to that blessed banner which is red with the Redeemer's precious blood, and striped with the love of God. I know that many have forgotten the solemn covenants made with fathers, mothers and wives—men who have had the physical courage to face the cannon, have lacked the moral courage to resist temptation.'

"The whole address was most wholesome, simple and touching."

AN OLD MEXICAN CITY DISCOVERED.—Advices from Mexico give an account of the discovery of an ancient city immersed in an almost impenetrable forest in the vicinity of Ilco. The accumulation of wild forest growth and decomposition for ages, laid guarded its vast solitudes against invasion. With great difficulty a party has finally penetrated its depth, and discovered vestiges of streets, which were followed until the discovery of two houses of rather singular construction, covered with triangular vaulted or arched roofs, one of which was entered, when they discovered an extensive court, an in it many stone idols, which were carried to Nuanchinango.

They found passages crossing in every direction; but many of the doors and entrances were stopped up with stones, tapia, and mud mortar, so that when they wished to leave the various parts which they had separated in the course of the investigation, it was necessary to fire pistols and shout in a loud voice, in order to get together again. Some of the parties report having found the ruins of stone columns and stone stairs leading to a high place, which when struck, gave evidence of vaults below. A more extensive exploration is to be made.

AN UNPLEASANT COMPANION.—The Journal de Rouen states that the passengers in one of the carriages of a train which left Lisieux for Caen two evenings since, made the unpleasant discovery, almost immediately after their departure, that one of their fellow-travellers was a madman, and inclined to be violent. They managed, however, to keep him from injuring either himself or others until they reached Mezon, when the poor man was given in charge of the gendarmery, and placed in a chamber, where he passed the night quietly. The next morning the Mayor of Mezidon gave the necessary arrangements for having him conveyed to an asylum. Before the carriage arrived, however, the lunatic broke a water decanter, which he found in his room, and thrust one of the fragments into his neck so far as to sever the carotid artery, and caused his almost instant death. The deceased was identified as a man named Massart, holding a subordinate employment in the navy offices at Cherbourg.—Galignani.

THE BATTLE OF BENNINGTON.—The anniversary of the battle of Bennington, was celebrated in grand style at Bennington, Vt., on the 16th inst. Spirited addresses were delivered by Rev. E. H. Chapin, Gen. Hooker, and others, and the affair is reported to have surpassed any previous celebration in the number of people present.

☞The safe of Stephen Patten, of Portland, was blown open by burglars on Tuesday night, and $25,000 in money and bonds stolen.

STILL ANOTHER SUICIDE.

The Philadelphia Inquirer of yesterday says:—

Yesterday afternoon a man who was a stranger was observed to fall in Independence Square, apparently in a fit." A large crowd of persons gathered shortly around and soon a surgeon was sent for. A number of policemen were also on hand to render aid, but before anything could be done the stranger had ceased to breathe, the unhappy man having expired in great agony. His remains were at once taken to the Central Station, where Coroner Taylor held an examination in the case. Soon after assembling the jury adjourned without rendering a verdict, in order to allow friends to identify the body, and the parties mentioned in the following letter were apprised of the sad affair.

On the body of the suicide was found a pocket-book, containing a letter and a small amount of money. In the breast pocket of his coat was found a small French ground glass bottle, very thick, supposed to contain a very little corrosive sublimate. It is presumed that with the contents of this bottle the unfortunate man ended his existence.

The letter found on the suicide is as follows:—

To whom it may concern.—

PHILADELPHIA, August, 1865.—There is no one to blame for this act but myself.

Have my body sent to Robert Thompson, Federal street, below Tenth. He knows who I am. A kiss for my sister. Telegraph to Mr. Geo. Peterman, machinest, Lancaster Locomotive Works, to come down by my request.

George, kiss mother and the girls for me for kindness shown me while I was sick, when I needed it. George, when this comes out in print, send it down to Mrs Nancy Grooms, at Huntsville, Alabama. To my wife and mother.

Also, them two pictures in frames alike, that are at Lizzie's.

If any minister is at my grave, I want it to be a Universalist, and no other.

STARR.

P. S.—When a man is in trouble, and sickness overbalances his comfort, and there is no sign of improvement, he ought to be under ground. JOHN T. STARR.

P. S.—I hope and pray the Almighty God may forgive me for this.

A CURT ANSWER.—Some years ago, an old sign painter, who was very cross, very gruff, and a little deaf, was engaged to paint the Ten Commandments on some tablets in a church not five miles from Buffalo. He worked two days at it, and at the end of the second day the pastor of the church came to see how the work progressed. The old man stood by, smoking a short pipe, as the reverend gentleman ran his eyes over the tablets "Eh!" said Obstinacy, as he ran his eye complacently over his work; "what if I have? There's more there now than you'll keep!"

Another and a more correct artist was employed the next day.

DEATH ON A MINE AT STRAVARTER.—An inquest was held on Saturday before Mr. Wm. Carter, the Coroner of Fort Barry, at the Middle Rough Head, Lambeth, upon the body of an old man named John Gibbons, who had been found dead in the room he occupied, of actual starvation. It appeared from the evidence that the deceased, who was sixty five years of age, lodged in one room at 25 Bath street, Lambeth, in a most miserable condition. It was not known how he subsisted, but he went out daily, and it was supposed he picked up rags, bones, and particles of refuse food in the streets. On Thursday, nothing being heard of him, and no answer being obtained on knocking at his room door, the latter was forced, when the wretched old man was found lying upon the bed undressed, partly covered with rags. He was quite dead. The room was in a filthy condition, and swarming with vermin. A bank book was found in the room, in which cash deposits for nearly £400 were entered, the amount resulting from 1836. A bag was also found containing £340 in silver and coppers. The medical evidence showed that the deceased had been dead about eight hours, the cause of death being starvation.—London Post.

SIX NEGROES KILLED.—The Raleigh Progress, of Monday, learns from Colonel Lawrence, commandant of the post at Goldsborough that six negroes were killed at or near Warsaw, N. C., some two weeks ago. The facts, as related to Col. Lawrence, are as follows:

The former owner of the blacks left on the approach of the Union army, the negroes remaining. They went to work and made a crop. The former owner returned recently and ordered them to leave. The negroes refused and the proprietor of the place getting some neighbors together, with arms, ordered them off again, and on their refusal to go, attacked them, killing six. These facts being reported to the commandant at Wilmington, a company of soldiers were sent up, and the affair will be investigated by the authorities at Wilmington, if it has not been done already.

A HARD THRUST.—M. Dupin recently assailed the Parisian ladies for their extravagance and luxury, but he has met with a reply from a French lady, who openly enters the list of controversy over her own name. Mrs. Audouard says:—"M. Dupin does not seem to know that the honest women dress like fast women (petites dames), it is simply an attempt to keep their husbands near them; more than one woman goes into these expenses to prevent her husband being ruined by throwing his fortune away upon dissolute women." This is a home thrust. Between M. Dupin on the one side, and his fair adversary on the other, it will go very far to be believed that French society is not a bit better than it ought to be

THE DAY TORTUGAS.—There are several islands bearing the name of Tortugas. The term is Spanish, and signifies a tortoise. The Dry Tortugas constitute an island group and belong to the Gulf of Mexico, about 120 miles west of Cape Sable, in Florida. There are ten islets or keys in all. They consist of a coral formation, and have little vegetation except mangrove bushes. On one of them, known as "Bush Key" and "Garden Key," a lighthouse has been erected. At the beginning of the rebellion the Government undertook the construction of Fort Jefferson, and sent thither a large force to work upon the fortifications. They persuaded the men to form any population place to enable prisoners to obtain means of escape; to dissuade to invite trading vessels, and all articles of food must be supplied by Government transports. The place furnish a secure rather than an attractive place of residence.

CHOLERA AIR-SPHERE.—It has long been a question among scientific men, says the Opinion Nationale, whether the immediate cause of cholera exists in the atmosphere or not. Experiments recently made in Egypt seem to favor the affirmative. Some balloons were sent up, carrying with them over Alexandria, the other over a village in the interior where no cholera had not made its appearance. From each of the balloons was suspended a piece of fresh beef cut from the same ox. After the balloons had remained up for some hours they were both pulled down, and the beef suspended over Alexandria was completely tainted, while that which had been suspended over the village was as sweet and as good as ever.—Galignani

IS IT ALL RIGHT, DR SAUTY?—One important item in the telegram from Heart's Content should not be overlooked, viz:—"Mystery cable in good health and spirits." But why are we not told where Mr. Field was located at the latest dates? Did he come to Newfoundland or Galatea? did he go back to England on the Great Eastern, or was he left astride the buoy to watch the end of the cable is so loosely attached? Where is he now? We hope, however, it is satisfactory to know that Mr. Field is in good health and spirits"—Meanwhile, how is it with that other fast friend of the Atlantic Cable? Is it all right, Dr. Sauty?—N. Y. Times.

SUDDEN DEATH OF AN EMINENT DIVINE.—The Rev. D. E. Campbell, D. D., of Georgetown, Ky., died quite suddenly at the Ellicott House, in this city. He was a man eminently distinguished for his piety, great learning, practical sense and usefulness as a Minister, a Professor in the Western Baptist Theological Institute, and as President of Georgetown College. His loss can scarcely be estimated by the Baptist denomination in the West.—Cincinnati Times.

SALE OF A LONG GREEN FARM.—George H. Hart, Esq., has sold the snug little farm of 25 acres, formerly owned by Col. Jamison, deceased, for the sum of $3,500. Samuel Kennel, Esq., purchaser.—Towsontown Union.

BALTIMORE, June 19, 1865.

This is to certify that I was afflicted with a violent pain in the breast and right arm which I suppose proceeded from the impure state of my blood. I was recommended to take Hance's Sarsaparilla or Blood Pills, and after taking one box the pain was entirely removed from my breast and arm. I found them extremely gentle in their operation, and would recommend them to every person in want of a mild purgative.
